MARYLAND GOES TO WOOD

Novelist Reveals Her 5 Year Trial Marriage

A SUCCESS, SO FANNIE HURST TELLS WORLD

Husband a Pianist; They Live Apart.

New York, May 3.—[Special.]—Fannie Hurst, magazine serial writer and author of a number of popular and successful novels, has found happiness in a five year "trial marriage." She made the announcement herself and disclosed that her husband is Jacques S. Danielson, pianist and composer. The "trial" was a success and the marriage knot will hold, the wife announces.

Miss Hurst and Danielson were married on May 5, 1915, in Lakewood, N. J., by a justice of magistrate, she doesn't remember which. They mutually agreed to maintain separate households.

And the Bark Hasn't Sprunk a Leak.

"With definite theories concerning marriage, we decided to sail into the sea of matrimony on a bark of our own designing, to put the matter in Miss Hurst's own words, told to a reporter today.

"And the bark hasn't sprung a leak during five years of high seas," she added. "Five years ago, when I met Jacques Danielson, I found my youthful determination that marriage was not for me was suddenly undermined. But my determination that marriage should never lessen my capacity for creative work or pull me down into a sedentary state of fat-mindedness, was not undermined. As a matter of fact, my writing output has doubled since May, 1915.

No Fad or "Ism" in It.

"We were firmly of the opinion that nine out of ten alliances were merely sordid endurance tests, overgrown with the fungi of familiarity and contempt.

"Our marriage was neither the result of a fad nor an 'ism,' but simply the working out of a problem according to the highly specialized needs of two professional people. We decided to live separately, maintaining our individual studio apartments and meeting as per inclination, not duty.

"We decided that seven breakfasts a week opposite one another might prove irksome. Our average is two.

"We decided that invariably being invited to the same social functions might eventually resolve itself into the usual married wrangle of dragging one another to places we did not want to go. We have maintained our separate groups of friends.

Holds to Her Own Name.

"We decided that the antediluvian custom of a woman casting aside the name that had become as much a part of her personality as the color of her eyes had neither rhyme nor reason. I was born Fannie Hurst and I expect to die Fannie Hurst."

Miss Hurst's provision in case of a child blessing their happy union was set forth as follows:

"We decided that in the event of offspring the child should take the paternal name until reaching the age of discretion, when the decision would rest with him or her."

Under their agreement neither of the persons involved in this unique marital pact is held to explain the way the hours are spent apart from the other. Miss Hurst continued:

"We decided that accounting for our time to one another would prove irksome and for five years we have enjoyed our personal liberty precisely as we did before our marriage, using rather than abusing the unusual privileges we grant one another.

Asks for Dinner Engagement.

"My husband telephones me for a dinner engagement, exactly the same as scores of my other friends. I have the same regard for his plans. We have different sets and circles of friends. Since nature so often merely springs a trap as a means of inveigling two people into matrimony, we decided that we would try out marriage for a year and at the end of that period go quietly apart, should the venture prove itself a liability instead of an asset."

"How does it work out?" she was asked.

"Well, of course the proof of the pudding lies in the eating. Now we can speak from the vantage point of experience. It is not an experiment

THREAT OF DEATH KEPT ARNSTEIN GANG 'AT WORK'

Witness Says "Fence" Didn't Dare Quit.

New York, May 3.—[Special.]—David W. Sullivan, head of David W. Sullivan & Co., brokers, of this city and Washington, alleged "fence" in the Arnstein bond theft plot, was threatened with death, it was charged today.

"Benny" Binkowitz, a brokers' messenger, who had stolen $178,000 in securities, and refused to sell to the "gang" for $3,000, had been killed near Milford, Conn., according to evidence in the hands of the authorities. This, in their opinion, gave particular point to a confession of Wiland W. Easterday, a secret associate of Sullivan. Easterday's confession was filed in the federal court today.

Tells of Death Threat.

Easterday said the threat to kill Sullivan was made by "Nick" Cohen, fugitive from justice, a few days after Winfield Williams of Sullivan's Washington office was arrested there Nov. 10 for negotiating the sale of some of the $2,000,000 stolen securities alleged to have been disposed of by Sullivan for "Nick" Arnstein and Cohen.

Easterday said on an auto ride back from a roadhouse to the "white light district" Sullivan suddenly declared:

"I am through. I am not going to handle any more of that stuff at all."

"You are, like hell," Cohen shouted back at him, according to Easterday. "We have got these securities, and, damn it, you have got to get rid of them. You have gone so far you have got to go farther.

Easterday then said, Cohen continued: "Sullivan, I don't want any double crossing here, or I'll kill you in a minute. If I could not do it—if I am locked up—there are plenty more of my gang that could do it."

Ordered to Be Silent.

Easterday said after that Cohen had turned to him and said:

"Don't you ever open your mouth about this or you will be taken damn quick."

"What did he mean by that?" asked Saul S. Myers, who was examining Easterday in the joint bankruptcy proceeding instituted against Arnstein and Sullivan.

"He meant I would be killed," replied Easterday.

In all its essential details the confession of Sullivan several days ago before Commissioner Gilchrist was confirmed both by Easterday and Norman S. Bowles, a member of Sullivan & Co.

The authorities are searching for more than $500,000 worth of the stolen securities Arnstein is said to have hidden somewhere in New Jersey.

WARRIOR RUNS FOR SHERIFF ON 'WET' PLATFORM

Joe Graham proclaimed his platform last night. Mr. Graham, formerly a captain of heavy artillery in France, seeks the sheriffship of Lake county, Ind. The platform begins in verse:

"Come on, Lake county, let's go;

Other planks read:

"I'm not a saint. I'm just a human being with all the faults of the average man. But I'm not a hypocrite, either. The water around here isn't fit to drink. Joe Graham is for beer and light wines. Beer is a tonic, a food, and a beverage. Soft drinks do not appeal to the average taste.

"The county is sick of reformers."

Wiseacres forecasted last night in Hammond that Mr. Graham would be the next sheriff.

"SUPER-STATE" SEEMS NEARER

PARIS, May 3.—[Havas.]—A London dispatch to the Temps today says that possibly by the admission of German and Russian delegates the supreme council may be perpetuated as an international governmental organization, composed of the prime ministers of each nation and existing outside the league of nations.

Detroit Raises Edsel Ford Personal Property Value

Detroit, Mich., May 3.—[Special.]—Edsel Ford's personal property was raised $1,471,000 more than the 1919 figures by the city council, sitting as a board of review, today. His assessmen now totals $1,630,000, as against one of $159,000 last year. In arriving at this figure, the council increased the sum named by the assessors, who placed the value of $1,000,000, and put the assessment nearly a million above the $633,140 filed by Mr. Ford. Mr. Ford's representatives will have a chance to fight the matter at a hearing before May 6.

COUNCIL PUTS M. V. L. GUIDING HAND ON SHELF

Then Mayor Ejects League Agent.

Amidst a jangling chorus of condemnation and praise directed at the Municipal Voters' league, the city council last night ended the league's influence in council organization.

The adoption of the rule that hereafter the council shall select its committee on committees on the council floor, electing one member for each five wards, instead of selecting the committee at a caucus called by the M. V. L., marks an epoth in council history.

For nineteen years the league has been calling the annual organization caucus and excluding a few aldermen whom it termed "undesirables." The league was organized to rid the council of the influence of such men as Yerkes, and even some of its worst enemies admit that it has accomplished its main purpose.

Hollow Victory for Mayor.

The victory for Mayor Thompson and the aldermen who have fought the league for years was somewhat hollow, inasmuch as the council acted on the recommendation of this year's organization committee, which was selected at an M. V. L. caucus. The recommendation is said to have had the league's approval.

The vote on this year's committee slate and the new rule was 56 yeas to 10 nays. For the most part, only dyed in the wool anti-M. V. L. men voted against it. Those who voted in the negative were Ald. Kenna, Coughlin, Jackson, Mulcahy, Madderom, Kaindl, Fick, Franz, O'Toole, and S. M. Hogan.

But the anti-M. V. L. men howled with delight when Mayor Thompson announced that, in view of the council's action, he will refuse Samuel Watkins, the league's council representative under the Busse, Harrison, and Thompson administrations, the right to sit hereafter on the council floor.

Thompson Sees His Duty.

Ald. O'Toole, condemned as "unfit" by the league, had introduced a resolution to bring about Watkins' ouster. Ald. Kostner put the question up to the mayor, saying it was his business to enforce the rule that none except aldermen, city officials, and newspaper reporters should be allowed on the floor.

"I shall not hesitate," said the mayor. "The people spoke with a note of finality at the recent election, when 90 per cent of the men indorsed by the league were beaten at the polls.

"Until the people reverse themselves, Mr. Watkins will not occupy a council seat with my consent. I will relieve the council of any embarrassment in this matter in the morning."

Mayor's Friends Aid State.

In view of the "promotions" in the form of better committee assignments which the organizers recommended many friends of Mayor Thompson voted for it. Ald. L. B. Anderson, for instance, said:

"The organizers deserve a vote of thanks. In spite of the fact that it was a creature of the M. V. L., which is a creation of the invisible government, the committee recommends that the council rid itself forever of this pernicious influence. Hereafter the Municipal Voters' league will be known as the Municipal vacant lot."

Ald. Anderson referred to Mr. Watkins as "the alderman from the Thirty-sixth ward," declaring that he has more power than "any other two aldermen in the council."

Cermak Defends League.

Ald. O'Toole then asked that "Watkins be put in the gallery where public utility lobbyists always sit." This statement was challenged by Ald. Link, who declared that Watkins has never asked a single alderman to vote "the league's way." Ald. O'Toole and Mulcahy were on their feet in a minute accepting the challenge but in the hubbub their acceptances got nowhere.

Ald. Cermak, spokesman for the organizers, defended the league, declaring its caucus merely gives vent to the will of the council majority.

"The why weren't all of us invited?" shouted Mulcahy amid applause from the galleries.

"Who called the caucus?"

SERBS TO MEET ITALIANS DURING THE COMING WEEK

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[By Special Cable.]

PARIS, May 3.—The Jugo-Slav and Italian delegations will meet in Switzerland next week to discuss the Adriatic question direct.

Trumbitch, Vesnitch, Zolgar, and Ribar now are in Belgrade obtaining instructions from the Jugo-Slav government.

The Wilson memorandum has been accepted by both sides as a base for the discussions, but minor details must be worked out. Fiume becomes an independent state and Zara autonomous.

$81,000 for Two Miles Lowest Good Roads Bid

Four bids for the new $5,000,000 good roads program were received by the county board yesterday and referred to the roads and bridges committee. Three bidders asked $85,000 for approximately two miles of concrete road. Machler & Co. bid $81,000.

The contract for Oak Forest infirmary milk went to Louis Rosen at 26 15-16 cents per gallon

Football Game Starts a Revolution

BY AUSTIN WEST.
[Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.]
[Copyright: 1920.]

MILAN, May 3.—At Viareggio in Tuscany the National Sporting club organized a football match between local players and a team from Lucca.

A dispute which arose over the umpire's decision caused the intervention of the carabinieri and in the scuffle the umpire, a former army officer, was shot dead.

Then the mob invaded the naval barracks and broke open gunmakers' shops, where they seized all available firearms.

Barricades were quickly formed in the streets, while engines and wagons were maneuvered into position athwart the high roads on the outskirts of the town to prevent incoming of reinforcements.

The population proclaimed a general strike and formed a corps, which took up positions along the railway track and also in treetops and on neighboring hills.

Two thousand soldiers were ordered to Viareggio to quell the uprising. They finally occupied the town and restored order.

Whisky Duelists Club Each Other Senseless

Two men fought with heavy clubs last night in the saloon of John Sherlock, 431 Rush street. Sherlock was one participant. Charles Rogers, 108 East Illinois street, was the other. Policeman John Dietz was unable to separate them. He fired three shots for help, but before it came both duelists were unconscious. A bottle of whisky was in dispute. Sherlock killed his bartender, George Hancock, a year ago in a quarrel over $1.30, but was exonerated.

Ex-Kaiser Has to Move to Doorn Estate May 11

AMERONGEN, Holland, May 3.—[By the Associated Press.]—May 11, which will be exactly a year and a half after former Emperor William's arrival in Holland, has been set for the day upon which he will move to his estate at Doorn.

BERLIN BETTORS IN ONE DAY LAY 9,099,905 MARKS

BERLIN, May 3.—Brilliant weather attended the horse racing at Gruenewald, and enormous crowds turned out to witness the races. Betting machines showed that the turnover at the track reached 6,099,905 marks. Betting in town is said to have totaled an additional 3,000,000 marks.

SUCCESS MARKS REAPPEARANCE OF MISS TAYLOR

LONDON, May 3.—An enthusiastic audience packed every corner of the Garrick theater tonight for the postponed performance of "One Night in Rome," which, when it was presented in London for the first time last Thursday night, was broken up by a gallery demonstration.

At the end of the first act, when each member of the cast took a separate curtain call, Miss Laurette Taylor, the star, was greeted enthusiastically.

The performance went with the utmost smoothness and there was no sign of anything but good will. The large number of prominent personages present included Ambassador Davis and Mrs. Davis, whose box was draped with the Anglo-American colors.

A long line of people had waited outside the theater from 1 o'clock this afternoon to obtain seats for this evening's performance.

Charge $400,000 Fraud Against Coast Merchant

Los Angeles, Cal., May 3.—William F. McShane, president and treasurer of the Sutherland Fruit company, a Los Angeles concern, was arrested today by department of justice operatives in connection with alleged fraudulent transactions involving, according to the agents, $400,000. The specific charge involved the negotiation of an alleged fraudulent bill of lading for $1,775.

Powder Plant Wrecked as Troops Enter Dusseldorf

PARIS, May 4.—A long distance telephone message from Coblenz announces that a detachment of the reichswehr entered Dusseldorf this afternoon. The Dusseldorf militia blew up a big powder works just as the reichswehr entered.

The militia, who are laborites, are in a hostile mood, and the reichswehr are determined to stamp out even the slightest uprising.

Johnson Is Beaten 2 to 1 for 16 Votes

Baltimore, Md., May 3.—Complete returns from Baltimore city and practically complete returns from the counties in today's presidential preferential primaries give Gen. Leonard Wood 15,900 votes to 8,059 for Senator Hiram Johnson, a majority of 7,841 for the former.

Gen. Wood carried Baltimore city by 3,557, his vote being 8,305 as against 4,478 for Johnson. He also carried twenty-one out of twenty-three counties. Johnson obtained the majority only in Alleghany and Washington counties, the heart of the coal mining country.

Gets Sixteen Chicago Delegates.

Wood will have 116 out of 129 votes in the state convention, which will select the sixteen delegates to Chicago.

All of the latter will be instructed to vote for him as long as they "conscientiously believe" he has a chance of being nominated, in accordance with the state primary election law.

There was no Democratic contest, and the state's delegation will go to San Francisco uninstructed.

Congressmen Renominated.

Democrats—Carville D. Benson, Second district; Charles P. Coady, Third district; J. Charles Linthicum, Fourth district.

Republicans—William N. Andrews, First district; Sydney Mudd, Fifth district; Frederick N. Zihlman, Sixth district.

United States Senator John Walter Smith, Democrat incumbent, was unopposed for renomination, and O. E. Weller of Baltimore county, the Republican senatorial candidate, also had no opposition.

Utah Does Not Instruct.

Price, Utah, May 4.—The Utah state Republican convention today elected four delegates at large to the Chicago convention without instructions.

Of the delegates and alternates, six are reported to have expressed a preference for Maj. Gen. Wood. One of the delegates announced before the convention that he favored Gov. Lowden.

One woman, Mrs. Jeanette Hyde of Salt Lake, is a delegate. Another woman, Mrs. Lilly Westerholm of Salt Lake, is an alternate. Senator Reed Smoot will head the delegation.

The resolutions declared for ratification of the peace treaty with the Lodge reservations; for an immediate declaration of peace, and for a stronger Mexican policy, "so that the lives and property of American citizens may be given protection."

Hiram Is Far Ahead.

Helena, Mont., May 3.—Official returns from last week's primary in twenty-eight Montana counties canvassed to date showed today Senator Hiram W. Johnson received 10,153 votes. Gov. Lowden received 3,519, Maj. Gen. Wood, 3,472; Herbert Hoover, 2,444, and Senator Harding, 396.

130 EX-GERMAN WARSHIPS FOR BRITAIN; U. S. 2

LONDON May 3.—Six former German warships, the Baden, Helgoland, Posen, Rheinland, Westfalen and Nuremberg, and 124 submarines, have been allocated to Great Britain, according to announcement in the house of commons today.

The United States will get the Ost-Friesland and Frankfurt.

France has been awarded the Thuringen and Emden and thirty-eight submarines; Japan will get the Oldenburg, Nassau and Augsburg, and Italy will receive seven submarines.

The ships scuttled at Scapa Flow, says the announcement, are to go to Great Britain.

Allocation of the remaining twelve light cruisers, fifty-nine destroyers and fifty torpedo boats, the commons were informed, depends on the selections made by France and Italy from the ships to be surrendered under the Austrian treaty.

Sympathizers of Renters Mob a Detroit Booster

Detroit, Mich., May 3.—Morris Pearlman, an apartment house owner, was greeted by a fusillade of bricks and other missles tonight when he called at the building to collect rentals which the tenants told police had been increased 50 per cent. As sympathizers with the tenants congregated Pearlman took refuge in the janitor's apartment and listened to hoots and cries of "Lynch him!" until a police officer arrived and rescued him. Tenants claimed they had offered to compromise at a 25 per cent increase, but that their offer had been rejected.

CHICAGOANS IN JUAREZ WHEN TOWN REVOLTS

Commerce Body Is Treated Civilly.

BY NORMAN WALKER.

Juarez, Mex., May 3.—[Special.]—Chicago business men saw Juarez do a flop into the Obregon rebel camp this afternoon. Arrangements had been made to show the members of the Chicago Association of Commerce, in El Paso on a special train, the sights here following a luncheon in El Paso.

At 2 o'clock, just as the automobiles carrying the Chicagoans reached the international bridge, a band appeared at the Mexican end of the bridge and the bells on the old mission started ringing.

Thinking this was a reception for the Chicago visitors, the first automobile rolled across the rickety bridge with Wyllys W. Baird, president of the Chicago organization and C. N. Bassett, president of the El Paso chamber of commerce.

Seeing a Town Revolt.

Upon their arrival on Mexican soil they were officially informed that they were witnessing a revolt from the Carranza government to the Obregon revolution. Assurances were given the party that all would be protected and Gen. Jose G. Escobar personally invited them to be his guests.

The bands continued to play, the church bells to ring and the crowds of soldiers and civilians to shout "Viva Obregon," during the stay of the Chicago visitors, who were shown the gambling halls, the jail where Mayor Trinidad Romero and Chief of Police Antonio Ruelaos were imprisoned by the revolutionists, and the wet zone on Calle Comercio, where the American saloons are located. These were closed and the delegation returned singing "Nobody Knows How Dry I Am."

Stumbling Block Ousted.

Juarez has been all set to go over to Obregon since Col. Mora was relieved of his command Saturday night and sent to Mexico City on a fake mission to President Carranza. Mora refused to join the revolutionary movement.

Gen. Escobar immediately issued a proclamation, a copy of which was given to American Consul E. A. Dow.

"I intend to protect Americans and American interests now as I have done before," the proclamation stated.

"There will be no fighting in the city."

As an evidence of his good faith Gen. Escobar ordered the bridges opened and the Chicago trade excursion party was the first to be admitted to Juarez.

Witnesses of Revolution.

In the automobiles which were escorted about the city by a rebel bodyguard, and who took in all the sights of a revolution in full swing, were:

Great Drive Under Way.

Now that Chihuahua state has gone over to the revolution, Gen. Elias Calles is preparing to march over the Sierra Madre from Sonora with 6,000 men to begin the conquest of central Mexico, Col. Arturo E. Calles, his brother, announced tonight.

He said the campaign would begin at once, with the rebel column marching south by rail into Coahuila and south into Zacatecas, where a majority of the troops are for the revolution, with Mexico City as its objective. In Chihuahua City they will be joined by Gen. Joaquin Amaros' forces.

Abel Rodriguez has been appointed civil governor of Chihuahua. He has announced that all civil officials who accept the new government will be continued in office. Trains will be operating between Juarez and Chihuahua City Wednesday, it was stated here tonight, and a regular schedule maintained.

Gen. Escobar tonight issued a statement in which he said:

"We have nothing to do with Villa or any other bandit. The same principle of exterminating banditry will be carried out as we attempted in the past. To accept Villa will be to accept all the criminal acts he has committed. I propose to establish a neutral zone along the entire Chihuahua-Texas border."

2 YANKS SLAIN; NAVY LAGS

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—Although two more Americans have been killed in Mexico, according to an official report to the state department today, Secretary Daniels was still hesitating tonight to dispatch additional naval vessels for the protection of citizens of the United States south of the Rio Grande.

Concerning the murder of the Americans, the state department said:

"Eben Francis Greenlaw and his minor son, American citizens, were murdered by Mexican bandits near Palazadas, in the vicinity of El Oro, state of Mexico, about 125 miles from Mexico City, early on the morning of May 1.

Employed by British Firm.

"Greenlaw was in the lumber business for many years in El Oro, and was connected with a British company operating in that vicinity, according to information received by the department.

"The American embassy, in reporting the murder to the department today, stated that it has requested the Mexican foreign office to take immediate and effective measures to secure and punish the murderers."

At the instance of American consuls on the Mexican east coast, the state department requested the navy department to send additional ships for the protection of Americans in that region. The request was taken under advisement by Secretary Daniels, who said no order had yet been issued for the dispatch of the ships requested.

Thinks One Vessel Enough.

He said that ships would be sent if necessary, but he is disposed to regard the cruiser Sacramento at Tampico as affording ample protection to Americans in the danger zone on the east coast.

The rebel lines are drawing closer to Mexico City, where Carranza soon will be compelled to give battle or to flee. The revolutionists are reported to have cut the railroad from Mexico City to Vera Cruz, which is the chief avenue of escape remaining to the Mexican president.

The governor of Tlaxcala, through which state the railroad passes, is said to have joined the Obregon revolution with all his forces.

REBELS IN CAPITAL SUBURB

Agua Prieta, Sonora, May 3.—Advance forces of Gen. Alvaro Obregon, revolutionary leader operating in southern Mexico, have reached Texcoco, four miles from San Lazaro, a suburb of Mexico City, according to an announcement made this afternoon by Juan Rico of the publicity staff of the revolutionary army of the northwest, with headquarters here.

Gen. Obregon's forces reached Texcoco yesterday, routing the federal troops there, according to Señor Rico. Gen. Obregon himself is at Cuautla, Morelos, organizing his forces in Morelos and Guerrero for a concerted drive upon the Mexican capital.

WINNERS DEFER TO YANKS

El Paso, Tex., May 3.—A telegram from Consul J. B. Stewart in Chihuahua City to American Consul Dow in Juarez, sent by the way of Douglas, Ariz., tonight, said that the district surrounding the state capital is quiet and all Americans are safe.

The telegram added that Parral and Cusihuirachic, two important mining towns, are in the hands of the rebels. Americans there are safe and the mines and smelters were not required to cease operations for a second when the change of government occurred, Mr. Stewart said.

Military men in the mining districts controlled by the rebels have announced that foreigners will be permitted to continue to reside there and will be given complete protection. All foreign residents are being treated with utmost consideration, Mr. Stewart declared.

Juarez Sighs With Relief.

Juarez, Mexico, May 3.—Gen. Urbalejo, enemy of Obregon and federal commander at Casas Grandes, arrived at 9 o'clock tonight and immediately went into conference with Gen. J. G. Escobar.

Rebels here earlier in the evening had expressed the fear that Urbalejo's hatred for Obregon might cause him to attack Juarez with his Indian troops.

Following the conference it was announced that Gen. Urbalejo and his troops at Casas Grandes had joined the revolution.

Two U. S. Ships Steam South.

San Diego, Cal., May 3.—The destroyer Howard left here today to relieve the destroyer McCawley at Topolobampo, Mexico, and it was announced that the cruiser Birmingham would be sent soon to Matzatlan and relieve the cruiser Salem. Conditions at both ports are quiet.

Ojinaga Keeps Calm.

Presidio, Tex., May 3.—Ojinaga, opposite here, garrisoned by 200 men of the 83d cavalry, remains quiet. Reports that the soldiers planned to join the revolt have been persistent for several days, but no fighting is anticipated.

CLOSING IN ON CARRANZA

1—The fall of Juarez is confirmed.

2—Sonora rebels march on Casas Grandes, the only federal post left in the north. Its fall is expected.

3—The rebels are uniting for a grand sweep through Chihuahua to Torreon and the rich Laguna district.

5—The Sacramento, an American warship, is at Tampico. Others may come.

6—United States cruisers also may go to Tuxpan and Vera Cruz.

7—There are American cruisers at Mazatlan and Topolobampo.

8—Two Americans were killed at El Oro, 125 miles from Mexico City.

10—Gen. Obregon is at Cuautla, Morelos, preparing for a drive on Mexico City. The Mexican capital is practically surrounded.

Warsaw Reports 25,000 Prisoners, Loot.

LONDON, May 4—[1 A. M.]—The announcement by the newspapers in Warsaw that the Poles have occupied Kiev is unfounded, says a dispatch to the London Times from Warsaw.

The Poles, however, have taken Fastoff [about forty miles west of Kiev on the railroad] and are continuing to advance, the dispatch adds.

Violent fighting in the vicinity of Kiev is reported in an official statement issued by the soviet government at Moscow Sunday. The statement says:

"In the Kiev region our troops are fiercely engaged west of the River Irpen and at Fastoff (thirty miles west of Kiev). Our flotilla on the River Pripiaty has captured an enemy steamer.

"In the Rezhitsa district (government of Vitebsk), north of Rezenovskaia station, the enemy drove back our troops, but our former position was restored by a counter attack.

"On the Black sea coast our troops captured Stotchy after severe fighting, and the enemy is retreating in disorder on Adler. We captured two armored trains and large military booty."

No Mention of Kiev.

WARSAW, May 3.—[By the Associated Press.]—Kiev is not mentioned in the latest official communication issued by the war office today, but it announces the capture by the Poles of the railroad junction sixty kilometers southwest of Kiev.

Extra editions of newspapers here this morning reported that Polish forces, headed by Gen. Pilsudski, occupied Kiev yesterday.

The official communication issued today asserts that fierce fighting continues along the entire front from the Pripet to the Dniester river and that 25,000 men have been captured since the Polish drive began.

It is added that 120 cannon, 500 machine guns, and three complete radio stations have been captured by the Poles.

Drive from Three Directions.

Bolshevik forces have backed up against the Dnieper river and are preparing to resist Polish and Ukrainian efforts to take Kiev, towards which Gen. Pilsudski's men are fighting their way from three directions.

Stubborn fighting is going on in the open country along the Telrow river, in the vcinity of Malin.

Chinese mercenaries are being used by the bolsheviki to stem the eastern sweep of Polish and Ukrainian forces. A number of Chinese have been captured, it was announced.

Public riots and uprisings among the soldiers are reported in Moscow upon receipts of news of the Polish successes.

Army Experts Beg for Planes to Protect Nation

Washington, D. C., May 3.—Maj. Gen. Charles T. Menoher, director of the air service, and Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, director of military aeronautics, today urged the senate military committee, which is considering the army appropriation bill, to recommend an appropriation of $60,000,000 for aviation for the year beginning July 1. Both stated that the United States would soon be without airplanes unless provision was made for new equipment. Gen. Mitchell said that 617 new planes would be built in the next fiscal year.

WINNIPEG GOES BACK 200 YEARS IN BIG PAGEANT

Indians and Trappers Aid Anniversary.

BY WALTER NOBLE BURNS.

Winnipeg, Manitoba, May 3.—[Special.]—Winnipeg, metropolis of western Canada, today turned back the clock of history and became for the time old Fort Garry, civilization's outpost in the western wilderness.

The occasion was the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the Hudson's Bay company. It was observed by a fur brigade pageant of Indians and trappers on Red river and a powwow and peace pipe ceremonies at lower Fort Garry between the Indians and Sir Robert Kindersley, governor of the Hudson's Bay company. It will be celebrated later by successive street pageants in Edmonton, Calgary, Vancouver, and Victoria, all of which grew up about old Hudson's Bay company posts.

City in Holiday Attire.

Winnipeg put on holiday attire to commemorate the anniversary of the old company which once held sovereign sway over three-fourths of the North American continent and whose history for more than two centuries was the history of all western Canada. Sir Robert Kindersley had come out especially from London. Old time servants of the company had come from far-flung fur posts in Labrador on the Pacific coast and from the Arctic ocean.

Indians of a dozen tribes had been gathered from all over Canada. They included Crees, from the shores of Hudson bay; Swampy Crees, from James bay; Plain Crees, from northern Saskatchewan; Ojibways, from the Lake Superior fur regions; Blackfeet and Sioux, from the prairies; tribesmen from the Athabasca and Mackenzie river basin, and Carrier and Totem Pole Indians, from British Columbia and the Yukon.

Thousands of people lined the banks of Red river and crowded the four big bridges and two city parks to watch one of the most interesting historical spectacles ever staged in Canada.

Give Pioneer Fur Brigade.

The Indians, in gorgeous trappings of beaded deerskin, with great war bonnets bristling with eagle plumes, their faces bedizened with war paint, manned a flotilla of old time York Factory boats, birch canoes piled high with bales of furs. In other craft were trappers in frontier garb, while half-breed voyageurs chanted their boat songs to the rhythmic strokes of their paddles. To the spectators this pioneer fur brigade, such as the rivers of Canada used to know when the prairies were filled with buffalo and beaver, seemed to have sailed out of the past of centuries ago.

As the fur brigade drew near lower Fort Garry, two ancient brass cannons, whose thunder has been stilled since the Louis Riel rebellion, roared a salute from their rusty throats. Within the walls of this old stronghold, where the first treaty of peace was signed in 1871 between Canada and the western Indians, Gov. Kindersley, at an open air ceremony, renewed the ancient friendship between the tribesmen and the company.

Smoke Pipe of Peace Anew.

Beneath the flagstaff flaunting the company's banner, the Indians sat in a wide semi-circle about the governor's table. Old Kinewakan, chief of the Wahpeton Sioux, magnificent in aboriginal finery, stepped forward. With fine dignity and the grace of a finished orator, he delivered an address to the governor. Then he packed tobacco into the red sandstone bowl of a great calumet four feet long, on whose stem was painted the totems of all the tribes. He held the pipe aloft to the sun and called upon the Great Spirit to witness the solemn pact of amity and peace.

When Gov. Kindersley had taken a whiff, the pipe was passed among the chieftains, and soon the blue vapors of the peace pipe made the air fragrant.

at this stage. The one year has stretched into five, and—well, we are announcing instead of annulling."

Continue as Heretofore.

The "announcing" of the marriage does not mean that they are to live together. Instead they are to continue as they have lived for five years. Miss Hurst will continue to occupy her handsome apartment at 12 West Sixty-ninth street and Mr. Danielson will keep his studio in Carnegie hall.

One incident was told by Miss Hurst wherein she met her husband in public last week.

"One evening last week I attended a theater with a friend, and, quite by chance, sat next my husband and a party of his friends. We were introduced to one another.

"With the exception of my parents, who have shared our secret from the beginning and approved, there are exactly six other persons who have known of our marriage during the period of these five years. Three of them are my friends and three of them are my husband's. One of them is an editor to whom I sold one of my early stories. They are all professional persons."

She Is Just Over 30.

Miss Hurst was born in St. Louis on Oct. 19, 1889, and was graduated from Washington university in 1909. She took postgraduate work at Columbia university in 1910 and 1911. Some of her works are "Just Around the Corner," "Every Soul Hath Its Song," and "Gas Light Sonatas."

She wrote the plays "Lands of the Free" and "The Good Provider." She has written many stories about marriage.

Her husband was born thirty-nine years ago in Petrograd (then St. Petersburg). He came to America more than twenty years ago.

TORNADO LEVELS OKLAHOMA TOWN; 51 DEAD, 100 HURT

Muskogee, Okla., May 3.—Fifty-one persons were killed and approximately 100 injured by a tornado, which swept away Peggs, Okla., a small town in Cherokee county, last night, according to reports sent here tonight. Many of the injured are seriously hurt. There was no estimate of the property loss.

Relief parties from Tahlequah, Locust Grove, and Muskogee, which had arrived at the stricken village this morning, searched all day in the mud and tangled wreckage for victims.

The first trainload of injured, numbering between thirty and forty, arrived at Muskogee tonight. Other trains loaded with injured were sent to Tahlequah and Vinita.

Members of rescue parties who returned to Muskogee tonight told of difficulties encountered in locating and identifying the bodies of the victims. In some cases several bodies were found among the ruins of a single building, indicating that whole families had been wiped out. The bodies were covered with mud, making identification difficult.

Freaks of the storm were described by those who visited the stricken area. In one instance a small frame building, uninhabited, was left, standing while surrounding brick structures, which had housed many persons, were razed. A large gasoline barrel was found flattened out and wrapped tightly around the trunk of a tree.

WILSON'S 14 POINTS OR WAR —KEMAL PASHA

Tribune Interviews Turk Chief in Angora.

BY FLOYD GIBBONS.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[By Special Cable.]
[Copyright: 1920: By the Tribune Company.]

PARIS, May 3.—"You have got my goat on this assignment, but I'm on my way," wirelessed Paul Williams from Constantinople three weeks ago upon receipt of orders to proceed into the interior of Turkey and to interview Mustapha Kemal Pasha, Turkish Nationalist leader, who is organizing the Moslem millions in Asia Minor to fight the allied partition of his country.

After eight days' journey inland through the waterless, sandy wastes and bandit ridden mountains of a country bitterly hostile to all Christians, Mr. Williams located Kemal's secret headquarters and obtained the first interview with the militant leader of the Moslem world. Then, by horse, camel, and foot back to Constantinople native couriers carried Mr. Williams' interview for wireless transmission to Paris and cable relay to Chicago.

Mr. Williams' departing message about the goat will be understood upon reading the date line of his dispatch.

ANGORA, April 26.—"We still have hopes that England and the allies will realize the proposed peace terms are ridiculous and impossible of application, but if we lose this hope and there is no outside help, we will not willingly accept them."

This is the answer given me today by Mustapha Kemal Pasha to the question of the possibility of the Turkish nationalist movement, of which he is leader, aligning itself with the bolsheviks of Russia. His statement carried no threats.

Turkey at Stake.

Conversations with other Turkish patriots, whose careers have been politically conservative, convince me they sincerely feel the allies are thoroughly unscrupulous in their decisions on the Turkish problem, and the Nationalists are justified in resorting to any affiliations that will assist them in interfering with the allied program.

These Nationalists, who have been setting up here a government for the greater part of Anatolia, which they control, believe absolutely that Turkey as a nation faces extermination. They trace the rapid eastward recession of the Turkish borders, and now the San Remo pact encroaches upon Asia Minor. Their sultan and caliph in Constantinople they regard virtually as a prisoner. Turkey is the last Moslem country yet free of Christian control. They will try to keep it so by liberating the caliph. They expect aid in some form from each of the 250,000,000 who believe in Islam.

Faith in Allies.

"We have believed," continued Kemal Pasha, "that England and the allies would realize the necessity of according to us frontiers and conditions which would permit us to live as a people, and so long as this conviction lasts the Nationalists will not knowingly accept outside help. We have persistently maintained this attitude; otherwise it would have been easy to get aid from the bolsheviks."

The short, thick man, who means to resist what he considers the aggression of Europe, turned his piercing blue eyes to a map in his headquarters and placed his pencil on Saloniki, where he was born, and drew a long line eastward to Angora, where he is directing the stand of the Turks.

Shows Reds' Progress.

On this map numerous red flags in the Caucasus denote the progress of the bolsheviks. He had received deputations from the Caucasian Moslems, some of whose tribes already were claimed by bolshevism and others of which may be. The word they brought was encouraging, he said. Baku, where Ali is king, may hoist the crimson banner when Turkish peace officially is announced, and it is doubtful if Azerbaijan went red, whether Georgia and Armenia could resist. If they did not, the road to Turkey would be open to the bolsheviks.

Kemal did not expect much military aid. Gold would be the main thing.

For American Mandate.

When asked how the Nationalists felt about the American mandate for all Turkey, Kemal said:

"We asked for it some time ago. Later conditions may be such that America cannot take the mandate.

"The aims of the Nationalists here," the pasha continued, "are to keep the Turkish lands for the Turks, maintaining the integrity of Turkey as it stood when the armistice was signed. The Nationalists act by resisting execution of the terms of the treaty where they conflict with our ideas. This is a people's movement. Without their support it will die. We are depending, too, upon the aid of all Islam. The Turks are the last of the Moslem races to remain free, and Islam will strive to keep them free. We have ample assurances from the Moslems of other lands that they will do their share to hamper the enemy. Most of them live in countries conquered by the British, and now it is the British who want to crush us. We have come to the last of their crusade against Islam, and today Islam is aroused to the danger."

British Are Our Foes.

"How do the Nationalists regard the Turkish government in Constantinople?"

"It is under the domination of the British and we do not recognize it."

"And the Sultan?"

"A prisoner of the British. Every order he has issued is looked upon here as British, and Great Britain is our enemy. He cannot exercise the powers of the caliphate unless he is a free ruler. His proclamations are regarded by Islam as coming from the British. The sultan expects this as he was informed by the leaders of Islam all over the world that they would no longer regard him as the leader of the faith, should he ever find himself in the circumstances in which he now is placed. This is no time to discuss a successor to the caliphate. We must struggle to release him from European influence."

The pasha denied reports that the British assisted the nationalist movement in its inception, but he gave an instance where arms surrendered by the Turks under the armistice were redistributed through the back door of a warehouse.

Proof of British Chicanery.

"But we have proof British gold and material was used freely to stir up the factions for the purpose of creating trouble in Anatolia. The worse they could make conditions here the easier for them to influence English public opinion against the Turk, so it will accept without protest the imperialistic peace which London was about to impose.

"The allies deliberately carried on a campaign in Asia Minor to sway opinion at home. Their own commission proved the Greeks landed in Smyrna under false pretenses and started the massacres of the Turks. We are more than suspicious that the deplorable events at Marash were planned in cold blood. How else explain the policy of the French to arm the local Armenians and to turn them loose on the Turkish quarters. Before the French went to Marash there was no trouble, and there has been none since they were forced to leave. Now at Aintab the French are repeating what they did at Marash."

Where Are Fourteen Points?

"Have President Wilson's fourteen points survived?" the pasha asked, and, knowing what the answer would be, he went on. "If so, why weren't they applied to making the peace in Turkey? Why was the principle of self-determination applied to the Armenians and Greeks in Turkey and not to the Turks? Where is the fair play of civilized Europe, which condemns the Turk. The peace terms were conceived by imperialists, without regard to the principles of justice."

Mr. Wilson's note on the Turkish terms the pasha described as a "willful intent to deceive or a distressing display of ignorance as to the situation."

He denied he had received any German money or other assistance from Germany. He said there were no German officers on his forces, although there were half a dozen Hungarians who already are bolsheviki. The pasha admitted Enver Pasha, head of the army during the war, also is making trouble for the allies, but he asserted everybody in Turkey knew they could never work together.

It was an eight days' journey here from Constantinople. Two of them were spent in a seagoing hack, riding across the rough, sparsely settled country, with only the driver for a companion, but the interest displayed in a stranger whose features and complexion might be those of an Englishman kept me from being lonesome, although I was not once molested nor annoyed. Here there is perfect order, and the horrors of prohibition also.

FRANCE SEIZES PARIS EDITOR AS TROTZKY AGENT

[By Special Cable.]

PARIS, May 3.—Pierre Monatte, editor of Vie Ouvriere, who is characterized as a bolshevik propagandist, was arrested this afternoon charged with inciting the people to trouble in connection with the May day manifestations and the railway and mining strike.

It is alleged that Paul DeMott, the American who was shot by the reichswehr in the Ruhr, was carrying letters from Monatte addressed to Trotzky.

It is reported that two other Americans are implicated in the bolshevik dissemination in France and wholesale arrests are believed to be imminent.

MORSE INDICTED FOR SALE OF SHIP TO TUNIS RULERS

New York, May 3.—[Special.]—Charles W. Morse, financier and shipbuilder, who, following his release from Atlanta penitentiary in 1912 because physicians said he could not live more than six months, resumed his financial activities and became the head of big shipping interests, was indicted again today in the federal court for a conspiracy to violate the federal laws.

Morse was arraigned before Judge Augustus Hand, who released him in $15,000 bail. He pleaded not guilty to the indictment and his attorney, Stuart G. Gibboney, declared he was innocent.

The offense for which Morse and with him, W. S. Mitchell, a steamship captain, was indicted was the sale of the steamer John G. McCullough, to the Tunis government for $500,000 without the permission of the shipping board. The ship was sunk by a German U-boat in 1918. The penalty may be a fine of $5,000, five years in the federal penitentiary, or both.

Mitchell surrendered with Morse and was held in $5,000 bail.

Morse's relations with the shipping board are being investigated by a committee of the United States senate. It was announced in Washington Saturday that Morse would be asked about alleged advances from the government totaling $16,000,000.

CHIEF OF LEGION OPENS DRIVE FOR MORE MEMBERS

Speaking before representatives of 171 posts of the American Legion in Cook and Lake counties at the Hotel La Salle last night, Franklin D'Olier, national commander of the legion, formally opened the state-wide drive which is expected to increase the Illinois membership from 60,000 to 100,000 veterans.

"Our membership has reached 1,500,000 in a year's time," Mr. D'Olier said. "We have over 9,000 posts. We could not have done that if the principle behind our organization were not right. The idea is right, and the idea is practicable service to our country and services to our comrades.

Talks of Bonus.

"When our men laid down their arms they went out to fight national unrest. We have enlisted in a campaign to quiet the Reds. In one week last December we increased the compensation for disabled soldiers from $30 to $80 a month. Many of the men are disabled financially. In awarding a bonus, I think congress should be as liberal as possible in accordance with the best interests of the country.

"George Washington was given large land grants for his services at the close of the revolutionary war. No one has ever said he was not a patriot. Pershing has been made a permanent general as his reward. Why shouldn't the little fellow be rewarded without public criticism being directed at him? It is unliberal for congress to economize at the expense of the soldiers. But we are willing to let congress work out something for the best interests of the country."

Called Debt, Not Bonus.

Richard Henry Little, war correspondent, was cheered when he said:

"Why call it a bonus? It should be called a national debt. It is a debt for a debt. It is what the United States and the world owe the men who enlisted for the war and stood ready to sacrifice their lives in defense of their homes."

Bishop Samuel Fallows, who pronounced the invocation, attended the dinner in his G. A. R. uniform. Following the dinner Commander D'Olier and Col. Milton J. Foreman, commander of the department of Illinois, who presided as toastmaster, addressed the members of John McShane post, composed of stock yards workers, in the 7th regiment armory.

Illinois Leads in Legion.

Commander D'Olier declared Illinois already has more legion men in proportion to the number of war veterans than any other state in the union. In the afternoon he talked to ex-service men and members of the women's auxiliaries at the Khaki and Blue club. At a reception tendered him at noon by the Chicago Woman's club, he was presented with a statuette, "November Eleventh," commemorating the end of the war.

Ole Hanson, former mayor of Seattle, will address Gen. John Corson Smith post today in Carmen's hall. Col. Foreman will make the rounds of the county during the week, addressing various posts, while the membership drive will be carried forward from booths established in hotels, banks, and postoffices.

SOLDIER BONUS ACT MAY BE PUT OVER TILL FALL

Discord as to Way of Getting Sum, Cause.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—Postponement of further efforts to pass soldiers' bonus legislation until next fall is probable. This is being advocated by some of the Republican members of the ways and means committee, who favor the bill in its present form. These members believe that unless a sales tax can be provided there is no other suitable means of revenue to raise the necessary funds.

It is conceded that the opponents of a sales tax have made it impossible to pass a soldiers' bonus bill incorporating such a provision this session. There seems no satisfactory basis of compromise in the minds of supporters of the sales tax.

Oppose War Profits Tax.

They are unalterably opposed to such a tax on war profits as advocated by Representative Johnson, South Dakota, one of the insurgent Republicans, and by Representative Rainey, Democrat.

Because of the political phase of the matter they see no chance of passing a bill increasing by 50 per cent the normal rates of income tax, as advocated by Representative Frear, Wisconsin, one of the two Republican members of the ways and means committee, who refused to support the sales tax.

It is being urged, therefore, by supporters of the sales tax that the whole matter go over until fall. It is their expectation that both the Republican and Democratic national conventions will declare for a soldiers' bonus.

Their platform declarations may help to clear up the situation. Those favoring a sales tax believe that after there has been ample time for discussion such a tax will be held to furnish the only expedient method of raising the revenue.

Opposed by Stock Brokers.

New York, May 3.—[Special.]—Charging that the proposed tax on security transfers is ruinous and threatens the existence of the securities market of the nation and the entire financial structure, the New York stock exchange has called a meeting of the presidents of the stock and commodities exchanges throughout the country for Friday, at which plans will be formulated to combat any such legislation.

Prosecutor of Berkman Target of Assassins

New York, May 3.—An attempt to assassinate Capt. Parold Content, former assistant United States attorney, who prosecuted Alexander Berkman and Emma Goldman, deported anarchists, was made Saturday night, it became known tonight. Four shots were fired at him from ambush. None of the shots hit the mark and the two men who fired them escaped. Capt. Content, who served with the 29th division, is lame from wounds received in action and could not stop his assailants.

Dublin Corporation Recognizes Irish Republic

LONDON, May 3.—The Dublin corporation this evening passed a resolution acknowledging "the Irish republican parliament's authority to undertake the carrying out of all its decrees affecting the municipal council." It was decided to send copies of the resolution to the European governments and to President Wilson and the United States senate and house of representatives.

MAID GOES MAD; WRECKS DINNER, STABS CORBOY

Hired Girl Is Graduate of Dunning.

John A. Corboy, president of the M. J. Corboy Plumbing company, a pioneer Chicago concern at 178 West Randolph street, was stabbed Saturday night in his home at 5131 Ingleside avenue in a struggle with a frenzied housemaid, formerly an inmate of the Chicago state hospital for the insane at Dunning.

The affair did not become public until yesterday, when the girl, Anna Grandell, 23 years old, was arraigned in the Englewood court on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Mr. Corboy, whose brother, Attorney William J. Corboy, is a son-in-law of former Gov. Edward F. Dunne, was inclined to treat the matter humorously last night. According to the police, he had to have several stitches taken in a wound in his back, but this was denied by Mr. Corboy, who characterized his injury as a "mere scratch."

Worked for Fifty Families.

The girl, according to the police, has worked for nearly fifty families since the first of the year. Until about two weeks ago she was employed in the home of Alex. J. Weil, 5129 Ingleside avenue, who lives in the apartment across the hall from the Corboys. She left there and went to work for the Corboys in answer to an ad.

"She came to us well recommended and she was a good worker," said Mr. Corboy. "She was up early in the morning and worked late at night. But she had a violent temper, so we decided to discharge her.

Spoils a Dinner Party.

"We had some guests in to dinner, and when the girl showed another fit of temper we decided to get rid of her then. She became abusive and we had to have her ejected. I was sitting talking to my guests later when she appeared in the flat. She had gained entrance and had seized a butcher knife. It was dark out in the hall and I couldn't see her until she entered the room and came straight for me. She had a glass fruit dish in one hand. She held the other, clutching the knife, behind her back. She became abusive and tried to throw the dish, but I pinned her arms.

"It was then she managed to swing the knife around and slash at me across the back."

The police were called and the girl arrested. When she was arraigned yesterday, she was sent to the psychopathic laboratory to the examined. Dr. William J. Hickson found she had been at Dunning on three different occasions. The records show she also spent two years at the Angel Guardian Home, Kimbark avenue and Fifty-fourth street.

"If I had had a revolver I would have killed him!" she screamed at Dr. Hickson when asked why she had resorted to violence. "He made me sore."

As Policemen Hickey and Johnstone of the First precinct were escorting her through the La Salle street exit of the city hall to a waiting patrol wagon she suddenly jerked off her hat and sprinted up the street. A traffic jam at Randolph street caused her to pause long enough for the policemen to overtake her.

BIGAMIST SEEKS GRAVE OF VICTIM TO SAVE OWN SKIN

2 More Murders Crop Up in Coast Case.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 3.—[Special.]—Walter Andrew Watson, alias James R. Huirt, alleged super-bigamist and murderer, after being confronted with evidence that he had misinformed officers regarding the location of the grave of one of his alleged victims, expressed a wish that he be permitted to take up the search himself.

The grave sought is that of Nina Lee Deloney, who, according to confessions, officers said, Watson had made, was one of five women he had killed.

The district attorney plans to permit Watson to guide searchers to the grave.

Watson's eagerness to establish his guilt of murder here was attributed by officers to his fear that failure would mean his extradition to Washington, where a body of one of his alleged victims has been found, and where no promise of prosecuting officials has been made of efforts to avert a death sentence.

More Crimes Discovered.

A double murder, which local officers believe may have been committed by Watson, was revealed today at the sheriff's office, when R. T. Hardy, Los Angeles man, gave details of the manner in which a Nebraska woman and her daughter met a frightful death in 1910.

Facts surrounding the killing, it is said, are startlingly similar to the measures adopted in disposing of five or more of Watson's "love" victims.

Find Bodies of Women.

According to Hardy, his father and mother were making their home in Tecumseh, Neb., about ten years ago. Their nearest neighbors were a woman and her stepdaughter, whose names are unknown, and the woman's husband, who was known to them as "Mr. Hess."

It was in the latter part of 1910, Hardy declares, that the woman and her daughter disappeared, and when questioned as to their absence Hess replied that they had gone to Omaha. Shortly after this, it is said, the latter hired laborers to fill in a well on his property, and then mysteriously dropped from sight.

DEMOCRATS WILL NOT FILIBUSTER TO KILL KNOX ACT

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—Senate Democrats have changed their minds about filibustering against the Knox peace resolution, and indications are that the measure will be passed within the next ten days or two weeks.

When Democratic filibustering threats began to be noised about, Republican leaders let it be understood that they might abandon their plans for a summer recess. As the Democratic senators are equally anxious for a short leave of absence to look after their political fences, they have decided there should be no unnecessary delay in bringing the peace resolution to a vote.

Furthermore, the Democrats are assured that President Wilson will feel no hesitancy in vetoing the peace resolution, even at the risk of facing a campaign issue of "he kept us out of peace."

Swift & Company Does Not Control Its Raw Material

Other industries can buy their raw materials according to need or judgment, and set a selling price. They need manufacture only what they can sell at their price.

Cotton, wool, wheat, lumber, iron, steel, and other non-perishables, can be held either by their producers or their users until needed.

But live stock comes to market every day in fluctuating quantities from scattered sources, wholly uncontrolled and at times without regard to market needs.

No one can foresee or stipulate what they shall bring; prices must fluctuate from day to day to insure keeping the market clear.

Only the most exacting care of every detail of distribution enables Swift & Company to make the small profit from all sources of a fraction of a cent per pound, necessary for it to continue to obtain capital and maintain operations.

The CONTINENTAL and COMMERCIAL BANKS
Chicago

A FEW days ago Secretary of the Treasury, Houston, told the Association of Commerce that there must be more wise saving and less reckless spending. Secretary Houston is interested in the future of the country rather than in your future and you are more interested in your future than in that of the country, but the advice applies to you in all its significance. It is perhaps not so popular to agitate for thrift and content as for extravagance and discontent, but it is much wiser.

IT is not easy to save. It is not easy to save even when one knows that effective spending depends on wise saving. But it is mighty satisfying. In the cultivation of the savings habit this bank will give assistance.

FOR instance: To those customers, old or new, who make savings deposits on or before May 6, interest will be paid from the first of the month. This is a monthly inducement offered in the interest of thrift. The Savings Department is open on Saturdays continuously from 9 in the morning until 8 in the evening, because there are many people who desire it. Last Saturday 2,475 persons took advantage of the opportunity so afforded. Secretary Houston would have been pleased to look over that array of depositors. It would have given him increased confidence in the future.

POLITICAL FANS WATCH INDIANA AT POLLS TODAY

Voters to Pass on Lowden, Johnson, and Wood.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 3.—[Special.]—Politicians here regard it as an even bet between Wood and Johnson in Indiana's Republican presidential primary tomorrow.

Nobody is laying any odds against Lowden as a plurality winner. The comeback of Gov. Lowden during the final twenty-four hours of the primary campaign is the sensation of the windup.

Can't Sidetrack Lowden.

Something apparently has happened that puts an immediate stop to the effort to eliminate Lowden and to transfer his vote to Wood on the theory that Johnson thereby could be prevented from winning the state by a majority vote, which would carry ironbound instructions for the Californian.

Perhaps it was the general opinion in which the Johnson headquarters joins tonight, that no candidate will be able to get that much desired majority.

An idea of the closeness of the situation as it exists tonight is gained from an inside estimate made by one of the best informed Indiana politicians, who is not tied to any one of the contestant groups. He says the "dope" he gets through organization sources from all of the ninety-two counties of the state indicates now the following set of percentages for the presidential candidates:

Johnson	35 per cent
Wood	32 per cent
Lowden	26 per cent
Harding	7 per cent

It is generally estimated that the total vote to be cast tomorrow will be about 215,000.

All Sides Make Claims.

The Wood estimate of percentages made tonight by Harry G. Hogan, Wood manager in Indiana, gives 40 per cent to Wood, 30 per cent to Johnson, 20 per cent to Lowden and 10 per cent to Harding.

The Johnson claim is that the senator will have not only a plurality, but that he will get a majority, but no figures are submitted.

Johnson claims a cleanup in such cities as Fort Wayne.

One can write his own ticket on what the purely agricultural counties will do. Some of them seem to be heavily for Wood and others are strong for Johnson.

Where Lowden is not first in the farming belt, he is second it seems.

Fair weather, in all probability will keep the farmers in their fields and nobody seems to know who will be hurt the worst, such being the case.

Wood closed his campaign with a Monday meeting in Tomlinson hall. He and his managers will be badly disappointed if he doesn't get a big plurality in Indianapolis and if he doesn't he is gone in the state at large.

California to Vote Today.

San Francisco, Cal., May 3.—California voters will go to the polls tomorrow at the presidential primary election to register their choices for delegates to the Republican, Democratic and Prohibition party national conventions. The Republican contest is between Johnson and Hoover. There is no Democratic contest. The registration breaks all previous primary records.

ON PRESIDENTIAL ROW

Politicians of presidential row marked time yesterday, waiting for the result of today's primary elections in Indiana, California, and Maryland. Gov. Lowden returned to Springfield to rest after his tour of Indiana, where his managers think he will get a substantial vote. The race for the plurality is between Gen. Wood and Senator Johnson.

Johnson was elected senator by a majority of 275,000.

Headquarters of the middle western division of the National Personal Liberty league, which is pushing the presidential candidacy of Gov. Edwards, will be opened at the Congress Thursday. Justin F. McCarthy, past exalted ruler of the Elks and former assistant state's attorney, has been named chairman of the executive committee.

Executives of the A. Mitchell Palmer campaign committee will confer in Chicago this morning with local Democratic leaders. Mr. Palmer's policies will be outlined by C. C. Carlin, national chairman, who will arrive from Washington with John H. Atwood and Senator James Hamilton Lewis.

NEW BANK OPENS ON LINK; BABY IS FIRST DEPOSITOR

A new bank opened yesterday in Chicago—the Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank. Its temporary offices are at Michigan avenue and Ohio street. The permanent bank building will be across the street.

This is the first bank to be established on the boulevard link; and its officers and directors believe other banks and other business houses will follow it to the link.

The first depositor is James J. Gallagher Jr., of 235 East Ontario street. He is 8 months old. His mother took him to the bank yesterday and held him in her arms while the cashier made out the account. Young Mr. Gallagher seemed to be somewhat embarrassed, for he could neither write his own name nor make his mark.

The officers of the new institution are F. H. Rawson, chairman of the board; C. B. Hazlewood, president; W. S. Tipton, vice President; T. Philip Swift, cashier, and Frank K. Hays, assistant cashier. The directors are J. C. Cox, Arthur Meeker, John B. Drake, C. B. Hazlewood, William V. Kelley, Edward F. Swift, Robert R. McCormick, S. E. Thomason and Bertram M. Winston.

Republican Women Raise Fund for Campaign Drive

"Keep your head, keep your hearts, but part with your money," was the advice Mrs. Jacob Baur gave several hundred members of the women's division, ways and means committee, of the Republican national committee, who met at luncheon yesterday in the Hotel La Salle. Each of the 100 chairmen is pledged to raise $1,000 for the general fund of $100,000. Among the women who have their quotas ready are Mrs. Edward Hines, Mrs. William R. Linn, Mrs. Levy Mayer, Mrs. Hamilton McCormick, Mrs. Robert Hall McCormick, Mrs. Frederick Upham and Mrs. William A. Yager.

HAYS HAS CHATS WITH SENATORS ON CONVENTION

Platform and Chairman Chief Topics.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—Chairman Will Hays of the Republican national committee conferred at the capitol today with senators about the platform and selection of the convention chairman.

It was considered significant that he devoted considerable time to "irreconcilable" senators, among them Borah, Brandegee, and McCormick, all of whom are flatly opposed to the peace treaty, even with the Lodge reservations. These senators pointed out to Mr. Hays the unpopularity of the peace treaty as indicated in the recent primaries, particularly in the successes of Hiram Johnson.

The general impression seemed to be that little difficulty would be experienced at Chicago in getting all factions of the party together on the treaty.

While Senator Lodge has been looked upon as the settled choice of the national committee for chairman of the convention, Mr. Hays has found that there is some sentiment for Senator Borah and former Senator Beveridge of Indiana. Both of these men, however, would be opposed by influential elements in the party, and Gov. Morrow of Kentucky is talked of.

Political Washington is watching the outcome tomorrow in California and Indiana with the keenest interest.

Johnson headquarters in Washington gave out a telegram received from the San Francisco managers stating that Johnson was a 5 to 1 favorite in the betting and that even money was being wagered Johnson's majority would be at least 80,000.

Representative Frank L. Smith, chairman of the Washington Lowden committee, declared today that Gov. Lowden would have the support of the Illinois delegation to the end.

Drys O. K. 7 Candidates for the Presidency

Westerville, O., May 3.—The Anti-Saloon League of America, through Dr. P. A. Baker, its general superintendent, today placed its stamp of approval on seven presidential candidates. They are Hoover, Wood, Lowden, McAdoo, Hughes, Poindexter, and Bryan.

Mr. Baker's statement says the "Prohibitionists of the country can safely support any of these men if nominated."

Johnson Will Not Push Recount in New Jersey

New York, May 3.—No effort will be made by Senator Johnson's backers to raise $25,000 to meet a similar offer from Maj. Gen. Wood's backers to guarantee the expense of a recount of primary ballots in New Jersey. A. C. Joy, assistant eastern manager of Senator Johnson's campaign, so announced today.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

THE MAY grand jury was sworn in by Robert Crowe, chief justice of the Criminal court. Henry A. Haugan, president of the State Bank of Chicago, was named foreman.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS for ex-service men, conducted in Chicago under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus war activities, began their second term. Branches have been established at De Paul university, St. Ignatius college, and the old South Division High school building, Twenty-sixth street and Wabash avenue. Contempt Hearing Opened Against School Chiefs Arguments in the contempt proceedings against Superintendent of Schools Mortenson, eleven members of the school board, Chief of Detectives Mooney and three detective sergeants, were begun yesterday by Attorney Angus Roy Shannon, counsel for Dr. Charles E. Chadsey, before Judge Scanlan of the Circuit court. It is charged that the defendants failed to observe a court order restoring Dr. Chadsey to the position of superintendent, and, instead, installed Supt. Mortenson.

Coleman, Slain Labor Leader, Leaves $77,000

Property valued at $77,000 was left by Edward J. Coleman, secretary and treasurer of the Chicago Excavating Graders' and Asphalt Teamsters' union. It was disclosed yesterday, when letters of administration in his estate were issued in the Probate court. The estate will be shared by the widow, Mrs. Mary B. Coleman, and daughter, Kathryn Marie Coleman. Coleman's murder in the union offices April 22 remains unsolved.

An Introduction to

Midsummer Millinery

With this May day come the newly created modes in millinery.

As they are passed in review here in each room of this millinery section, they tell in every charming version of the new in line, the beautiful and artistic in garniture.

In the French Shop

Hats from the ateliers of foremost French modistes and modes created in our own workrooms are presented in Leghorns and laces and flowers, rarely lovely.

New color harmonies are introduced in jade combined with orchid. Silver and black together, and Nattier blue and Etruscan gold, are noted.

The Medium Price Room

For Town and Travel

For Youth in Summer

Leghorn hats wreathed with field flowers are the loveliest of hats for the debutante and her younger sister. Then there are pastel-tinted hats of taffetas, Georgette crepes, the very modes to delight youth.

DR. ROBERTSON DECIDES TO TRY DONNELLY CURE

Reducer of Fat Women to Be Reduced.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

While the bellhop was vainly paging Dr. John Dill Robertson in the city hall yesterday the health commissioner was hurrying over to the Wallace System of Physical Culture with a determined look in his eye and (it is rumored) the clipping from THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE on which was listed the splendid reductions of my male protégés in the total amount of 112 pounds bulk loss, or an average loss of 5½ pounds each.

"I'll go over there one of these days," the doctor told me, "and take a few turns myself and get in shape for some of these fellows who accuse me of not being as sylphlike as the leader of a cult should be. You wait and see."

"I'm waiting!" I replied.

Dr. Robertson Enters Training.

I'm scared, though, he is planning to Jack Dempsey my good man, M. G. Evans, for beating his feminine star, Miss Leonard; which, of course, would be the only courteous thing the doctor could do.

That may not be his intention at all. But the fact remains that he is going in for a regular series of workouts at the Wallace gymnasium.

Being a thoroughly good sport, he took my men out after their class and treated them to a Robertson cocktail, a drink originated by him and guaranteed to please the palate and the figure. A simple concoction, and a timely one, its ingredients being limeade with saccharine.

Have one on him? They're good.

Many Want to Join.

The interest in the reducing contest grows apace. Yesterday all day long I was turning down applicants for membership in my class, both women and men begging acceptance. But I could not accept the women, the reason being the rules of the contest were that I should have only men and Dr. Robertson only women.

No more men could be taken because the class is already full to overflowing and not a single member is showing any desire to part with his membership. I could only console the inquiring candidates with the promise they may join in the walk next Sunday. But if we have half as much fun as we did last Sunday they will find that no mean consolation.

Follow the Diets.

And then, if they will follow the diets as I am printing them and give over a certain amount of time daily to vigorous exercise they can do immeasureable good by themselves and their figures. Here are some more menus:

MOTHER DEFENDS SON WHO KILLED FATHER; BLAMES THE LATTER

GUY MARSICO.

Mrs. Antonio C. Marsico stoutly defended her son Guy yesterday at the inquest over her husband, whom Guy shot to death Sunday night in their home at 2828 South Wells street.

She said that her husband had not worked for a year, that he had come home "in a drunken rage" and attacked Guy with a razor and with his teeth. Guy had taken the revolver from under the sofa.

"I put it there some time ago," said the mother, "after my husband had fired three shots at me."

Guy was released until May 11, when the inquest will be resumed. The police are investigating the report that the elder Marsico was a robber. His brother is said to be wanted on a charge of murder.

COUNCIL PUTS M. V. L. GUIDING HAND ON SHELF

Then Mayor Ejects League Agent.

Ald. Lipps and Schwartz also took up cudgels for the league, the former calling the anti-league speeches "left-handed apologies."

"I want Si Watkins here to let the public know how the aldermen vote," said Ald. Schwartz. "The league is said to be favorable to the traction interests. I opposed the recent traction ordinance, which the league was said to favor, yet it has indorsed me warmly as an alderman."

Only a few changes were made in the committee slate as printed in THE TRIBUNE last Thursday morning. Ald. L. B. Anderson and Bowler were added to the local transportation committee, Ald. Mulcahy and Moran to the track elevation committee, and Ald. T. A. Hogan to the new committee on revenue, compensation, and elections, of which Ald. Cermak is chairman.

Richert Gets Old Job.

At an afternoon session of the slate makers Ald. Cermak dropped his fight to take the chairmanship of the finance committee from Ald. Richert, who now begins his ninth year of that work.

Under the new rules council meetings will be held on Wednesdays instead of Mondays, the rules may be suspended by a two-thirds instead of a four-fifths vote, and limitation of two tag days a year is abolished. The rules create new committees on high cost of living and aviation with Ald. Adamowski and Link as chairmen.

Traction Lawyers Expensive.

The men and women who crowded the council chamber at the inaugural session got a chance to learn how the administration proposes to spend a part of the $247,000 appropriated for the mayor's fight to lower street car fares.

The council approved employment of the following lawyers at per diem fees ranging from $150 to $50:

Chester E. Cleveland, $150; Ringer & Wilhartz, $150; George B. Gillespie, $125; Daniel A. Roberts, $50; Samuel J. Andalman, $50; David H. Jackson, $50; Charles S. Wharton, $50; Edward H. Wright, $100; Charles E. Ward, $100; William F. Mulvihill, $100; Louis J. Behan, $50, and William Goldstein, $50.

"Two good lawyers could draw up the mayor's 5 cent fare plan," was the comment of Ald. Henry D. Capitain, who retired last night from the chairmanship of the local transportation committee.

"TRADE MARKED"

"CHILDS is like a nationally advertised brand of trade marked goods", says a much-traveled commercial man.

"When I get to a town I look for a CHILDS restaurant. I know just the kind of food I'll get and what it will cost.

A razor and stropping device combined in one

No "pull," no "scrape" with this unique razor

DOES your safety razor blade grow duller and duller with each shave until you cannot stand it any longer? Do you have endless bother and expense with new blades? If so, you are paying the penalty of shaving with an unstropped edge.

You don't need to put up with the "pull" and "scrape" of fast dulling blades—nor with the bother and expense of using a new blade every few days if you use the AutoStrop Razor.

Because of its unique, patented design, the AutoStrop Razor can be stropped without removing the blade. Just slip the strop through the razor head. Give the razor a dozen quick passes over the strop. In ten seconds you have a "new" sharp shaving edge! 500 cool shaves are guaranteed from each dozen blades.

Get an AutoStrop Razor today and know the joy of a "new" sharp edge every morning! Ask your dealer about the free trial plan.

We're Helping All We Can

Any good suit represents a pretty heavy investment these days, compared with former years.

With most men there is no question about the wisdom of the investment, as against buying poor clothes.

The only question is where to go to get good clothes that will suit best.

We usually have what is being sought, judging from daily experiences with customers, new and old.

This year we are selling closer than usual to help conditions all we can.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

Bell System

At this season a heavy strain is put upon the telephone service of all business affected by the moving of householders.

The Chicago Telephone Company, The Commonwealth Edison Company, The Peoples Gas Light & Coke Company, all real estate agents, the storage and furniture moving companies, the painters and decorators, all are overloaded.

Telephone calls to and from all these concerns have increased enormously and many busy reports and slow answers are inevitable.

In the interest of good service all subscribers are urged to refrain from unnecessary calls, to answer all calls as promptly as possible and, where private operators are employed, to relieve such operators from all except telephone work.

SHALL GRAVES OF A. E. F. MEN GO UNDECORATED?

It's Up to You; Send In Money Today.

The fund which THE TRIBUNE is attempting to raise to put flowers on the graves of American soldiers who lie in French cemeteries on May 30 is growing slowly—too slowly. The total yesterday was $789.31. This is not enough to cover 1,000 graves. There are seven times that number of graves in France.

Responses came from places outside Chicago yesterday.

"I am only too glad to do a little something for the boys who have remained in France," wrote Louis Zapf from Finley hospital, Dubuque, Ia. "I was over myself, and am still in the hospital on account of wounds received over there."

Charles P. Skinner, mayor of Moline, sent $5, and said he would be glad to cooperate.

Mrs. Rebecca Peterson of Rockford, Ill., sent $5 in memory of her grandson, who lies in Romagne cemetery.

C. S., formerly with the Red Cross in France, sent a dollar "in memory of the soldiers I saw dying in the hospitals in France."

Mrs. N. T. Hendrix of Clinton, Ia., gave $5 for the memorial fund.

"Our only son," she said, "gave the last full measure of devotion on the field of battle in the Argonne forest, and lies with 23,000 comrades in Romagne cemetery in France."

The United States Marine Corps league, Ulysses circle, No. 4, Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, and the Lane Student union were among organizations that sent checks.

TRIBUNE STORM FUND NOW $6,435; SCHOOLS' GIFTS TOTAL $12,480

CONTRIBUTIONS received yesterday brought the TRIBUNE fund for the relief of the tornado victims up to $6,435.12. Accompanying a gift from Miss Clara L. Burnham of the Cooper-Carlton hotel was the following suggestion:

"Once, when our soldiers were in a hot climate, it was requested that every one send a dime toward ice for their comfort. So much money was given that a second request was made in the morning paper—to stop sending. I always remember that on an occasion like the present, when money seems slow in coming."

Yesterday's contributions follow:

M. E. B.	1.00
Maud H. Chase	2.00

Much money still is needed to help the Melrose Park tornado sufferers reestablish their homes. Your gift, no matter how small, would help, too.

The city's tornado relief fund was increased by $12,480.75 when Edwin S. Davis, president of the school board, handed Ald. Edward R. Armitage, chairman of the relief committee, a check for that amount. It represents the penny, nickel, and dime contributions of the school children, and brings the city fund to within approximately $15,000 of the quota sought—$150,000.

SENATORS HEAR PRINTERS CENSOR SOME OF PRESS

Washington, D. C., May 3.—A charge that the International Typographical union exercised a censorship over part of the American press was made before the senate newsprint investigating committee today by E. J. McCone, general manager of the Buffalo Commercial.

Called upon for a specific instance in support of his charge, Mr. McCone declared that only four newspapers printed last October certain parts of Elbert H. Gary's testimony before the senate steel investigating committee, and that the Buffalo News, after putting the story in type, was forced to change it under pressure from the union's shop chapel.

The witness said that the Commercial and the New York Times were the only papers in the eastern section of the country that printed the Gary criticism of organized labor as given the committee.

Although the witness stated that only four newspapers were free of union censorship, he did not give the names, nor did members of the committee ask for them.

Mr. McCone charged that the union, through exercise of censorship by the shop chapel, kept articles unfavorable to organized labor out of most newspapers.

10 CHICAGOANS LEAVE FOR FARM; 30 WAIT CHANCE

Ten young Chicagoans left the city yesterday to make their homes on nearby farms. Most of them intend to stay in the country. They are the van guard of the army of labor the farmers need. They were placed through the work of THE TRIBUNE farm labor bureau and the efforts of the Illinois Agricultural association of 130 North Wells street.

There were thirty other applicants during the day and the agricultural association has wired the various farm bureaus to send in their lists of farmers needing help.

C. B. Congdon of Evanston, owner of two farms in the Desplaines valley, obtained a young man through this bureau to take up one of his farms.

"The work is very encouraging," Mr. Congdon said. "The young men who came to me were earnest and intelligent, inspired by a real wish to learn farming. I am willing to help a young man of this kind and have about closed a contract with one. He is going to take his wife out to the farm, where a nice bungalow is waiting for them.

"I wish more young men would appreciate the opportunities offered by the country. Take your high city wages, add up the cost of things, and see what you have left."

THE TRIBUNE will turn its list of farmers needing help and of men applying for such work over to the Illinois Agricultural association today. Applicants are requested to call there. The association will carry out this work of trying to bring farm and city together.

ARE OUR DEAD FORGOTTEN?

Contributions to the fund which is being handled by THE TRIBUNE to provide floral tokens of appreciation and honor for the graves of 70,000 American soldiers in France are not reflecting the reverence which we believe the American people hold for the memories of these men. Less than $1,000 has been received. It will decorate fewer than 1,000 graves. Are the last resting places of the others to go unhallowed by the efforts of the living for whom they died?

A year ago, upon Memorial day, the Red Cross, the French, the English, and semi-private organizations placed flowers upon these graves with a prayer of thanksgiving and appreciation for the lives offered up that others might live in safety. Are we to allow strangers across the sea, unaided, again to show this kindly thought for our own heroes while we do almost nothing?

If we are to accept the duty which should be considered a high privilege, we must act quickly. The time is limited. Eight middle western newspapers have joined with THE TRIBUNE in receiving gifts for this fund. The Red Cross and THE TRIBUNE'S foreign service will coöperate in the work at the cemeteries. In the meantime we must give if we would not prove ourselves ungrateful to those who gave their lives for us.

PUBLICITY AND THE NAVY.

"We shall soon have a navy two and a half times as large as we had during the war."

This we suppose is one of those "nuggets of pure gold" which Secretary Daniels urged his hearers of the New York Press club to pick from the news and display in the front windows of publicity.

Meanwhile a part of the fleet has just returned from maneuvers. It was composed of eight of our sixteen ships of the Atlantic squadron, the other eight being tied up because their crews had to be taken to make up the complement of the ships in use. Also sixty destroyers and all the cruisers were laid up to provide full crews for the thirty-three destroyers which joined in the maneuvers.

The Pacific fleet is reported to be in the same condition.

The fleet at the maneuvers was 90 per cent manned and 80 per cent were lads averaging 18 years of age without previous sea training.

The ships "crept south" at ten knots or under and on the maneuver grounds only ventured upon elementary maneuvers and short range target practice.

The officers and seasoned men who brought the fleet through this dangerous experience deserve the highest praise. But what must we think of ourselves, who permit our first line of defense to fall into such a condition?

Certainly we need fewer and not more of Secretary Daniels' nuggets of pure gold, less of his perpetually bragging about what the navy is or is going to be. Behind a smoke screen of official half truths and buncombe, the public can seldom get a glimpse of the reality. That is why when a navy man, with more public spirit than desire to curry favor, speaks out, it is one of those "sensations" which Mr. Daniels deplores.

A first line of defense which is not 100 per cent ready and always ready is not the sort of first line with which the United States can afford to be satisfied.

JAPAN AND AMERICA.

Two items of interest touching the subject of Japanese-American relations appeared yesterday in the press.

One was a report from Argentina that Japan seems to have embarked upon an extensive colonization scheme in South America. Paraguay, Uruguay, Peru, and Bolivia are said to be welcoming settlement of Japanese in their countries, having undeveloped land to spare.

The Japanese, cooped up in their islands and growing in numbers, must go somewhere. The United States is trying to keep them out of its borders. Siberia is the reverse of hospitable. China is already overpopulated. Corea is limited.

Expansion is not a policy with Japan. It is a necessity.

The other item conveyed news of the generous welcome given by Japan to a traveling party of American business men. One of the party says: "It is inconceivable that Japan and America will fight over a misunderstanding now when European civilization has retrograded fifty years as a result of the war and a Jap-American conflict would retard civilization a century. Literally the hope of both east and west rests upon American-Japanese coöperation."

As for a misunderstanding, we agree that it is at least almost inconceivable that Japan and America should fight over a misunderstanding. Wars are seldom the result of a misunderstanding, unless it be a misunderstanding of each other's strength. But consideration for civilization has never stopped a great war, and we doubt if it ever will.

A war between Japan and America will not come unless America blocks the road to some object which the Japanese consider essential to their welfare and progress, or unless Japan, in pursuing that road, threatens the peace and welfare of America.

The amenities of international intercourse, official or nonofficial, will not avoid either.

The American people and their government would do well to grasp the truth that the way to come to blows with Japan is to be so weak and uncertain as to invite encroachment; to be taken in by pacifists who would have us believe that Japanese policy is not energetically patriotic but sentimentally altruistic, or by optimists, of a more practical disposition, who discern private profits in financial enterprises in the far east.

We see no necessity for war with Japan. But peace can be preserved between us only if we study Japanese policy and action, understand their powerful motives, and at all times maintain our power to defend our own legitimate concerns. There is nothing, we believe, in the direct path of Japan's proper expansion which need clash with our important interests, and there is no likelihood, therefore, of our adopting a course of action which Japan must necessarily challenge.

That is, there is no likelihood if we look facts clearly in the face and do not permit our defensive strength to fall to a point at which Japanese policy might be tempted to expand at our expense.

The South American development is not one to which we can afford to shut our eyes. If it extends, it is likely to bring about a serious situation for both countries. On the other hand, Japanese expansion in the far east promises no very serious difficulties, and we must hope it marks the trend of Japanese ambition, rather than expansion on our side of the Pacific.

But if we neglect our naval and military power we shall be preparing with certainty the war we would earnestly avoid.

THE TREATY IN THE CAMPAIGN.

The Democratic national chairman's remarks on the peace resolution now pending in the senate is more interesting for what it implies than for what it expresses.

Its implication is that the president proposes to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer. In other words, that he intends to put the ratification issue and the peace issue into the campaign if he can do so.

We do not see how he can be prevented even by so formidable a Democratic force as Mr. Bryan. The only way is to win enough Democratic votes in the senate and house to pass a peace resolution over the veto or to ratify the treaty with the Republican reservations. This could not be accomplished without a greater weakening of Democratic party discipline than we have any good reason to expect. Chairman Cummings' outburst was obviously intended to stiffen the ranks. Mr. Bryan's common sense may have been telling. The weakness of the treaty at the primaries must have had the same tendency. Hence the Cummings fulmination, thunder from Olympus.

If selfish party interest alone moves the Republican party leaders they will welcome the addition of the peace and covenant issues to the burden carried by their opponents. Very few Democratic leaders will enjoy the prospect of explaining to the American people why an American president or an American senate or an American party should refuse the reservations framed to preserve the legitimate independence of our country in entering European politics. Few will care to explain why, with Great Britain, France, Italy, and Japan at peace with Germany and Austria, the United States should remain at war.

But no Republican would exchange this party vantage for the substantial benefits to the country and to the international situation which might be had by a prompt declaration of peace. In opposing such a declaration, presumably in order to retain pressure for the ratification of the treaty, the president and his supporters are inflicting an injury on American interests abroad and maintaining a situation at home which is irritating, embarrassing, and obstructive. If the Democratic minority in congress refuses to relieve the country there is of course nothing to do but accommodate ourselves as well as we may to our anomalous condition and next November put men in Washington who will attend to the country's need.

Meanwhile the Democratic position is so weak that we may expect soon some strategic movement to try and shift the burden of responsibility to some extent at least. The New York World, a thick and thin supporter of Mr. Wilson and as well informed as to White House intentions as any can be, predicts that the president will return the treaty to the senate with some reservations of his own. The object of such a move would be obviously to put the senate reservationists in the position of refusing reservations. It is possible, of course, that Mr. Wilson's reservations would be sufficient from the Republican viewpoint, but that is not probable, and consequently Mr. Wilson would hope to place his opponents where he now is, in the position of stubborn obstruction.

In the meantime the international situation requires, more critically than when Mr. Wilson first demanded prompt ratification of the treaty, the adjustment of the American factor and such aid as we may give with due regard to our own security and legitimate interest. But Mr. Wilson has lost his urgency.

OTTO BUTZ.

Many an American boy of German descent died under the flag to defeat a Germany betrayed by Potsdam, and at home older men of the same breed gave of their substance and their moral influence to support them. Of these one of the leaders was Otto Butz, an American of the lineage of revolutionary '48, a citizen saturated in American ideals, as stanch and whole souled a lover of our common country as any descendent of the Mayflower company.

Like Carl Schurz, Mr. Butz was American because to him America meant certain principles of human liberty and democracy. Therefore he had no doubt about his duty either before we entered the war or after. He saw with clear eyes what was wrong in modern Germany and used his fine intelligence and moral weight in an attempt which did not fail of effect, both to serve this country, which had given him birth, and the people from whom his ancestry sprang.

Otto Butz represented not only 100 per cent Americanism, but the character and culture which America has drawn from the German race. The community loses by his death, but his influence will not pass. He set an example of loyal citizenship which will not be forgotten by Americans who passed through the ordeal of the war and know what his service was.

Editorial of the Day

A BRITISH JOKER.

[Moline Daily Dispatch.]

It is said that the British are slow to understand a joke, but sometimes they do a little joking themselves, their jokes generally looking to some tangible return. In view of the action of the United States senate recently in passing a resolution in favor of self-determination for Ireland, a member of the house of commons yesterday inquired if it would not be well, "as a mark of respect to the American senate," for the house of commons to "follow the precedent set by the senate by moving a resolution in support of the Philippine demand for self-determination" by the ten and one-half million people on those islands.

Democrats in this country have been contending for a long time that we should cut the Philippines loose, so perhaps the administration would welcome such a resolution. After that there could be a tossup between England and Japan as to which should take a "mandate" for the islands.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE shortage of houses in England is so acute that house-hunters are paying undertakers to tip them off to possible apartments, or, at less expense, are following the death notices in the newspapers. Which reminds us that in New England dealers in antique furniture used to keep similar tab on old residents who were known to have valuable pieces in their parlors or attics. We were never lucky enough to arrive at the psychological moment. We usually called when the heir, recovered from her first grief, had begun to attach so much sentimental value to the sideboard or highboy that parting with it was sweet sorrow, and we were obliged to supply the sweetening.

IN WHICH THE LOCAL MILLINER REPORTS A WEDDING.

[From the Davenport Times.]

The bride, coming last on the arm of her father, wore her mother's wedding gown. It was an exquisite creation of white Duchesse satin veiled in white silk tulle and trimmed in rare old rose point lace. The long panel train of the satin fell from the shoulder, where it was held by a straight decolletage band of the rose point lace, that, coming over the shoulders, outlined the V neck of the bodice front from which points of the satin reached to the shoulders. It had the elbow kimono sleeve. The lines of the satin skirt were broken with a drapery of the tulle forming a double pointed tunic, and from the girdle at the left a long spray of orange blossoms reached to the hem. Her tulle veil, flowing to the end of the traine, was held to the coiffure with a simple arrangement of three puffs of tulle across the front, outlined with orange blossoms that fell in little clusters over the ears.

IT would save not a little white paper if copy-readers would cross out the "a" following the words "kind of," or "sort of," or "form of." A man so economical as Mr. Hoover, for instance, should not be allowed to say, "some form of a league of nations."

[From the New York Sun and Herald.]

A patch of white just above the forehead in the otherwise jet black hair of twelve-year-old Sherva Bardenstein, who arrived yesterday aboard the Lloyd Sabaudo liner Regina d'Italia, was due, according to her sixteen-year-old sister, Frema, to the impression of the muzzle of a revolver held against her head by one of a band of Bolsheviki last summer in the home of her mother in Odessa. . . . There was no money, and Sherva, who was expecting death from the pistol, said so. The man finally gave up torturing her and left the house. When her mother, Frema and another sister arrived home and heard the child's story they noted that the hair where the muzzle of the revolver had pressed was snow white.

When the American Legion Minstrel Troupe returned from Colusa some nights ago, I owned a suitcase and placed same with contents aboard the Sacramento Northern train. When we reached Marysville said suitcase was not to be found. Having great confidence in my fellow man, I have waited until now, believing that some one would advertise his finding such an article as the one I lost. Now I've lost a suitcase and my faith in my fellow men, and I'd like to know who the hell got away with both of them. Bill Wright.

HORSES CAREFULLY EXAMINED.

GEN. PERSHING'S war horse, Kedron, was released from quarantine in about two months. Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood's war horse never was allowed to enter the United States after the Spanish-American war.

The law requires that horses exposed as these horses were shall be examined by a veterinarian before being allowed to enter this country. If found to be bearing contagion they are excluded. If found healthy they are held in quarantine under observation for six months, at the end of which time they are released if found healthy on examination. Kedron, along with a large number of other valuable animals, is just now being released from this period of observation.

Surgeon General Cummings, when he returned recently from a prolonged period of observation of European conditions, is quoted as having said we were in imminent danger from some of the epidemics rife in parts of Europe.

No doubt Dr. Cummings was influenced in part by the difference between the care exercised to prevent disease of live stock and that of man. While we examine every immigrant, the examination is very hurried and superficial and there is no period of detention for observation. No doubt he was also under the influence of what he had observed in Europe.

The record does not indicate that we are in any great danger from the major epidemic diseases of Europe. Influenza is already here. We do not expect another invasion from Europe for a generation. That is the teaching of medical history. Cholera is bad in parts of Europe. About a decade ago cholera came into the port of New York on several ships. It was held in that harbor and secured no foothold in America.

Typhus fever has been the worst of all major epidemics, next to influenza, during the war and the troublous years following it. In Brill's disease we have a form of typhus fever always present with us. Mexican typhus is just as contagious and just as deadly as is the disease in Serbia and other badly infected parts of Europe. Three years ago Mexican typhus got a good foothold in the United States.

It was widespread along the Southern Pacific railroad from Los Angeles almost to New Orleans. It spread up the Santa Fé to within 200 miles of Chicago. And yet the public health service, state boards, and medical departments of the two railroads wiped it up like taking candy from a baby.

Plague has not been much in evidence in the European war zones, but it is one of the major epidemics liable to follow war. Plague has had a foothold in the United States for twenty years without making headway. For several decades peoples of Caucasian stocks appear to have had the upper hand of plague.

We are in practically no danger from the major epidemic diseases of the unsettled parts of Europe. But Dr. Cummings is right in warning us that we are too easy at our immigration offices. We do let in a lot of conditions which in the long run do us harm. We let in many with consumption and trachoma. We let in many who are feeble minded or insane. We let in many who are antisocial by inheritance, training, and mentality. We let in many who are poorly developed physically.

MAY INDICATE SCURVY.

Mrs. V. D. writes: "1. My husband has been troubled with catarrh and bleeding gums for nearly three years. He has gone to several good dentists without any benefit. His teeth and gums appear to be in fine condition and the bleeding occurs only when he is sleeping. Is it possible that he has scurvy? What are the symptoms of scurvy other than bleeding gums? He does not eat vegetables except potatoes.

"2. What is the cause of occasionally having pains near the heart preventing a deep breath and lasting several hours?"

REPLY.

1. There are practically no symptoms of mild scurvy in an adult except swollen, bleeding gums, pallor, and some pain in the limbs. More severe scurvy is attended by hemorrhages, hemorrhage spots in the skin, pain in the limbs, swelling around eyes, bloated appearance of the face. Try to persuade him to eat vegetables and fruits and to keep his teeth and gums in order.

2. Have your heart examined to rule out organic disease. As a rule, pains around the heart, pains on deep respiration, are of no importance and call for no treatment.

MIGHT BE SOME HELP.

Mrs. A. G. writes: "I have a baby boy 2 years old. He has been having attacks of asthma since he was a few months old. When getting a cold or when there is a change of the weather is when he usually gets the attack. I have a sister living in Butte, Mont., who wishes me to spend my vacation with her. I am in a nervous, rundown condition. Kindly let me know if the air will be good for both."

REPLY.

The air of Butte, Mont., will not harm you or your baby. On the other hand, there is no reason for thinking it will make your baby suffer less from asthma.

YOU NEED LOTS OF SUNLIGHT.

M. L. B. writes: "I have enlarged neck glands. Is there anything that will cure this or stop them from enlarging?"

REPLY.

Have your tonsils and teeth put in order. The infection probably is absorbing from one or the other. If you use unpasteurized milk have the cow examined for tuberculosis. The glands should be treated by sunlight therapy or other light therapy. Eat plenty of good food. Get enough rest. Stay in the open air. Use tuberculin hypodermically.

THE FRIEND OF THE SOLDIER

THE PENDING BONUS.

Camp Funston, Kas., May 1.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—Would I be entitled to the bonus as outlined in THE TRIBUNE, May 1, front page, on the following service: I enlisted in the regular army in 1913 and was furloughed to the reserve in March, 1917, and called for active duty again May 30, 1917. I was discharged on a surgeon's certificate for disability one year later? J. S.

If you will refer again to the article you mention you will see that, as reported from the ways and means committee, the bonus bill provided five optional plans for "adjusted compensation." It also states that men entering the army before the declaration of war would be excluded from the benefits of the bonus. As the bill is still pending and subject to daily change we can give nothing more definite than the above report.

NOT IN LINE OF DUTY.

Chicago, May 3.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—Can an honorably discharged soldier obtain a Wasserman test free of charge at one of the government hospitals, though he has never, to the best of his knowledge, contracted the disease prior to, while in, or after being in the service? If not, please mention the most reliable and reasonable hospital to get same. M.

The government hospitals are for the men who contracted illness or disease in line of duty. We advise you to apply for examination to the United States Public Health service, 512 Garland building, Chicago. They will either arrange for an examination or tell you where to go for one.

MOSTLY LOANS.

Chicago, April 30.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—Please answer the following questions regarding war risk insurance: 1. Is a twenty year endowment policy paid in full at maturity, or is it paid in installments? 2. Is the 94 per cent loan value after one year on the amount paid in during that year or on the amount of the policy? 3. What rate of interest is charged on a loan? 4. If a twenty year endowment policy is reduced or dropped after two or three years, is the amount paid in lost to the policy holder? I hope I have not asked more than my share of questions. A. S. D.

1. An endowment policy is paid in a lump sum to the insured, or, according to the present provisions of the war risk insurance act is paid in installments to the beneficiary at the death of the insured, unless the insured has designated at the time he converts his insurance that he wishes it paid in a lump sum to his beneficiary.

2. Ninety-four per cent of its then cash value.

3. Not more than 6 per cent a year.

4. At the end of the policy year if the insured wishes to discontinue his insurance he may surrender the policy for the then cash value or may take a paid up policy or have the policy extended. However, if the amount of the insurance is reduced he is given no refund on the amount paid in excess of the new policy after reduction. The insured must not lose sight of the fact that during the time before his insurance is reduced he has had protection which is what he has been paying for, and had he died or become totally and permanently disabled in that time the amount would have been paid to him.

Not too many questions at all. Call again.

NEXT OF KIN.

Chicago, May 3.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—A reply to the following would help me greatly:

1. My brother was killed in action. He had subscribed for and paid for Liberty bonds. We know that these were fully paid for because we hold a check made out to him because of "overpayment on bonds." He wrote that he was having the bonds given to my mother in case of death. As yet she has been unable to get them and has received no explanation. Where shall we write in regard to this? If the department to which we are referred is in Chicago, would a personal call be permitted?

2. When mother is named as beneficiary of insurance and father is still living, in event of death of mother who is considered next of kin and would be beneficiary under war risk insurance act?

I thank you in advance for a reply. F. P.

About the bonds write to the zone finance office, bond section, enlisted allotment branch, Washington, D. C. The only government bureau in Chicago tracing bonds now is the central war department, 230 East Ohio street, Chicago. They will be glad to have you call or write.

The insurance would be paid to the father unless the insured had designated a second beneficiary. In the event of the father's death it would go to the next of kin, which would be the insured's brothers or sisters.

REGARDING COMPENSATION.

Chicago, May 3.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—Would like to ask you a question in regard to compensation. I have been drawing 20 per cent, but felt as though I should receive more, so asked for it.

When my last check came it was for $33.94, with no word about the increase, so I want to know whether I should get this increase from time of discharge or not. H. N. J.

It depends on other facts not given in your letter. We advise that you take it up with the local war risk insurance office at 1307 Stock Exchange building, and if you have not received fair treatment they will open the case at Washington.

SIGNED UP AS ALIEN.

Chicago, April 27.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I immigrated to this country without being registered at the immigration office, and in 1916 I took out my first papers with the honest intention to make the United States my home. Now I intend to take out my final papers, but I am afraid some mistakes I made my first four years in this country will make it difficult to obtain them. In 1914 and 1915 I signed at the Austrian consulate, then I claimed exemption from military service because I was an alien enemy. Do you think that this will be sufficient to bar me from citizenship? A. S.

All the courts in this district refuse to grant citizenship to an alien who registered with the consul of his native country for military duty after he declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, and also to an alien who claimed exemption under the selective service law by reason of alienage, holding that such an alien has invalidated his declaration of intention.

A VOTE FOR JOHNSON.

San Diego, Cal., April 27.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Now comes the New York Tribune telling us that it was the "pro-German" and "pacifist" vote that won the victories for Johnson in Nebraska and Michigan. Such logic is diseased; but let us remember that, while the honey bee is a disease to the flower, the flower is life to the bee and what is disease to the New York Tribune is political life and freedom to the majority vote. It was the vote of a free people, many of whom left Germany to escape such autocracy as the New York Tribune attempts to impose, and who prefer to devote their time to propagating life and peace, that gave Johnson his victories.

CLARENCE BECKMEYER.

A VOTE AGAINST JOHNSON.

Chicago, April 29.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In Mr. Henning's Washington correspondence this morning he says:

"Johnson has become one of the three leading candidates for the nomination [for president], and California, noted for its state pride, would not think of halting the progress of a native son with a fair chance of becoming president."

It may be that down in Washington, where they have no votes to back their guesses, Senator Johnson bulks big as a possible presidential nominee, but in the country at large, outside of socialistic centers, he shrinks to almost negligible proportions.

In 1912, by hitching his California cart to a star, he was lifted into a temporary eminence in national affairs.

In 1916 he projected himself into a more notorious preëminence by betraying the Republican party in California to revenge a personal slight which a patriotic citizen would have swallowed with a smile of amused contempt.

SLASON THOMPSON.

ATTEMPTING TO REMOVE THE STING.

Downers Grove, Ill., April 29.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—It hurts to read your many articles which you print daily regarding the farmer and his conditions, especially the one sent in by W. M. Covey, Y. M. C. A. hotel, who states the average farmer's working day is sixteen hours. I wonder where he gets his information. I know that the average working hours are about twelve hours, and maybe less, when you figure off the many hours you lie around in bad weather and meal hours. And then he speaks about giving the young farmers better working conditions. I think, with tractors, self-binders, hay loaders, milking machines and many other labor saving machines, we have improved our working conditions in par with many large manufacturers in the city. It would be better if some of these people would talk less and work more, as we are doing.

FARMER.

WHY SO MUCH CLEMENCY?

Chicago, April 30.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Apropos of the commutation of the sentence of "Umbrella Mike" Boyle, it would be very interesting to know the grounds for the commutation and the names of the persons who urged the clemency. Boyle continues defiant and prosperous, managing the affairs of his "union" from the bridewell.

Might it not also be valuable to call attention to the extraordinary number of federal prisoners, convicted at great labor and expense, who have been the recipients of executive clemency during the last seven years, noting perhaps political and financial importance and connections with organized labor?

JOSEPH CUMMINS.

REFORMING THE LEGION.

Chicago, April 30.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Regarding the letter written by Mr. Stubbs and published in THE TRIBUNE on the 29th of April, I believe it would be unfair to the American Legion, of which I am an officer, if I did not make a few remarks in defense of this "begging collection agency."

We are glad to see that there are some people in this country who are possessed of sufficient of this world's goods to be able to look with contempt upon the boys who fought "over there" and upon their efforts to secure fair compensation for that service.

Mr. Stubbs is a desirable citizen and an economical one. He has his country's good at heart, and we know that when the letter carrier rings his bell some morning and hands him a check for the balance of his wages earned as a warrior for humanity he will say: "Take it back to your government, my good man, for I need it not."

We believe that if sufficient gentlemen, possessed of the sterling qualities that Mr. Stubbs admits he is endowed with, would join the Legion, reform measures probably could be initiated and the standards of the Legion raised.

Don't be soreheads, all you Mr. Stubbses; join the Legion; a warm welcome awaits you. Good government is not secured by the stay-at-homes. If the Legion needs reforming, it will have to be reformed from within.

C. ALBERT PEEL.

THE TERRORS OF A SENSE OF HUMOR.

Nauvoo, Ill., April 30.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I want to tell you and the learned professor of psychology how much I enjoyed the editorial of April 24 entitled "Are Women People?"

The real interesting part of the editorial begins with the professor's statement that "women laugh not because of the objective quality of the thing laughed at—that is, because it is funny—but because of their own subjective state."

Whether you have seen the light or not, this is a fact, and thus do we account for the giggling girls who hang around street corners voicing merriment, not because of a particular point to a joke but because of a certain state of mind, and a state we who have studied psychology analyze into the shallowness we do not admire.

It is quite true also that "women who possess a real sense of humor do not hold offices in clubs because the great majority of women are afraid of them, as we are all afraid of what we can't understand."

I would like the privilege of extending this statement to say that these rare and superior women are seldom found in a state of matrimony either, and for the same reason, viz., that men, too, are afraid of what they cannot understand.

H. T. RHEINBERGER.

THE GOOD JAPANESE.

Waukesha, Wis., April 29.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I thought your paper an "O. W. W." (one of the wisest in the world) until lately, when I find you wasting so much good paper on your correspondent Hunt's nonsense about "the good bolshevists and the wicked Japanese." Where does he get that stuff? In moving against those arch conspirators against the world's peace—Lenine and Trotzky—Japan is acting like "a good power and true" and well repaying us by using its technical tuition to overcome a most evil social heresy from the west. ELMER R. BROWN.

ROADS REFUSE STRIKERS' NEW BID FOR PEACE

Efforts of the Illinois Manufacturers' association to settle the switchmen's strike failed yesterday.

In a conference with railway managers, Col. William Nelson Pelouze, president of the association, was advised the railways would not restore seniority rights or reëmploy any strikers they considered undesirable.

The conference followed the offer of John Grunau, president of the striking organization, for the men to return to their old positions with all seniority rights, the question of wages to be decided by the newly appointed wage board.

At union headquarters it was declared nearly 50 per cent of the strikers already had accepted other positions and that the remainder were considering leaving the railroads for good rather than return under existing conditions.

Factories Face Shutdown.

Meanwhile factories and manufacturing plants in the Chicago industrial district face a serious famine in raw materials. The mill of the Chicago Mill and Lumber company was reported on the verge of closing, while numerous others have virtually exhausted their available material.

Another strike broke out in Chicago yesterday. About 125 of the 1,200 union iron molders walked out for a minimum of $10 a day. The flat basic wage for molders recently was $6.40 for eight hours. Ninety per cent of the employés in the Chicago district then accepted a $2 a day raise.

Waiters Begin Picketing.

Picketing sandwich men patrolled the sidewalks in front of down town hotels in an attempt to win popular sentiment toward the strike of cooks and waiters. "Unfair to Labor" was the slogan on the neatly printed signs.

Ice cream wagon drivers, who threatened to strike today, held a conference with representatives of their employers last night on wage demands and a satisfactory settlement was said to have been made.

Builders Issue Ultimatum.

Four thousand carpenters employed in the sash, door and other wood working mills of Chicago who went out on strike Saturday were told last night by their employers that unless they return to work tomorrow morning all offers of settlement will be withdrawn. The men were being paid 85 cents an hour and were to get $1.10 an hour beginning June 1, according to George Rinn, chairman of the employers' strike committee.

Representatives of 120 factories were present. Some said if the strike continues all building construction in the city will be tied up.

MISS NELLIE WALKER, SCULPTRESS, NAMED STATE ART ADVISER

Miss Nellie V. Walker, the Chicago sculptress, yesterday was appointed by Gov. Lowden at Springfield as a member of the state board of art advisers, succeeding Albin Polacek of the Art institute.

NELLIE V. WALKER. [Moffett Photo.]

Miss Walker came to Chicago from Moulton, Ia., in 1900 to study at the institute as a pupil of Lorado Taft and C. J. Mulligan. Later she became a teacher and her works began to win wide recognition and prizes.

RAIL LINES SEEK NEARLY BILLION REVENUE RAISE

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—Nearly $1,000,000,000 in additional revenue is sought by the railroads through increased freight rates. This has been made known by railroad executives in informal conferences with members of the interstate commerce commission preliminary to formal presentation of the matter. The estimate makes no provision for wage increases such as may be approved by the railroad labor board.

In round figures the executives have informed the commission that approximately $970,000,000 in additional revenue is needed. The eastern group would get about $500,000,000, the western approximately $350,000,000, and the southern about $115,000,000.

It has been estimated that an average rate increase of approximately 27 per cent would be necessary to bring in the amount of additional revenue desired.

It is not known what value the railroads have placed on their properties in making the estimates. They have contended consistently that the book value of the properties, which is roughly estimated at $20,000,000,000, should be the minimum amount on which the new schedule of rates should be based. In some quarters it is believed that the estimates were based on a property valuation of $22,000,000,000.

FIREMEN AT 37 COTTON MILLS TOLD TO STRIKE

New Bedford, Mass., May 3.—The strike of operatives in thirty-seven cotton mills in this city today was followed by the issuance of orders from union headquarters tonight to all union firemen to quit work tomorrow. Union leaders said many firemen worked today because of a misunderstanding.

Although two of the mills closed, the manufacturers' association announced the other mills would remain open.

The strikers probably will ask a 50 per cent increase in wages.

BUSINESS RISK GIVEN AS HIGH PRICE CAUSE

Low Production, Slow Transportation, Necessitate Carrying Large Stocks.

[This is the third and last of a series of articles dealing with business and financial conditions behind high prices.]

BY PAUL R. LEACH

The theory of self preservation and its exemplification in business in these unusual times was explained graphically by Albert Pick, president and treasurer of Albert Pick & Co., of Chicago, purveyors of restaurant and hotel material.

"We made $500,000 net profits in 1919," he said. "Because of poor conditions of transportation, the slowness with which orders are filled and low production, we are carrying $4,200,000 worth of stock, just $2,500,000 more than we ever carried before. We must carry it in order to care for our trade as well as we do now. That $4,200,000 stock was bought at high prices, some of it at prices higher than are quoted now. Suppose prices on those things fall this year along with those of other commodities; suppose they drop 25 per cent, which would be a conservative decline. Our loss on stock alone would be $1,050,000. Where would our $500,000 profit of 1919 be then?"

Explains 52.50 Per Cent Earnings.

Albert Pick & Co. earned 52.50 per cent on common stock. The investigator went to Mr. Pick asking "Why"? He expected a none too gentle rebuff. Instead, Mr. Pick met him with a smile and laid the cards on the table.

"There are several things entering physically into that profit," he said. "We bought out Burley & Co., which netted a handsome profit, as did the purchase of two other companies. There was about $300,000 in gross profits there. Self preservation, provision for taxes and a normal profit are included in the rest of it.

"Now let me tell of some of our difficulties. Prices on glass goods have advanced, for one thing, because of the purchase by the General Motors company of three huge glass factories, creating a shortage for other trades. Our labor prices have more than doubled. The labor turnover has been terrific. We just about get a man trained when somebody offers him money and he leaves. We turned over our entire force in ten weeks in 1919. It has been nearly as bad since. All reduces production and increases costs. We must have greater profits to cover this situation and we don't know at the beginning of a year how much those things are going to cost us. We know we shall have to pay a certain percentage of our profits in taxes, but we don't know the exact amount. We must make provision for that, and anybody who underestimates in a case of that sort would be a fool.

"In order to obtain goods to fill our orders, we had not only to finance ourselves last year by a bond issue but also to finance manufacturers of goods for us. This was done, $50,000 at a crack, for three companies. Suppose they had failed; where would our $150,000 have been? We had to prepare for that. In another company we invested $150,000 so it could have capital to turn out our goods. We had to prepare for that.

"The government is making it expensive to engage in business. The amount of information demanded of every man who pays taxes is enormous; it costs great sums of money to discover these facts. We hire a firm of specialists; they work weeks, make findings, then go to Washington and discover that they are all wrong and have to do it over again.

"There is no such thing as competition to-day—competition in selling chattels. The only competition now is competition to secure goods to sell—and that competition is costing money."

Restaurants Explain Dividends.

A subscriber wrote to The Daily News to complain of restaurant prices. The John R. Thompson company, operating a string of lunch rooms in Chicago and in other cities, showed net profits of $770,823, compared to $448,080 in 1918 and $716,356 in 1917. The company is planning a stock dividend of 33 per cent. The Childs company, with headquarters in New York and operating restaurants in many cities, including Chicago, with its subsidiaries, earned net profits in 1919 of $1,688,006, after preferred dividends and taxes had been taken care of. The dividend rate was increased to 6 per cent; nearly 34 per cent was earned on the common stock of $4,998,755. This company did not reply to requests for information, but H. M. Henricksen, secretary of the John R. Thompson company, was one who put the cards on the mahogany.

"That 33 1-3 per cent dividend," he declared, "is not based upon 1919 profits, but is a distribution of our surplus accumulated over several years of business. Food products have increased; labor has nearly doubled; all operating expenses have increased, which make restaurant prices higher. There is no restaurant or lunch room profiteering in Chicago; too much competition. Our figures show the average meal in our restaurants is priced at 23 cents. Our average profit on a meal last year was less than 1 cent.

Profits [illegible] food corporations were—eries of profiteering to the contrary—not as large as were those made by the textile, clothing and other industries, according to their financial statements. The Quaker Oats company showed a decrease, the balance for the common stock equaling 21.42 per cent whereas in 1918 the company earned 34.79 per cent on $8,250,000 worth of outstanding common stock.

For the year ending Dec. 31, according to printed reports, the Beatrice Creamery company, 1526 South State street, the largest butter dealer in country, showed a net of $1 512,32[illegible] most $750,000 more than any year. The One Arm Lunch Room.

Now the one arm lunch room emerges. Time was when the hungry man stoked his individual furnace at a table or a counter. Then came the genius who so widened the arm of a chair that it would hold a mug of coffee, a ham sandwich and perhaps one other item of what you will. It was a hit. There was a sense of convenience about the arrangement and in addition to the service there was a touch of hilarity, something from the Land of Oz, inasmuch as the first glimpse suggested that all the customers were one-armed persons who in spite of misfortune contrived to retain excellent appetites.

The researches of Paul R. Leach, as an incident in his series of articles on business and prices of to-day, throw a great white light on the one arm lunch room. No longer is it an experiment lingering along where men may say, "We will see what comes of this—it may develop." One "chain" of such lunch rooms, where the service is of the standardized southpaw quality, showed net profits of $770,828 last year and somewhat less the year before. The average price of a meal was 23 cents and the average profit per meal was 1 cent.

Out of mouse traps and an array of 5 and 10 cent knickknacks Mr. Woolworth in his day created on the Atlantic seaboard the world's tallest building. Out of a ham sandwich and a mug of coffee who knows what may develop here on the romantic shores of Lake Michigan?

Thompson's million dollar Commissary and Bake Shop, on Clark Street, from North Water to Kinzie, Chicago

Throw Away Your Hammer and Get a Horn!

Some level-headed fellow recently remarked that if faddists who wear overalls would do less parading and more work, they'd do a tremendous lot toward knocking old Hi Cost of Living down from his perch.

The same thing applies in the restaurant business. In spite of food shortages, profiteers, and high prices, John R. Thompson has remained faithful to the millions of busy people who patronize his Pure Food Restaurants. He kept his food pure and good, his restaurant clean and neat, his prices down, in spite, of everything.

John R. Thompson isn't going to announce a cut in prices because he never raised them in the first place. You can still get crisp doughnuts, jelly "Bismarcks," sugared rolls, French pretzels and German coffee cakes—and a lot more good things to eat—for five cents, the price that has prevailed before the war, during the war, and since the war. Thompson's coffee, famed for its flavor, with plenty of cream, is still five cents. A better cup of coffee can't be had regardless of price. Careful management and strict economy kept his prices down.

The Chicago Daily News recently printed an article and an editorial about the wonderful Thompson system of restaurants. They found the price of an average meal in Thompson's to be just twenty-three cents! Isn't that worth an editorial these days?

You, too, can "throw away your hammer and get a horn." John R. Thompson operates nearly fifty restaurants here in Chicago where these low prices prevail. If you want to take advantage of PURE FOOD, PROMPT SERVICE, and LOW PRICES all at once, just look for this PURE FOOD SIGN—

NEGROES WANT OWN BISHOPS IN M. E. CHURCH

Veiled Threat of Secession at Des Moines.

BY THE REV. F. L. GRATIOT.

Des Moines, Ia., May 3.—[Special.]—A veiled threat of secession on the part of Negro members of the Methodist church, an investigation into the affairs of the various boards and the centenary movement which raised $113,000,000 for the Methodist church last year, and a speech by the fraternal delegate from Great Britain marked the second business day of the twenty-eighth quadrennium of the Methodist church.

"White bishops are not able adequately to administer affairs for the 350,000 Methodist members of African descent," said W. W. Lucas, a delegate from Mississippi. He presented a motion calling for the election of colored bishops to have jurisdiction over Negro churches.

Demands Negro Bishops.

"Give us a chance to do a man's job in a man's way," said Mr. Lucas. "The future of the Negro members of the Methodist church lies either in the Methodist church or out of it. If we are to stay in, give us our rights; if we are to go out, it is your duty all the more to let us learn how to walk alone.

"There is gravitation towards unity among all the Negro churches. They may teach you how to go about it. It may be necessary for us to go to a racial Methodist church in order to get our rights. We want our own bishops so we can have adequate supervision in the interests of the kingdom of God. Baptized at Methodist altars by the Methodist ministry, it is a far fetched theory made of moonshine that would deny us colored bishops."

The motion was referred to the committee on episcopacy.

Slap at Senator Johnson Dodged.

An effort was made to have the part of the Episcopal address of Bishop W. F. McDowell, which urged the entrance of the United States into the league of nations, adopted as the sentiment of the conference and forwarded to President Wilson and the speaker of the senate. Dr. Frank Larkin of California wanted it adopted immediately so as to influence the primary election of California.

"A small, narrow American from California is seeking the presidential nomination," said Dr. Larkin.

Friends of Senator Johnson sidetracked the resolution, however, and it was referred to the committee on the state of the church.

PLEA FOR CHURCHES

BY LEROY A. GODDARD.

[President of the State Bank of Chicago.]

The Interchurch World Movement organization is now calling upon the people for support for the various fields of religious work of the different churches, and this is evidently the opportune time for such a campaign. There is unusual activity in all organizations. The numerous fraternal societies are enjoying unprecedented prosperity in the way of increased membership. There seems to be a wave of activity and growth in the associations of commerce, in labor unions, and the various business organizations. These are days of activity, and of doing things on a large scale. Why should not the church wake up to the situation and answer to the call of the times?

LEROY A. GODDARD.

We are going through an effervescing state, a state of nervous activity and of more or less anxiety and unrest. This seems to be the condition throughout the world. "The harvest truly is plenteous, but the laborers are few." Workers are needed, and they must have support. The call is for the Gospel of Love, and it must be carried to the souls of men.

Chicago's total in the Interchurch World movement drive went to $1,414,183 yesterday, the first day of the "Continuation and Completion" period of the campaign; and the total for Illinois reached $3,600,431.

The total contributions to the nation-wide fund of the Interchurch up to last night were $124,208,000 with incomplete returns at hand from twenty states.

START TO OUST LITTLE OL' LAST YEAR TENANTS

Orders 26 Evictions; 2,000 Cases Pend.

Eviction of tenants who have "struck" against the high rent increases and refused to move will be started today, according to Dennis J. Egan, chief bailiff of the municipal court. Deputy bailiffs will start out with nineteen writs of restitution, which will be served unless the defendants have already moved or made arrangements to move.

Landlords filed 500 suits seeking the ousting of last year's tenants yesterday. According to Jacob Kearns, clerk of the court, 1,518 such cases were started in the month of April. Landlords who sought immediate action from Bailiff Egan were rebuffed.

"We can't rush out and throw everybody into the streets," stated Mr. Egan. "We will serve the writs, but with gentleness and diplomacy. If a man has an opportunity to move into a new place within a few days, we are going to let him do it instead of putting him out where he is at once."

12 Days for Eviction.

It will be five days to a month before many of the cases filed recently will be called for trial, officials said. It requires five days beyond the date of filing at least and then five days beyond the date of judgment before a judgment can be executed. The quickest possible time before an eviction on the new cases can take place is twelve days.

Twenty-six judgments ordering tenants who have refused to move to vacate or be put out were rendered in Judge Arnold Heap's court yesterday.

Denies Many Flats Are Vacant.

Adolph F. Kramer, president of the Chicago Real Estate board, denied the landlords have been left holding the bag in the high rent battle by being forced to offer 1,200 apartments for rent.

"There are not that many apartments for rent," he said. "Some have been advertised, but most of them are in new buildings which will not be ready for occupancy for a month or longer. Everybody has been able to find a flat or get quarters of some kind. There was less trouble this year than last."

Slayer of Morgan's Doctor Ordered to Matteawan

New York, May 3.—Thomas W. Simpkin, "tramp printer," who shot and killed Dr. James Wright Markoe at St. George's church here a fortnight ago, today was committed to the asylum at Matteawan, N. Y. Percy A. Simpkin of Astoria, N. Y., a brother, testified the prisoner said he was going to "get Morgan," and had bought a revolver in Chicago.

Simpkin admitted he had told his brother he was going to "get Morgan."

"If Morgan had been there, would you have shot him?" he was asked.

"I guess I would, if he had been around with the plate," he replied.

Women Who Smile

Should end that film on teeth

All statements approved by high dental authorities

Most teeth are clouded more or less by film. Millions of teeth are ruined by it. It causes most tooth troubles.

There is now a way to combat that film, advised by dentists everywhere. And a ten-day test will be sent on your request.

How film dims teeth

A viscous film clings to your teeth, enters crevices and stays. You can feel it with your tongue. Then it forms a cloudy coat and may lead to endless damage.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Very few people, under old methods, have escaped these troubles. The ordinary tooth paste does not dissolve film, so the tooth brush failed to end it. Dental science has for years been seeking a way to combat it.

Five years ago the way was found, and dental authorities have amply proved its efficiency. Now it is urged for daily use, and millions already employ it. It is embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent—a tooth paste made to meet modern requirements.

Teeth quickly show

There are three ways in which Pepsodent brings results unique and beneficial, but its action on film is the chief one.

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to day by day combat it.

Pepsin must be activated, and the usual agent is an acid harmful to the teeth. So this method long seemed barred. But science has found a harmless activating method, and now active pepsin can be daily applied.

You see the results of Pepsodent wherever you look today—teeth whiter, cleaner, safer. Now see the results on your own teeth.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coat disappears.

Compare your teeth now with your teeth in ten days, then decide for yourself what is best for them. Cut out the coupon to avoid further delay. This test is most important.

Yellow Cab

Has Made Taxi-Cabs Respected

When we first talked of creating the YELLOW CAB, our most intimate friends laughed at us. They said the cab business couldn't be rescued from its evil traditions.

They said that the cab business, from time out of mind, had been unstable and unreliable. It was beyond redemption. It was operated by irresponsible individuals and there was no chance to make a respectable and self-respecting industry of it.

They sympathized with our ideas but hung on to their money. And their wasn't a bank in town that would advance a nickel to finance it. We had about the same help as the people who first suggested the steamboat, the telephone and the electric-light.

Without trying to be too dramatic we answered: "It can be done. And what can be done, will be done."

So, with our own money we financed it. And it has become one of Chicago's biggest, one of its best and one of its most reliable institutions. Moreover it is respected and admired by all the people in Chicago and countless thousands outside.

Tradition has been scattered to the four-winds. The revolution has been complete. Old methods have been supplanted by dignity and strength. The men we employed and trained developed from cab drivers into business men. And our employees have become a Community of Usefulness that cannot be surpassed.

There is no business system in existence that can show 3,000 employees happier than the employees of the YELLOW CAB. Pardon us for exulting.

TRANSFERS BY CULLERTON STIR FIRE CHIEFS' IRE

John F. Cullerton, manager of properties of the fire department, has produced consternation among battalion chiefs, thereby intensifying the bitter feeling some of them bear him.

The chiefs have been given the double platoon system, which they wanted. But some find it has unpleasant features, for it has caused them to be transferred far from their homes.

They charge, furthermore, that Cullerton, through Fire Marshal Thomas O'Connor, is paying off old scores. They declare he has consistently been enlarging his authority, giving himself powers only the marshal should have. They have not been silent, and some believe he has learned their sentiments and acted accordingly.

There are thirty-two battalion leaders. There were twenty-six districts. The two platoon system made only sixteen headquarters necessary, so ten districts were cut off and the sixteen were enlarged proportionately.

"This naturally meant that a number of men had to be transferred," explained Mr. Cullerton last night. "I took the chiefs in the order of seniority, giving them places nearest their residences.

"Of course, some younger men are far from home. But if I had let my personal feelings count the order would have been different."

Andrew Gillespie, 4703 North Albany avenue, sent to the west side.

Among the other things the chiefs do not like are rules taking away their meal hours, their rights to make inspections except on order of the marshal, and their rights to drill the companies they command; the rule forcing them to stay in their quarters except to respond to fire alarms or on orders from the marshal; and added authority given Frank Swenie, chief fire alarm operator and his four assistants.

Mr. Cullerton says these rules were made in the cause of efficiency. It has been charged by him that the chiefs used their right to inspect as "a blind" when they wanted to go visiting or to leave quarters for other reasons.

Sales of 2,800 acres of land to Pocatello, Idaho, so that city may protect its water supply, is authorized in another bill.

Y. W. C. A. TO OPEN CENTER FOR 5,000 21ST WARD GIRLS

Five thousand girls boarding in the Twenty-first ward are soon to have an education and recreation center, with a residence for 200 of them. This was announced yesterday by the Young Women's Christian association, which has purchased the Walton apartment building at 878 North Clark street. The building will be remodeled.

The building is five stories high, containing eight and ten room apartments, with large spacious rooms, the kind you see in the movies. It was constructed in 1880.

LAWYERS FORM NEW FIRM.

Attorney Joseph D. Grose and William C. Scherwat, the latter a recent candidate for alderman in the Twenty-first ward, have formed the law firm of Grose & Scherwat, with offices at 105 West Monroe street.

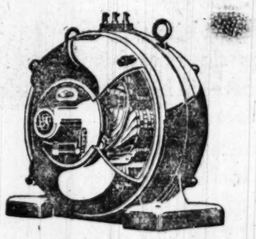
Sturtevant PUTS AIR TO WORK

Electric Motor Drive, and Why



Bi-Polar Electric Motor

Type H Electric Motor

Eight-pole Type Electric Motor

Which shall it be—steam or electric motor drive for your ventilating and heating equipment? True, each has its advantages. But for public building work, for schools, churches, and government and municipal buildings, where steam is not available, the electric motor drive is an excellent substitute, and a more convenient drive.

Electric motors are clean, quiet running, easy to maintain, and require no licensed engineer to operate. In summer, where fans are used for ventilation or cooling, the electric motor drive is ideal, for it is independent of hot steam boilers. Besides, it takes such small space and is out of the way. Then, too, electric wiring is so much easier to install than steam piping.

Sturtevant Electric Motors

Direct current Sturtevant Electric Motors are built especially for driving blowers and exhausters. They are of the open, semi-enclosed, or enclosed type, according to requirements.

Sturtevant Electric Motors are the result of three generations of engineering and manufacturing experience in building power equipment for Sturtevant air-moving apparatus.

If you wish to learn more about Sturtevant Electric Motors, write, wire, or phone the district office listed below. A Sturtevant representative will gladly call and explain in detail the many advantages of Sturtevant Electric Motors.

STATE UTILITIES MODEST; ASK 50 TO 80 MILLIONS

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 3.—[Special.]—The downstate public utilities, valued at between $500,000,000 and $600,000,000, sought financial aid today from the state utility commission. They roughly estimated their needs between $50,000,000 and $80,000,000, as compared with the $100,000,000 asked last week by the Chicago utilities. A detailed and accurate estimate is to be presented to the commission on May 17, to which date the hearing was adjourned.

The Chicago hearing will be resumed May 12 with Chester Cleveland cross-examining Charles G. Dawes.

Tell What They Expect.

The downstate men told what they desire in the amount of return, which the Chicagoans did not. W. H. Sawyer of the East St. Louis utility company, which operates in the valley below Alton, said that utilities must have a return of 12 per cent on the value of their properties. He also wanted a 4 per cent reserve.

Another witness said that the minimum returns should be 10 per cent. Every witness said the rate of return witness said that the rate of return must be increased, if the utilities are to get money with which to make extensions and betterments. It was represented by each one that industrial corporations are now able to outbid the public utility corporations for money, with the result that industrials are getting loans and the utilities cannot get any money.

All Peeved at "Attacks."

All of the witnesses toop a rap at what Charles Dawes called "demagogical attacks." Mr. Denman said that "ambitious politicians are responsible for the reputations of utilities generally." Denman, Sawyer, and others asserted that the people down the state are willing that the utility shall have a fair return on a fair valuation."

O. F. Barry of the independent telephone companies, said to serve 800 communities, would like to have the commission permit the corporations to fix emergency rates following hearings to determine their fairness. In Ohio utility corporations have that power. That, however, is not permitted under the Illinois law.

The granting of the request for $50,000,000 to $80,000,000 means an increase in rates to consumers or subscribers. Neither the utility commissioners nor the representatives of the utilities would estimate the probable average increase.

LUMBER MILLS OF NORTH CLOSED BY GREAT STRIKE

St. Paul, Minn., May 3.—Many lumber mills in northern Minnesota, Michigan, and Wisconsin were closed today by the strike of timber workers, who are demanding an eight hour day in mills and woods and recognition of their union.

Without untoward incident the men quit work in a number of mills and camps, reports received here showed. Mill interests in northern Minnesota did not know the exact extent of the strike, while union officials claimed approximately 20,000 timber workers were out in the district of which Rhinelander, Wis., is headquarters.

In Rhinelander every sawmill was closed and about 500 men out; Cloquett, Minn., reported 2,000 men out, with all plants shut down; International Falls, Minn., declared only a few men were at work, and Green Bay and Ashland, Wis., reported similar conditions.

Making 9=23

The number of motor vehicles in use in the United States during 1919 increased 23.2 percent over 1918. For the same period the production of gasoline increased only 9 percent.

To supply gasoline for the greatly increased fleet of motor vehicles is the problem confronting the petroleum industry.

To date, the solution of this problem has been possible by reason of the reserve stocks on hand. This bulk storage has served as an expansion and contraction factor to keep supply equal to demand.

In the 11 states it serves, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) maintains 3780 bulk storage stations where stocks of gasoline are carried sufficient to meet the normal demand, with a reserve for almost any emergency.

Had it not been possible to keep this tremendous reserve in the field, thousands of motorists would have been unable to operate their cars during the late transportation troubles.

This equipment, representing an investment of millions of dollars, is managed by alert men, trained to serve you. So far it has proved itself equal to any demands made upon it.

The foresight of the men responsible for the operation of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has enabled them to estimate accurately the probable needs of the motorist for gasoline, and they have located bulk and service stations at convenient points throughout the territory, where the needs of the buying public can be supplied quickly and easily.

This emphasizes the benefits derived by the public from the efficiency of a company as big as its job.

CAUCUS ON "HOW TO BEAT CENSUS" IN LEGISLATURE

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

Springfield, Ill., May 3.—[Special.]—A caucus of downstate delegates to the constitutional convention has been called for tomorrow evening to agree upon a plan to limit Chicago's representation in the legislature.

The scheme has been discussed by the members of the committee on the legislative department. It prohibits Chicago from ever getting more than 40 per cent of the general assembly.

For weeks, indeed months, downstate delegates have been saying that their constituents demand this limitation. They represent it as an almost unanimous request.

Politics Back of It?

It is probably nearer the truth to say that downstate men interested in politics want the limitation. It was these politicians who prevented a reapportionment of the state ten years ago and thereby denied Chicago its full share of representation in the legislature. If that redistricting had been done, two senators and six representatives from downstate would have been transferred to Chicago.

The present census will probably shift more jobs from downstate to Cook county, therefore downstate political leaders earnestly desire Chicago's representation in the legislature be limited for all time.

There has been no actual evidence whatever thus far that the people downstate are determined Chicago shall not have its fair representation in the legislature. At least, no delegations have appeared, nor have petitions been presented.

A rumor that should be discounted is that some downstate delegates propose to sign up delegates to oppose any important action desired by Chicago until the question of representation is disposed of.

Sign Round Robin.

Several who have signed the round robin asserted today that it only pledges a limitation on Cook county and that they have not promised to block the progress of the convention in any way.

The exact program for tomorrow will not be determined until the committee on rules meets tomorrow morning, but suffrage, waterways and education are on the general call ready for consideration.

Merwin A. Stone of Iowa to the Second Presbyterian church of Oak Park, the present pastor of which, the Rev. William C. Miles, is going to Corning, Ia.

"ERROR," BAKER CALLS ANTI-U. S. RIOT IN PANAMA

Washington, D. C., May 3.—[Special.]—"Obviously due to a misunderstanding," was the comment of Secretary Baker today in regard to a report from Panama telling of an anti-American demonstration there last night on the occasion of a reception to Gen. Pershing, who is now in Panama on an inspection tour.

The protest by the Panamanians arose over the question of acquisition by the United States of a portion of the island of Taboga, which is to be used as part of the defense system at the Pacific end of the canal. A treaty between the United States and Panama covers the right of the United States to take possession of this island, or so much of it as may be needed for defense purposes in protecting the canal; but it is understood that a certain faction in Panama unfriendly to the United States stirred up the belief that this country was exceeding its rights in the confiscation of property on Taboga island and seized upon the May day celebration, period which coincided with the visit of Gen. Pershing as a fitting opportunity to call attention to their objection.

Soldiers Kept from City.

PANAMA, May 3.—United States army officers and soldiers were today ordered not to enter the City of Panama. The order was issued by Maj. Gen. Chase W. Kennedy, commander of the Panama Canal Zone, as a result of the demonstration held last night by Panamans in protest against the United States acquiring part of Taboga island for canal defense purposes.

HARRISON BOYS KNOW BASEBALL; RESULT SHOWS IT

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Proper coaching and careful directing are important factors in the success of big league baseball teams. How much more important, then, are they in high school circles!

This was illustrated clearly yesterday when the well organized and well handled Harrison Tech team swamped the McKinley High boys, who rambled recklessly through the contest as if they didn't belong on the ball field, and knew it. Harrison won, 32 to 4, in six innings. There was to have been seven rounds, but it was called after six when it looked as if it would be impossible for McKinley to get another trio of men out before dark.

Coach Molds Green Players.

Even in such a wild and weird farce the Harrison boys performed up to high school standard all the way, never losing their heads or growing careless simply because they had a commanding lead. They played the game to the limit, and played it as it should be played, and all the time the watchful eye of Coach H. L. [Shorty] Ray was upon them.

Ray built prep champions at Wendell Phillips in other years, and has taken a young and green squad at Harrison and formed it into a pretty fair team already. At least his boys are systematic and serious.

Losers a Minus Lot.

The McKinley team was lacking in nearly everything that goes to make up a ball team. There was little natural or acquired ability. The team was minus a coach, minus a player who could pitch, minus a clear conception of the game, and minus three pairs of baseball pants.

Capt. Worth, who has the burden of coaching on his shoulders, is only a student, though he does wear a thin mustache. He tried to play third, then tried short, and then pitching, but fell down in each place, and there was no other members of the team able to come to the rescue.

Techs Try Out Pitchers.

Director Ray of Harrison, seeing the game was an easy one, made a practice affair of it after the first two rounds. He has three promising pitchers, and he gave each one a whirl at it. Milo Vacin, a tall, slim right-hander, started, and the McKinley boys made all four of their hits and three of their runs off him, in the first inning, though he seemed to have as much speed as the others. In the second round he fanned two of the three men who faced him, then yielded to Madsen, also a right-hander, who set the enemy down for the next two spasms without a hit, but yielded one run through errors by his mates.

Kasper, a speedy southpaw, slabbed the last two rounds and displayed a dandy hook curve and perfect control. Not a hit was made, but one of his curves dug into the stomach of "Fatty" Feinberg, McKinley first baseman, who was unable to get all of 200 pounds out of the way.

Lahoda Takes Tough Chances.

Capt. Henry Lahoda is first baseman for the Tech lads and is built for the job, being a six footer and speedy and sure. He handled a lot of rather tough chances, then muffed a ridiculously easy pop fly.

William Stack is the second baseman and plays the position as he has been taught. He booted one chance, but made no mistakes with his head. Joe Winkler was a trifle unsteady in his fielding, but played smartly around the middle bag. He pulled one boner on the bases in the third. He was on first with none out and the call three and two on the batter. Of course, he should have dug for second with the pitcher's next windup, but simply took his usual lead off first and stopped. The batter rapped the ball to the second baseman and Joe was forced at second.

Fortified with Sluggers.

At third base, "Laddie" Soper holds forth like a ball player, both in the field and at bat. George Bilek, a sure hitting boy, is in right field. He got three clean drives during the game. Dan Colby, a heavy slugger, is in center. He looked to be the hardest hitter of the lot. Anton Stack is in left and must have a good eye. Anyway, he got five walks in six times up. Ed Rada, a good pegger and a heavy hitter, does the back stopping. He poled a single, double, and triple.

Dick Siman, who is supposed to be only a utility man, took William Stack's place in the middle of the game and in three times at bat got a single, triple, and home run.

Which daily trudged beneath
Close to Three Hundred.

Timbers to right of them,
Braces to left of them,
Flooring in front of them,
Quivered and sundered.
Bravely they strove and well,
Strove to reduce the swell;
Grimly they puffed and blew.

Derby Special.

Lexington, Ky., May 3.—[Special to Wake.]—As instructed, I spent last night in the stall with Damask, Kentucky Derby favorite. When I asked him what he thought of his chances he gave a raucous horse-laugh. I protested I was a new reporter and would lose my job unless I got the interview.

Damask, who is just a big, good natured boy, then whinnied:

"First tell these other hunks of cheese I'll kick their blocks off if they get fresh with me at the post. As for the race, they're not in my class and I'll breeze home on the chin-strap. If any of them wants another crack after the race, I'll meet any of 'em, if the public demands a match and a suitable purse is offered better than I can secure in the movies or with a circus. This race is in."

The wire ought to be good for something somehow somewhere to somebody, and it's a helva nuisance to us.

No More Tips.

I'm mashed on potatoes,
Both Irish and sweet,
And beets and tomatoes
And beans are a treat;
New onions I'm strong for,
Peas pucker my lips,
And I used to long for
Asparagus tips.

Asparagus was my Idea of food;
It no longer does my Interior good;
They soaked me 1.10 for
The last mess—the jips!—
And I lost all my yen for
Asparagus tips.

WHITNEY TRIO HOLDS PLACE AS FAVORITE FOR KENTUCKY DERBY

Louisville, Ky., May 3.—[Special.]—Turf opinion still prevails that one of the Whitney entrants, John P. Grier, Upset, or Damask, will annex the Kentucky derby. The entry price today was 4 to 1.

Second choice right now is the Loft entry. One bookmaker was laying Donnacona, and On Watch, as an entry, at 6 to 1. The Parr entry, Blazes and Paul Jones, were quoted at 10 to 1.

Peace Pennant 8 to 1.

Peace Pennant was priced at 8 to 1, Sandy Beal at 15 to 1, Prince Pal at 15 to 1, By Golly at 20 to 1; and others at prices ranging up to 100 to 1.

Donnacona adherents insist that his showing in the Blue Grass stakes when he lost by a scant length was such as to increase their faith in the imported colt. They say he had to go wide at the stretch turn, which cost him two lengths.

Still Cling to Damask.

Damask supporters contend he would have won had the race been a mile and a quarter.

Simms Pays $35,000 for Robinson as Jockey

Louisville, Ky., May 3.—Edward F. Simms has purchased the contract of D. B. Lester of Louisville, for the services of Jockey Cliff Robinson for $35,000, according to announcement today. Robinson contracted with Lester a year ago to ride for him three years for $20,000. Mr. Simms' racing stable includes Prince Pal, derby candidate.

BALKLINE TITLE TAKEN BY GAGE

Clifford E. Gage, a gray-haired veteran from Champaign, won the state amateur balkline championshi, defeating Ray Holt, the young Chicago player, 250 to 228, at the Hotel Sherman. The game went sixty innings, Gage averaging 4 10-60 on an extremely fast table. His high runs were 35, 26, and 24.

The contest wound up the annual convention of the state association. Officers elected were:

President Ralph H. Wheeler, Chicago Athletic association; treasurer, Rufus S. Chapin, Union Trust company; secretary, T. B. Wadleigh, 623 South Wabash avenue.

The report of Secretary Wadleigh showed a membership of 6,000. Albert W. Webster, superintendent of the Juvenile association, emphasized the worth of billiards as a clean sport, and Mrs. J. G. Davis spoke on behalf of billiards for women.

MOSQUITO SEASON OPEN.

It is now open season for mosquitoes, black flies, midges, and other pests which apparently are put on this earth to show fishermen that this life is not all one sweet song of pleasure.

Some of our readers will remember that we published last spring a formula for mosquito dope. Hundreds tried it and took the trouble to thank us for publishing it. Readers in all parts of the American continent, from Panama to Alaska, confirmed our own experience and belief that it was the stuff to discourage pests that become too friendly.

* *

A few others found that it did not work for them, but only one took it upon himself to pronounce it a fake. Dr. R. C. Fisher—imagine a doctor of all people condemning a remedy on one trial—writes from Vero, Fla.: "Mosquitoes here in Vero are not at all bad, but there are a few in the lowlands, where there are marshes. I covered my hands with the mixture and exposed them to the mosquitoes and within ten minutes was stung again and again before the dope was entirely dry. What a lovely bunch of liars your correspondents are."

* *

We tried this dope before we published the formula, having tested dozens of evil smelling mixtures with little success. We were convinced in spite of our skepticism. In fact, it worked so well for us that we threw away our head net and have used none since, and others found it as good. We recommend a fair trial of the one under discussion, which is made as follows: Mix equal parts of pine tar, olive oil, oil of cedar, and oil of citronella.

LAKE VIEW TIES WITH SENN NINE; SCORE, 13 TO 13

Senn and Lake View played a seven inning 13 to 13 tie in a north section City league game at Senn. Lake View led, 13 to 5, into the fourth, when Senn started a scoring bee, which netted eight runs in the last three sessions. Porter, who pitched the last three innings, held Lake View scoreless. Score:

Batteries—Carstens and Peterson; Birkoff, McGovern, Porter, and Hennsel.

DE LA SALLE, 17; ST. PATS, 5.

De La Salle Juniors handed St. Patricks their first defeat in two years, winning a Catholic league game, 17 to 5, at Congress park. O'Neill of De La Salle held St. Patricks scoreless up to the seventh inning, when two infield errors paved the way to five runs. Score:

St. Patricks	0	0	0	0	0	0	5	—	5

PURPLE TO HOLD SCHOOL RELAYS

Northwestern university has picked Saturday, May 29, as the date for its annual outdoor interscholastic meet.

Instead of the usual track and field events, Director of Athletics Jimmy Lee has decided on a relay program.

There will be five relay races open to high schools—a half mile, mile, two mile, four mile, and sprint medley. There also will be a mile relay for academies. High schools in eight states have been invited to send teams.

The only track events will be the 100 yard dash and the 220 yard low hurdles. The field events will consist of the shotput, high jump, pole vault, discus, hammer and broad jump.

CENTRAL A. A. U. URGES DROPPING OF BASKETBALL

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Adoption of a resolution to the national body asking that basketball be dropped from the list of controlled sports, and the naming of dates and zones for the city-wide track and field championships, were salient occurrences of last night's special meeting of the board of managers and club representatives of the Central A. A. U. at the Elks' club. President John V. Clinnin presided.

J. V. CLINNIN.

Because of the many professional teams which have played in A. A. U. tourneys and the impossibility of preventing the players from competing under assumed names, it was deemed advisable to drop basketball. It was voted to hold up the Central A. A. U. heavyweight championship trophy of the New London five of Wisconsin.

Arrange Zone Meets.

President Clinnin, who fostered the movement to hold a city-wide track meet, the finals of which will be conducted by the Elks in Grant park on June 5, appointed men to call meetings of the clubs in the different zones to make plans.

On May 29 the north zone will hold its meet. Joe Ritchie, former president of the Central A. A. U., will be in charge. Other zone meets will take place as follows:

It was voted to hold the regular list of the A. A. U. championship events.

Mucks Declared Amateur.

President Clinnin announced that Arlie Mucks, the Chicago A. A. athlete who was protested on the grounds of professionalism by the Illinois A. C., has been exonerated and given his Central A. A. U. championship medal. The following clubs wer admitted to membership:

Irish-American A. C., Detroit; Detroit Y. M. C. A.; Wolverine A. C., Detroit; 11th Infantry, I. R. M.; 1st Infantry, I. R. M.; 4th Infantry, I. R. M.; Panther A. A., Calumet Social club, Milwaukee; Young Men's Hebrew association, Sheridan A. C., all American Legion posts in Illinois, and the Division A. C., of Milwaukee.

VAUGHN AND ALEX AND COCKY REDS DOUBLE TRIMMING

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Cincinnati, O., May 3.—[Special.]—The Cubs put a double reef in the chest expansion of Cincinnati's world's champions today by annexing both ends of the season's first bargain matinée. The scores were 2 to 1 and 5 to 0.

HIPPO VAUGHN. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Hippo Vaughn won the first battle by driving in both of Chicago's runs, besides pitching a near shutout combat. Alexander the Great made it a clean whitewash the second game, and Cock screw home run by Dave Robertson was the chief factor in our triumph.

Vaughn There with the Bat.

Rud Hiller, a well known world's series hurler, was the victim in the first, but might have copped if he had held Hippo too cheaply as a slugger. The Cubs made only seven swats off Rud while the Reds were getting shut out of Vaughn's hide, but Hippo got one of his singles behind a two-bagger by Robertson for the tying run in the fifth and made his other hit behind a pass to the same pal in the seventh, driving in the winning counter.

Ray Fisher, aided by the Cubs' poor base running, had Alexander tied, 0 to 0, for five rounds in the second game, then lost control, passing one man and puncturing another.

Home Run When Fielder Falls.

Right there Fisher's support weakened and Robertson took advantage of the dazed world beaters by hoisting a liberal fly back of left center. Duncan was in circles trying to get under the ball, got dizzy and fell down a few yards from where the ball did.

Before he could regain his feet and get into the pill Robertson was more than half way around the circuit, and finished safely ahead of the relayed throw to the pan. Deal was on ahead of Robby at the time, and that blow, on top of the two runs previously given the Cubs in that inning, completed the rout.

The Reds got the jump on Hippo in the second round of the first game. Duncan's single, Kopf's out and Neale's single scored Cincinnati's only run of the day.

Sallee and Vaughn Bomb Reds.

The Cubs trailed until the fifth, then Robertson opened on Eller with a single to center. Killefer fouled out, Deal also so far that Robertson went to second, then Vaughn brought him in with a single. The tie lasted until the seventh. Robertson walked with one down and advanced on Killefer's out. Vaughn was there again with a timely single, on which Robbie raced in.

The Cubs did some bad work on the bases in the early rounds of the second game, but the Red defense broke down in the sixth. Hollocher, first up, was passed by Fisher. Herzog was hit in the back and Barber's sacrifice advanced them. Kopf fumbled an easy one from Paskert, letting Hollocher score. Deal forced Paskert out, but got an attempted double play and let Herzog score. Here Robertson broke up the combat with his spiral wallop which Duncan got tangled up.

Fifth Run Is a Gift.

Wingo gave the Cubs their fifth run in the eighth. Paskert walked, made second on Deal's sacrifice, and stole third only to be nailed at the pan on Robertson's rap to Rath. Wingo fired carelessly toward second, and the ball went away, letting Robertson go down home. Killefer singled to right, but Neale's good throw stopped Robertson at third. Wingo then threw wildly to second again to head off Killefer, and Robbie came home.

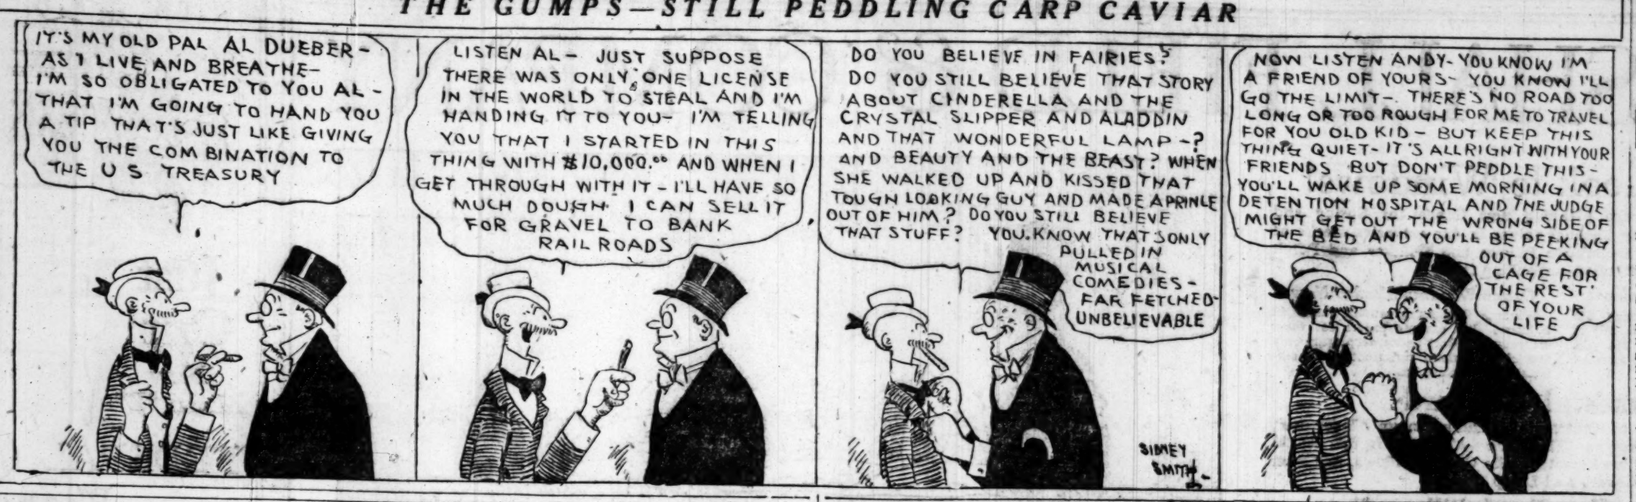
THE GUMPS—STILL PEDDLING CARP CAVIAR



Hitting by Sox, Clown Plays by Browns, Result, 7 to 1

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

St. Louis, Mo., May 3.—[Special.]—Kid Gleason's wrecking crew soaked the impossible Browns again today, winning the third of the series, 7 to 1. The White Sox copped it by mixing numerous hits with the passes and customary clown-like errors of Jimmy Burke's men.

SWEDE RISBERG. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Claude Williams did the hurling in his usual high grade way. He was frisked for five widely scattered safeties and did not issue a lone pass. One of the Browns' hits was a triple by Tobin in the fourth, and he scored a few moments later on a wild pitch. At other times Burke's athletes had little or no chance. Incidentally it was the fifth consecutive victory of the season for Claude.

Get to Sothoron in Sixth.

Allan Sothoron, the best hurling bet of the local squad, was Burke's starter but not the finisher. Sothoron went along in swell style for a few frames, but the Sox wreckers soon sized him up. They cut loose in the fifth and registered a pair, helped by a boot. They tied the game in a knot in the sixth, scoring five runs on four hits, three passes and an error. One of these swats was charged against Dixie Davis, who relieved the distressed Sothoron.

Of the dozen blows collected by the Sox, three were peeled off Risberg's bat and two of them produced runs. Weaver and Jourdan took second honors in the swat line, each getting a pair. The other hits were widely scattered, all the boys having a hand except Leibold, who is the one member of the team in a hitting slump.

Comedy Throws by Browns.

Risberg's single with one gone in the fifth started the Sox. Schalk sent him to third with a smack to right field. C. Williams bunted, but Sisler didn't pick up the ball, so it went for a hit. Risberg scoring. With Weaver at bat Schalk started a delayed steal of third. Severeid heaved to second and Gedeon hurried the ball to third, but the ball hit Schalk in the back and rolled to the stand, the run counting.

Jackson opened the noisy sixth with a single and Felsch walked. Jourdan hit safely, scoring Mr. Joe Risberg's single tallied Felsch. Kenneth Williams' return throw of Risberg's hit caromed off Jourdan's foot at third so the latter also scored, while Risberg went to third. Schalk popped out and C. Williams and Leibold walked, loading the sacks.

Good-by, Sothoron.

Sothoron was yanked at this stage and Weaver singled off Davis, driving in Risberg and C. Williams. Then the fun ceased.

Notes

St. Louis, Mo., May 3.—[Special.]—Final of the series tomorrow. Gleason may have to employ Lowdermilk with Kerr a second choice.

About 8,000 patrons were on hand. Many were fair fans who took advantage of ladies' day.

Risberg made the first of his three hits in the second inning, when he hit behind a single by Jourdan. Two were out at the time and the round ended with Schalk's pop foul to Sisler.

The only time the Browns got two men on bases at the same time was in the eighth, when Severeid and Gerber singled with one out. A fast double play, Williams to Weaver to Jourdan, stopped a possible rally.

The biggest cheer of the afternoon was uncorked when the scoreboard boy posted five runs in one inning for Detroit. The final count, giving the Tigers their first win of the season, also drew applause.

Weaver made a sensational play on Austin's hard grounder in the first. The ball was close to the bag, but Buck dove for it, stabbed it while flat on the ground and jumped up in time to throw out the fleet-footed Jimmy.

Notes

Cincinnati, O., May 3.—[Special.]—The Cubs play here again tomorrow.

The Reds were shut out by Cooper yesterday, so have made only one run in twenty-seven innings.

Killifer made a freak play on Daubert's scratch roller in the fourth of the second game. The ball skittered along toward first base. Bill fell down trying to corral it, but threw Jake out from a reclining position.

Eller gave way to a pinch hitter in the eighth and Vaughn struck him out. Luque retired the Cubs in a row in the ninth. Ruether hit for Fisher in the eighth of the second game and flied. Bressler then blanked three Cubs in the ninth.

With Hollocher and Herzog on in the lucky sixth of the second game, Barber's first attempt to sacrifice hit the foul line and Wingo grabbed it on the rebound, firing to Groh for what would have been a cinch double play. Umpire Moran called it a foul and stuck to it in spite of considerable protest by Manager Moran. Next time he tried, Barber sacrificed neatly and four runs resulted.

Put Plan Up to Mayor for High School Field

Lake View High school needs a new athletic field and is moving toward getting one. At a student meeting in the assembly hall, presided over by Supt. Brown, it was decided to seek the aid of Mayor Thompson in getting a suitable field. A meeting will be called this week at a time convenient to the city's executive at which it is expected plans will be announced.

DETROIT TIGERS WIN FIRST GAME OF YEAR FROM CLEVELAND, 5-1

Detroit, Mich., May 3.—Excellent pitching and bunched hits when they were needed broke Detroit's long losing streak of thirteen straight defeats, and the Tigers won their first game of the season, 5 to 1, from Cleveland. In the first seven innings Leonard, for Detroit, yielded one safe hit. Manager Speaker used three hurlers trying to stem the Tiger attack.

Do Your Feet Ache After Walking?

THEY shouldn't. Nature planned the feet to carry the body comfortably.

Usually, we find that aching feet are due to wrong shoes—pointed shoes that bend the toes, causing corns, bunions, callouses, weak arches, and ingrowing nails.

The cure for suffering feet is proper footwear. Educator Shoes are proper, because shaped like the foot—they "let the feet grow as they should," shapely and straight.

WIFE FINDS "ME," LOVE NOTE GIRL, NEAR OWN DOOR

Misses Her, but Mingles Tears with Mother.

BY LEOLA ALLARD.

"Me" was found yesterday. Mrs. W. J. Rietz Jr. of Oak Park, who during the day filed her suit for separate maintenance naming the mysterious "Me" as a love pirate, discovered "Me" living only five blocks from her home in Oak Park.

She also found that "Me" and her family did not know Mr. Rietz was married, but had entertained him at dinner and at chess every evening for a month.

"Me" is Mrs. Gertrude Norwood of 625 Home avenue, Oak Park. She lives there with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Howe, and her two small daughters, whose custody she was awarded when she divorced her husband in Detroit last January.

Wife Visits "Me's" Home.

Mrs. Rietz walked the five blocks to "Me's" home in grief, not anger. She failed to find "Me" at home, but talked with her mother.

"I am Mrs. Rietz," she told Mrs. Howe. "I wish to talk to you about your daughter."

Mrs. Howe took her into the big living room with its cheerful grate fire and closed the folding doors.

"Why didn't you phone you were coming?" Mrs. Howe asked. "Some one might have been here."

"So this is where my husband is spending his time," said Mrs. Reitz. She looked around the room at the baby grand piano, the rugs, the pictures, the photographs of the family—and of her husband. Then she buried her face in her hands.

"But we didn't know Mr. Rietz was married," said Mrs. Howe. "When we saw my daughter's letters and picture in THE TRIBUNE on Sunday it was just as if a bomb had been exploded in our presence."

"She Didn't Know."

"He told me," said Mrs. Reitz, "that the girl knew he had a wife, but thought he wasn't living with her."

"I am sure my daughter didn't know," said Mrs. Howe. "He took her out in public, even in the daytime. They were devoted to each other. She is her two little girls. I'm sure she wouldn't have known."

"Of course she didn't know," said Mrs. Rietz kindly. "But I've been such a good wife. No one else has meant anything to me—it was just Billy! I've cooked dinner for him night after night and he wouldn't come home. The other night was our anniversary. He brought me a bottle of perfume, then hurried out. The dinner was spoiled."

"And all the time," said Mrs. Howe, shaking her head, "he was meeting my daughter at the offices of the Webster Manufacturing company and coming home to dinner with her."

"I find that she wrote an agreement to marry him," said Mrs. Rietz.

"She couldn't marry. She has been divorced only since last January."

Scorn to Divorce Him.

"Has he seen you since I filed my suit—you or Mrs. Norwood?"

"Yes, he was here last night."

"O, how could he! He came to me yesterday and begged to come back."

"He didn't stay long. He knew he hadn't been fair to us and he wished to—well, I suppose he wished to try to square himself."

"I told him I'd see her and tell her. I won't give him a divorce. He can't get one from me. Why, even now I am paying half the $32.50 rent for our housekeeping suite. And he is spending his money on your daughter."

Mrs. Howe wept.

"I have forbidden him to come here," said Mrs. Howe, "and my daughter has promised not to see him again, but—well, you know how it is. I can't be sure."

The Vanishing "Me."

"Where is she?"

"She told me the Webster company is moving today and that I should not try to get her at the office, as she wouldn't be there."

Mrs. Rietz telephoned to the Webster company. She was told Mrs. Norwood had taken the afternoon off.

"She's probably shopping," said the voice.

Woman Identifies Man as Otis Amidon Slayer

Walter E. Drummond, who was brought here from East Orange, N. J., yesterday by Detective Sergeant Roche, was identified by Mrs. Mary Burbert, owner of a tinshop at Forty-third and Wallace streets, as the man who shot Otis Amidon last January. Amidon, a messenger for the American Express company, was killed when he resisted a holdup.

Drummond had a letter signed "Jimmie," which said:

"I can make some dough if I meet Sonny Dunn, because I was made an officer, and if I meet him I'll do him pretty."

The police say they are still hunting for Sonny.

Dr. Anna B. Schultz, Arrested by Prohibition Agent Dalrymple, Charged with Writing Too Many Liquor Prescriptions.

[Morrison Photo.]

WOMAN DOCTOR ARRESTED. WHY? SPIRITS FRUMENTI

Now She Asks, 'Is U. S. Also an M. D.?'

Dr. Anna B. Schultz, 3430 Calumet avenue, the first Chicago physician to be arrested charged with writing too many whisky prescriptions, wants to know just one thing: By what right or authority are federal agents to dictate to whom she shall or shall not prescribe liquor for medicinal purposes?

"I have been practicing medicine in Chicago for twenty-two years," she told a reporter, "and in that time I have built up a large practice. With sickness so prevalent, it is little wonder that my allotment of 100 prescriptions was used up in less than a month.

"I did not ask for more, but waited until the next month; and when I applied for blanks I was refused them."

Dr. Schultz is at liberty on $2,000 bonds. She is planning to make hers a test case, and will retain the best legal talent, she says.

"It is a pretty poor state of affairs," she declared, "when a layman is allowed to tell the medical profession when and to whom spirits fermenti shall be given.

"In the phraseology of the street, I have been made the goat, but before I get through Maj. Dalrymple and his crowd are going to find out that goats are dangerous things to play with."

Evanston Finds Cure for Strikes; Just Ignores 'Em

A month ago the sixty street sweepers struck for a 25 per cent increase. Mayor Harry Pearsons refused to treat with them. Things went along just as before, except the streets were not swept and the garbage and waste were not collected. No attempt was made to employ strike breakers. Yesterday forty-five of the street cleaners returned to work at their old wage and the dirt began to fly.

Two weeks ago the workers in Evanston's laundries walked out. The same course was pursued. Evanston had its laundry done elsewhere. Yesterday the laundry workers began returning to work.

Actors Bale Out Show in Olympic Cellar Flood

It was a fatigued troupe of actors who gave the performance at the Olympic last night. A broken water pipe at 3 p. m. flooded the basement dressing rooms. The water wasn't deep enough for fire engines to pump it out. A plumber was unable to find the leak until the water was ankle deep. But a bucket brigade of members of the company after five hours' work baled out 500 gallons by 8:10 and the show was given.

NOOSE IS ASKED FOR VINCI IN ENRIGHT SLAYING

"Don't Weaken," Camorrist Tells Prosecutor.

James Vinci, alleged Cammorist and driver of the motor car from which Maurice ("Mossy") Enright was shot to death the night of Feb. 3, was nonchalant last evening when a recess was taken in his trial for murder.

The state had asked that he be sentenced to death. But Vinci appeared not much impressed, though it is charged he once confessed his part in the crime.

Standing by a bailiff in Judge Sabath's courtroom, chewing gum, his eyes met those of Assistant State's Attorney John Owen. He started to leave the courtroom, but paused, twisting his head over his shoulder. Vinci was smiling.

Encourages His Prosecutor.

"Don't weaken, John!" he called—and passed on toward the jail, where "Big Tim" Murphy, "Dago Mike" Carozzo, and Vincenzo Cosmano, all accused of Enright's murder, are awaiting their days in court.

All day Vinci listened to lawyers examine prospective jurymen. Alert and nervous, he had sat beside his counsel, James J. Barbour, while the prosecutors—Assistant State's Attorneys John Prystalski, James C. O'Brien, and Owen—put the question:

"Have you any scruples as to imposing the death penalty?"

Few Scruples Against Death.

Fifteen times he heard veniremen reply negatively. One, a stationer, Elmer F. Johnson, even said: "Everybody guilty of murder ought to hang," and Vinci's attorney excused him.

For a time Mrs. Etta Enright sat on a bench behind him. She was dressed in black and wore a dark veil. When the trial actually begins Vinci will have a chance to see her face to face as she sits on the witness stand.

Four Veniremen Accepted.

At 5 o'clock the defendant's counsel had tendered four veniremen to the state as acceptable to sit as jurors. They are William A. Buck, 7601 Saginaw avenue, an underground engineer for the Chicago Telephone company; Albert Hanauer, 2103 South Fifty-seventh court, a stenographer and clerk; Fay S. Berry, 7723 Cregier avenue, an electrical contractor; and Paul Kaczmarek, 4912 George street, a laboratory employé.

Three of these have already been accepted by the state. The last will be passed on in the morning.

POLICEMEN'S FISTS AVENGE DEATH OF BABY

Myrtle Miller spent most of her life in an orphan asylum. She emerged at 18, ignorant and innocent. She went to work in a restaurant and met Peter Mikos, a waiter.

Mikos was the first man who ever made love to her, and she promised to marry him. She went through a ceremony, and they lived at 726 West Van Buren street for two years, while she believed she was his wife.

A few months ago she became a mother. She had been out of the hospital only a week when he beat her, she says, and threw the baby on the floor. Detectives Ben Gunnell and John Kernan took the pair to the Desplaines street station. Mikos was warned and the police took up a collection for the mother.

But a few nights later Mikos again beat the girl, according to neighbors. This time Gunnell and Kernan took the two to the Morals court, for they had been told the marriage ceremony had been a sham. But the judge continued the case several times. Then the baby died.

Mikos was released on his own recognizance to bury the baby and provide for its mother. He vanished.

Mrs. Uriah Linder, police woman, took charge of Myrtle, and Gunnell and Kernan went looking for the man. They found him last night in a coffee house. "And we weren't sorry," said Kernan, "when he resisted arrest."

POLITICIANS TRY TO GRAB HOMES AT $10 MONTH

In Center of a Forest Preserve, Too.

Some city hall politicians have learned, it seems, that the forest preserve contains a number of desirable houses that can be rented at an unbelievably small rate—say $5 or $10 a month. One tenant has, in fact, been paying but $4.17 a month for several years.

The city hall has found it out, but the county board, which controls the forest preserve, doesn't intend the knowledge shall do the politicions much good. The commissioners went into a conference in regard to this situation yesterday, after Oscar M. Olsen had visited President Peter Reinberg.

Olsen, who is vice president of the Shuman Advertising company, has been living in a cottage situated in the forest preserve, and has been paying $30 a month rent. Now, he says, Fred B. Alt, 6357 Wayne avenue, wants to get possession of this cottage and pay, not $30, but $10 a month. Alt is employed in the city hall.

Olsen Has No Lease.

Olsen says he rented the place before the district bought it. It is in the "Lacey tract" in Jefferson. He has no lease, either from the former owner or from the board, but he has an agreement, he says, and an understanding that the agreement was to be renewed next month.

Alt is said to have made arrangements last January to take possession of the Olsen cottage at the $10 rate. Olsen declares he was not told of this fact until a few days ago when a representative of Alt asked him when he was going to get out.

In the course of arguments between the commissioners it was learned that Alt had come forward yesterday and volunteered to pay as much as Olsen. After a number of polite insinuations had been made, Commissioner Dudley Pierson caused the controversy to be referred back to committee; and it is predicted Olsen will not be disturbed.

Gets House for $4.17.

Robert L. Taylor, colored switchboard operator for the board of election commissioners, is the $4.17 tenant. He lives outside the city despite the fact that city employés are obliged by civil service rules to live inside the city limits.

It has been the board's custom to make low rentals for the houses in the preserve. The tenants are sought to protect the places against vandalism until such time as they are razed.

BEG YOUR PARDON!

In reporting the death of Mrs. Marguerite McGuigan in an automobile accident at Clark and Madison streets THE TRIBUNE on April 19 stated she was killed by a mail truck which "came tearing up the street, sounding its siren," and "zimmed through and caught" Mrs. McGuigan and her husband as they stepped back toward the curb. At the inquest it developed the truck had been moving at a normal rate of speed and had come to a stop at the crossing and that Mrs. McGuigan, ignoring the traffic signal, had stepped in front of it.

FINDS THE KING OF ALL PROFITEERS —DRUG PEDDLER

Federal Judge Landis ordered a subpoena issued yesterday for "Andy" Craig, old time saloonkeeper, to appear before him this morning to explain why he loaned $2,500 to Mrs. Jessie Kerwin, a drug addict.

Mrs. Kerwin, her husband Jack Kerwin, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, and Walter Kroll, an ex-convict, are on trial before Judge Landis, charged with passing $3,840 worth of forged money orders which were stolen from a branch of the post-office in a drug store at 3131 Armitage avenue.

Kroll admitted the robbery but claimed that he had broken into the drug store in search of morphine. He told of meeting Kerwin in a north side hotel and of sharing some of his supply of the drug with him. He admitted asking Kerwin to get some of the money orders cashed.

Kerwin was closely questioned by Judge Landis, who asked him how much of the drug he had been using.

Judge Landis appeared lost in admiration. "I've been trying to catch a drug peddler for the last ten years to congratulate him," he said. "Talk about your whisky profiteers; they are jokes compared to the moonshiners who deal in opium. That stuff costs about 20 cents for ten grains in any drug store when you have a prescription."

Mrs. Kerwin has been under treatment since her arrest at the Bridewell hospital and was still ill when she appeared in court. She admitted that she had signed some of the money orders.

She said her husband was formerly manager for Andy Craig at the latter's café, the "Vilage Inn," on South State street.

But Temperament Jars Author's Child.

Ten year old Marcia Masters has decided not to be a poet. They are too temperamental. Her father is Edgar Lee Masters, author of "Spoon River Anthology."

"I'll be an actress, I guess," she said yesterday, in the sun parlor of her home at 4853 Kenwood avenue. "You know these free verse people have brainstorms when they compose. But I don't. Look," and she put pencil to paper with the following consequence:

Though the twilight hours have come
There is still a sign of the golden sun,
The leaves of oak trees are shadowing me;

Just Can't Quit It.

"I call that 'The Twilight Hours.' Here's some more of it—when the divine afflatus seizes me I can't stop."

She wrote:

And I see shadows among the trees.
Alas! it is the call of night
And I shall have to find my way home
By the light of the moon;
Alas! alas! it is all too very soon.

Mother Still Has Hopes.

Despite Marcia's prejudice against the poetasters Mrs. Masters thinks she would achieve distinction if she could be prevailed upon to master the trade.

ELEVENTH WARD HAS ALDERMANIC ELECTION TODAY

Chicago has an aldermanic election today. Two are candidates in the Eleventh ward to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Ald. Edward F. Cullerton. They are Dennis A. Horan, 1914 South Ashland avenue, and John C. Kruse, 2130 West Twenty-first street. Both have been indorsed by the Municipal Voters' league.

Horan is a real estate man and has held several positions under the Democratic organization. Kruse ran for alderman in 1916 and 1918. The Jugo-Slav Republican club has indorsed Kruse. In his election statement Kruse says he is in harmony with the principles and policies of Mayor Thompson.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

Today's Question.

Would you rather have a man or a woman serve you in a restaurant?

The Answers.

JOHN SULLIVAN, 1237 Madison street, clerk—Either one. It doesn't make a bit of difference when I'm hungry.

BERT WEBER, 619 Dole avenue, poet—I don't care a bit as long as the waiter is unionized, I'm happy and hungry.

MRS. HAZEL WATTS, 1213 Wilson avenue, housewife—I would rather have a man. Men are always more courteous. They always give better service. They keep your water glass filled and butter on your butter plate.

MISS JANE WEIL, 4510 North Hermitage avenue, stenographer—I believe men are the best, though it doesn't make much difference if you're good and hungry. But men don't waste much time with a powder puff, you know.

T. J. MURTAUGH, 6979 Sheridan road, real estate dealer—I have no choice as to waiters. All I want is my food quick.

DRAINAGE BOARD MAJORITY WINS COURT DECISION

The expected row at the meeting of the sanitary district board trustees yesterday did not materialize because the majority faction failed to appear. The minority members were there with President Charles H. Sergel.

The new majority won a victory at noon when the Appellate court dissolved a temporary injunction issued recently by Judge Barrett in Circuit court, restraining William J. Healy, supported by the majority, from interfering with Charles H. Sergel as president of the board. The higher court held Judge George F. Barrett was without jurisdiction.

A sign painter was busy substituting the name of Mr. Healy for that of Mr. Sergel opposite the word "president" on the glass partition near the entrance to the offices when the meeting was called at 3 o'clock.

The only excitement at the quorumless meeting developed when Clerk Leland S. Rapp insisted upon designating Mr. Healy as president. Mr. Sergel objected and finally called the roll himself. Only Trustees James H. Lawley, Willis O. Nance, and Matthias A. Mueller were there to respond.

$250,000 DENTAL SCHOOL GRABBED, WIDOW CHARGES

Sues Husband's Protege for Seizing Stock.

President Henry B. Brown of Valparaiso university gave J. Newton Roe, an instructor and his secretary, the "big chance" fourteen years ago. Roe was sent here to take charge of the Chicago College of Dental Surgery, purchased by President Brown from Dr. Truman W. Brophy.

In 1912 President Brown became ill and was forced to retire. Before doing so he signed over to Roe "in blank" his stock in the dental school, believing free rein would aid Roe in directing the school's affairs. President Brown died in 1917 leaving his entire estate to Mrs. Neva A. Brown, his widow.

Widow Files Charges.

Yesterday a bill of complaint was filed in the Circuit court here on Mrs. Brown's behalf. It alleges Roe has assumed ownership of the school and has "misappropriated hundreds of thousands of dollars."

It charges that he has refused to turn over President Brown's stock, valued at $250,000 to his widow as executrix or to make an accounting to her; that under his régime the school is deteriorating and he must be removed to save it. The bill asks that a receiver be appointed and an injunction issued restraining Roe from destroying his papers until an accounting is made, and that the stock be turned over to Mrs. Brown.

A similar action in March, 1918, was dismissed at the request of Mrs. Brown's attorney when it was stated the credit of the school was being jeopardized by the action.

$50,000 Liquor Mentioned.

According to the bill, Roe has had a meteoric career in finance since assuming control of the school. He is alleged to have purchased an interest in the New Southern hotel for $135,000; liquor valued at $50,000; two automobiles, and stock in half a dozen concerns, besides "paying the rent of divers and sundry female persons" for months at a time.

The liquor, which was stored at the hotel, led to a series of raids, and Roe is now under federal indictment charged with a violation of the federal prohibition amendment. Tony Karstens, formerly a bartender at the hotel, is said to have been installed as "financial manager" at the dental school at a salary of $200 a month.

The manner in which Roe is said to have obtained control of the school is rather involved. By the original agreement between Dr. Brophy and President Brown, forty-three of the fifty shares of stock were transferred to the latter.

Brown's Son "Ousted."

Finding himself in control after President Brown's death, Roe is alleged to have caused the old stock certificates to be canceled and new ones issued to himself. He then called a meeting, at which Henry K. Brown, President Brown's son, was elected president of the college; W. L. Copeland, secretary, and himself treasurer. Later young Brown was "ousted," and Roe is said to have acted as president pro tem. ever since.

The annual income of the school is said to be about $150,000 and its expenses about $70,000. In the estimate of the income is included $80,000 said to be received annually from a dental infirmary, or clinic, where "charity cases" are treated by students and small fees charged.

At least three bank accounts are said to have been kept at the Reliance State bank, one in the name of Ola N. Neff, cashier of the school; another in the name of Mrs. C. E. Allen, cashier of the dental infirmary, and a third in the name of the Chicago College of Dental Surgery. Roe is alleged to have transferred money from all three to his personal account. Another account is said to have been kept at the Cosmopolitan State bank.

Money to Two Women.

Among checks Roe is alleged to have issued against funds of the school is said to have been one drawn to the order of F. H. Shauffhausen to pay the rent of "a female person to your oratrix unknown." He also is said to have given $2,500 to Utilla Townsend."

The bill asserts he has now transferred his holdings in the hotel company to some other person, to be "held for his benefit." He is said to receive $8,000 a month income from the hotel.

H. J. Rosenberg, Copeland, P. H. O'Donnell and young Brown, all directors of the school holding one share of stock each, are named as co-defendants in the widow's suit.

OLE HANSON ASKS SQUARE DEAL FOR COMMON PEOPLE

Labor and capital must get together and give the public a square deal if the country is to be saved, Ole Hanson, former mayor of Seattle, told a wildly cheering crowd at the Seventh Regiment armory last night.

Mr. Hanson declared that the Reds, Communists, Socialists and other kindred organizations, were a "bunch of yellow-streaked intellectual insects" and defied them to contaminate Americans with their "spittoon theories."

"I'm for a selective immigration law," he said. "We should not close the door, but we should be sure that the immigrant is mentally as well as physically fit to become an American before we let him in."

Only by work, thrift and coöperation can the "vicious circle" of high costs be remedied, he said.

"Labor and capital," he declared, are sitting at a table playing poker and every chip they wager is paid for by the people."

Tears, and Laughter, and Happy Justice in 'The Woman God Sent'

"THE WOMAN GOD SENT."
Produced by Selznick.
Directed by Lawrence Trimble.
Presented at the State-Lake theater.

THE CAST:

Margaret Manning	Zena Keefe
Jimmy Dorgan	Russell Hewitt
Jack West	Joe King
Senator Mathews	William Fredericks
Pat Kane	William Gudgeon
Jim Connelly	John P. Wade

By Caroline Sanborn.

It pulls at your heart strings, does this story by Sophie Irene Loeb; it tickles your funny bone, and finally it leaves you very happy inside and contented with life in general.

The woman God sent is really only a little factory girl, blessed with a deep love and tenderness for her fellow men, especially those youngest ones whose rights are so often overlooked by the big bosses of the world. Convinced that the child welfare bill is the surest remedy for the many ills that she sees in her daily life, she throws herself into the political maelstrom of the state to get it passed.

ZENA KEEFE.

Her path is beset by numerous enemies, for the politics of the state are controlled by a group of unscrupulous men. But because she has heard the voices and is neither afraid nor selfish, this modern Joan of Arc is victorious.

Zena Keefe was an admirable choice for the part of Margaret Manning. She is young and wistful enough to win the complete sympathy of her watchers, and yet so womanly and simple that there is no incongruity when she fulfills her chosen mission.

And Russell Hewitt makes a gamey, shock headed little "Freckles." He fights bravely for his lady, and then is willing to marry her to give her the protection of his name. But he confesses to a certain relief when he finds later that some one else has taken the responsibility from his shoulders.

Maud Muller Stuff.

Trying to pull some Maud Muller stuff lost me a perfectly good beau. I was helping my father "rake the hay" in a becoming blue dress when I saw my "city feller" coming down the lane. A half grown Jersey calf that was a pet came over near me, and to make the scene effective I draped a wreath of clover blossoms over her head. Just then she caught sight of the "white ducks" and ran past him, her rope tripping him. He never came again. H. L.

FASHION'S BLUE BOOK

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—For some years past organdy has been a little sister of mercy flying to the aid of any fabric in want or distress. This present summer conditions are reversed and organdy corresponds to the damsel in distress which every chivalrous material is hastening to rescue.

As a result we see our sheer, summery organdy trimmed and combined with most everything—braid, Chantilly, taffeta, dotted swiss, taffeta, and what not. For example, I saw the other day a gray organdy trimmed on skirt and bodice with black taffeta—a really stunning effect it produced, too.

Gray organdy is immensely popular this spring, and we are showing today a frock of this material in dove gray trimmed with bands and vestee of rose pink organdy and further helped out by a trailing garland of roses. The same dress may be carried out in blue organdy trimmed with white.

HESSIAN FLY

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

The Hessian fly has started its destructive work in the wheat fields of southern Illinois. It is the worst wheat insect pest, causing serious losses nearly every year. Entomologists are at work trying to gather information on the Hessian fly.

The early spring brood is the one causing trouble just now. W. P. Flint, chief field entomologist, and his assistants have been keeping a close watch on the fly since it first appeared in Little Egypt a few weeks ago.

"In the extreme southern counties of the state the flies laid their eggs on the blades of the young wheat plants several days ago," Mr. Flint says. "The eggs have hatched and the maggots, or larvae, are living on the tender plants. As we come north the season is later, and they are not so far along."

It will be about another week before they appear in the northeren part of the state, depending, of course, on weather conditions. The cold, rainy weather this spri[illegible] has not been favorable to the flies.

Mr. Flint feels rather optimistic about the situation.

"Indications, so far as we are able to judge," he said, "are that the damage done to wheat by the Hessian fly this season will be only moderate, but it is too early to make any definite predictions. The late spring has been an advantage so far as the fly is concerned. In the central section of the state only about 50 per cent of the flies are out, and the cold rains have prevented them from laying their eggs."

The flies are still in their winter quarters, the flax seed stage, in the northern counties, and it is in this section that serious losses may occur, as weather conditions probably will be more favorable for the fly to lay its eggs.

Where the spring brood appears the farmer is practically helpless. Mr. Flint explained that nothing could be done to check the work of the fly after it once gets into the wheat in the spring. If the farmer knows they are in his wheat, and the infestation is heavy enough to cut the yield to such an extent that it would not pay to harvest the grain, then the field should be plowed up and some other crop planted.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

GEORGINE: YOUR STOCKINGS may be too short. A short stocking is as bad for the feet as a short shoe. A 5 or 5½ shoe calls for a No. 9½ stocking; a 3½ or 4 shoe calls for a No. 9 stocking. You can protect the toe from breaking through by sewing a narrow piece of tape over the toe, or reenforce it by a darning cross stitch. A tiny patch of black velvet pasted or glued on the inside of the shoe heel will prevent the blistered heel.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Pick a Third.

"Dear Miss Blake: Being a gentleman of 22 years and still rather bashful, I come to you earnestly pleading for advice. Last summer, while upon a journey, I met with certain young ladies, as any young gentleman might be apt to do. Two in particular grew very fond of me. One lives in Atlantic City, the other in Boston. Now that I am back home here, I am unable to visit with or see these young women. There is a question in my mind which one I should correspond with, working toward the end of making her my wife, of course; I am very fond of both. I am in a quandry as to what to do, and any advice from you would be most graciously accepted and heeded. DESPONDENCE."

Under the circumstances, I'd suggest that you choose a home town girl. It would be much more convenient all around, because railroad fares are pretty high, and that money you might be putting in a bank account to buy some house furnishings. I recommend this financial consideration first because, in spite of all that's said about two people being able to live as cheaply as one, it's a serious problem, and, secondly, because if you can't choose between two girls, you might as well pick a third.

A Friend in Need
Sally Joy Brown

Needs Some Clothes.

"I am a young man, just able to get out of doors in good weather, as I was hurt a year ago. I am badly in need of a few clothes. If any one has an old, outgrown shirt, size 14 or 14½, or a pair of trousers, thirty inch waist measure, I will gladly pay the postage on them. A pair of tennis shoes would be welcome, too, as my feet are rather tender from not being used in so long a time. E. V. S."

This request speaks for itself. I shall be happy to forward this man's address to any one who has some clothes that he could use.

I want to be the medium through which the friend in deed and the friend in need may be brought together. It may be you have some unneeded article which has not outgrown its usefulness that will make some less fortunate one happy, and you would gladly give it if you knew how to go about it. Write to me and I shall be only too happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper.

When information is wanted by mail a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send parcels to The Tribune, but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

(1) It is wholesome and efficient.

(2) It always gives good results, i. e. light, fine-grained and moist food.

(3) Five to ten minutes delay in baking is of no disadvantage, the heat of the oven being required to bring out its full leavening power.

(4) It is uniform in value, the last spoonful in the can is just as good as the first.

(5) It is inexpensive. In these days of high prices for the most common necessities of life, it is refreshing to find one desirable and wholesome article of universal demand at a price within the means of the average housekeeper.

Junior Leaguers Go to St. Louis Tonight for Convention

A group of Junior league members will leave tonight for St. Louis to attend the three day convention of that organization, which opens there tomorrow. The Chicago delegates are Mrs. Howard Linn and Miss Sarah Farwell. Miss Lila Hotz, Miss Annette Washburne, and Mrs. Charles Barney Goodspeed also will attend. Miss Washburne will remain in St. Louis for a short visit after the convention. Miss Hotz will go to New York and Washington for a two weeks' visit before returning to Chicago.

Mrs. Timothy B. Blackstone of 1912 Prairie avenue has invited a few friends to her residence this afternoon to hear Mrs. Alexander F. Stevenson read a paper entitled "Literary Confessions."

Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor will arrive today or tomorrow from California to visit his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Chatfield-Taylor of Lake Forest, and to become acquainted with his 3 months old granddaughter, Adelaide, whom he has never seen. Later he will go to Boston to visit his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Whitman, and their two little daughters. He will remain there until the end of the spring semester at Yale, where his son, Otis Chatfield-Taylor, is a student, and together they will return to Montecito to spend the summer.

Mr. Chatfield-Taylor's relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGann of 120 East Pearson street, who have been spending the winter at their residence in Montecito, will start for Chicago on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. McBirney and Arthur T. Aldis, who have been abroad since late in January, sailed Saturday on La France for the United States. They motored through the devastated regions of France and also in northern Africa during their three months' trip.

Delavan Smith of Lake Forest has returned from Pasadena, Cal. Other Lake Foresters who recently returned from western trips are Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson of 31 Banks street returned Sunday from their winter residence at Santa Barbara, Cal. They will open their Lake Forest place the latter part of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Faurot of Riverside have gone to El Mirasol, Cal., for a visit. Their daughter, Miss Julia Belle Faurot, has been the guest of Miss Lolita Armour all winter.

Mrs. William H. Bartlett and her two little daughters, Virginia and Mary Wentworth, left Montecito, Cal., yesterday for a month's visit in Chicago. On their return trip they will visit their ranch at Vermejo Park, N. M.

Mrs. Hubbard Carpenter and Miss Mary Carpenter of 677 North Michigan avenue, spent several days last week at their summer place at Lake Geneva, Wis. They will remain in the city until early summer.

Mrs. George Knox Owsley of Winnetka has returned from California, where she passed the winter. Mrs. Owsley's daughter, Mrs. Lon C. Hill, and her small daughter will arrive on Friday from Houston, Tex., for a visit. In June, Mrs. G. Dan Owsley and baby daughter will arrive from France, where Mrs. Owsley spent several months with her parents and will join Mr. Owsley for the summer in Winnetka.

Mr. and Mrs. William V. D. Wright moved yesterday from 52 Bellevue place to 76 East Elm street.

Mrs. Henry Bartholomay and Miss Catherine Bartholomay of 1455 North State parkway returned Saturday from a month's visit at Virginia Hot Springs.

Mrs. Pierre D. Francis of 6022 Kimbark avenue gave a tea yesterday in the English room of the Blackstone for her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Cecil Roy Francis. Mrs. Francis Jr. formerly was Miss Irma Dagmar Howe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Harley Howe. Her marriage to Mr. Francis took place on April 20. Mr. and Mrs. Francis Jr. will be at home after May 15 at 4145 Drexel boulevard. Assisting the hostess and her daughter-in-law in receiving yesterday were Mrs. C. A. Boardman of New York, who is visiting Mrs. Francis Sr., Mrs. George A. Poole, and Mrs. Herbert V. Burrows.

Pies in Frisco.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—[Special Correspondence.]—What they call pies out here are certainly what used to be called by various other names, usually tarts. At a nice place I tried to guess what several men were eating with evident satisfaction for their dessert, and found that it was called pineapple cream pie. It consisted of that fine puff pastry crust, baked before filled, a thin layer of pineapple puree or pineapple chopped fine, and over this was piped in a deep layer heavy whipping cream, whipped to elegance.

In another case the pie I got, 'pon order, was a piece of puff pastry cut out with a large patty cutter with crinkled edge, turned over almost a half and baked. It had then been filled with a tablespoon or so of quite delicious apple sauce and then with about twice as much whipped cream.

Neither of these would be delicious unless the pastry was as near perfect as possible. There has been an endless multiplication of pie crust recipes, but one formula is all that is needed. The perfection depends on how this is worked out. The scientific proportions of ingredients in a pastry are: To one cup of flour allow from one-fourth to one-third cup of fat and a fourth of a teaspoon of salt. The proportion of liquid is variable and depends upon skill mostly. The smaller the amount of water used the more tender will be the crust. Other things that make for tenderness are amount and kind of fat used—some pastry makers use a mixture of three sorts, including butter for best flavor. Too much and too heavy kneading will toughen any crust.

"Peppiest" Sorority Will Hold a Dance

Alpha Pi Sigma sorority has only eleven members here, but each of the enchanting eleven insists it's the "peppiest" sorority on the north side. They offer to prove it Saturday night, when they will hold a dance at Rogers Park Woman's club. Mrs. Dorothy Schmitt is president of Alpha Pi Sigma. The other members are Ollivette Stevens, Florence Hollmeyer, Dollie Winegart, Lucille Boyne, Vera Rudere, Helen Fischer, Georgetta Hynes, Sylvia Abrams, Helen Bringolf, and Mary Hogan.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Margaret Wellington Quinby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Quinby Jr., of Amityville, L. I., formerly of Winnetka, to Harold Coles Albertson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Albertson of Amityville.

Announcement has been made by Mrs. Luther Kountze of 5 East Fifty-seventh of the enaggement of her daughter, Mrs. Anne Ward K. Douglas of 35 East Forty-ninth street, to William Proudfit Burden, son of the late James Abercrombie Burden and Mrs. Burden of 22 East Forty-seventh street.

Election Battle in Hamilton Club Brings Real Row

An "under cover" political row in the Hamilton club for weeks was blown into the open yesterday by a letter sent to the entire membership.

The bomb was cast by friends of Robert W. Dunn, candidate for the presidency on a members' ticket. It charges unfair tactics by the supporters of S. T. Meservey, the "regular" candidate.

Dunn has refused to run with a ticket picked by the nominating committee and has chosen his own ticket, to be nominated by petition.

As prescribed by the by-laws, the officers and directors elected a nominating committee. This committee chose Meservey as its candidate.

Another nominating committee, elected by the membership, picked Dunn to oppose him. Dunn's friends claim that while they were listening to an address by Gov. Lowden two weeks ago, the Meservey men at a meeting in the club elected the members' nominating committee.

When Dunn was asked to select his ticket he chose John L. Fogle for secretary and John C. Armstrong for treasurer. The nominating committee, however, rejected Fogle, and replaced Armstrong by Henry G. Mason, whom Dunn had recommended for director. E. C. Tubbs, a member of the opposing party, was named for treasurer on the Dunn ticket.

Whereupon the entire Dunn ticket, with the exception of Tubbs, declined to run on the slate nominated by the member, and filed an independent ticket, including Fogle and Armstrong.

The letter, which has caused considerable comment among the membership, announced the decision.

"Mr. Dunn's opponents obtained control of both nominating committees," the letter reads. "What appears to be an injustice has been done to these two men (Fogle and Armstrong) in an attempt to handicap the Dunn ticket.

"The attempt to control both tickets and to weaken the Dunn ticket to the obvious advantage of the other we believe will not meet with the approval of the membership."

Want Queen Victoria Thrown Out of Park

The statue of the late Queen Victoria in Garfield park has become an eyesore to various Irish societies of Chicago. Naper Tandy branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom will hold an open meeting tonight at North Side Turner hall to demand its removal by the west park commissioners. The societies insist a statue of some patriotic American woman should replace Queen Victoria's. They suggest Mollie Pitcher, Betsy Ross, or Martha Washington.

Last Rites Tomorrow for William Knox Haynes

William Knox Haynes, who practiced law in Chicago for thirty years, died Saturday night at his residence, 4243 Champlain avenue. Among the nationally famous cases in which he participated was the impeachment case of Senator Burton of Kansas, the sensational trial in which the late Theodore Roosevelt, then president, personally interested himself. Mr. Haynes is survived by his widow, a son, and daughter. Services will be held tomorrow from his late residence, conducted by Apollo commandery No. 1, K. T.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. C. D. TURNER, RAIL MAN'S WIFE

Mrs. Cecelia Milnes Turner, wife of Clarence D. Turner, general agent of the Erie railroad, died yesterday at her home, 5418 Woodlawn avenue. She had been ill three weeks. Physicians had diagnosed the case as sleeping sickness. Following an autopsy, it was announced death was caused by tubercular meningitis.

Mrs. Turner was choir mother at the Church of the Redeemer, Fifty-sixth street and Blackstone avenue.

Mr. Turner was stationed in Chicago until a few months ago, when he was transferred to Philadelphia. There is one child, Howard, a student at the University of Chicago.

Funeral services will be held today at 1 o'clock at the Church of the Redeemer. Burial will be at Coldwater, Mich.

Otto C. Butz Funeral at Graceland Today

Otto C. Butz died suddenly Sunday at his home in Winnetka. He was 63 years old. Mr. Butz was born in Chicago, a son of Casper Butz. After graduating from the University of Michigan he entered the practice of law here. He was associated with Francis Lackner, Amos C. Miller, and F. E. Von Ammon. Mr. Butz was a close friend of the late Theodore Roosevelt. During the war a pamphlet which he wrote denouncing the Hohenzollern dynasty and setting forth the war aims of the United States was circulated widely in America by the government and was dropped inside the German lines by American aviators. He was a member of the University and Hamilton clubs and the Chicago Bar association, and a director of the Chicago Title and Trust company.

Private funeral services will be held today, with burial at Graceland.

Syrian American College President Dies in East

Dr. Howard S. Bliss, for nineteen years president of the Syrian American college, at Beirut, Syria, died Sunday of tuberculosis at Saranac Lake, N. Y. Dr. Bliss was a brother-in-law of Paul Blatchford of Oak Park. He spoke here in January on the "Near East." He was graduated from Amherst college in 1882 and as president of the Syrian American college he succeeded his father, the Rev. Daniel Bliss, who founded the institution.

During the peace conference, Dr. Bliss was summoned to Paris as representative of the near east. He is survived by his widow and five children. Burial will be at Jaffrey, N. H.

MAY CORN, $1.80; OATS AT $1.06; BIG SHORTS BUY

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

[illegible] covering of short July and [illegible] by eastern speculators who sold on the recent break, in a market that was bare of offerings, combined with congestion in the May deliveries, resulted in a sharp advance, with the close at net gains of 2⅞@4c, the latter on May. At no time were prices as low as Saturday's close.

Both May and July corn sold at new high figures on the crop, as did all deliveries of oats, May leading with a gain of 4¼c, while the deferred futures were up 1¼c. Rye closed 3⅛@3½c higher and barley 2¾c higher.

Jump to the Bull Side.

Sentiment underwent a decided change and the majority of the local professionals were over on the bull side from the start. Offerings were light until the offers were reached, selling against which checked the upturn. Outside interest showed a small increase, but on the whole trade in both corn and oats was of a professional character.

Lack of pressure of cash grain and big premiums in the sample market were the main bullish influences. There was free buying of September oats on account of a discount of 38c under the cash, while September corn was 30c under No. 2 mixed.

Financial conditions attracted little or no attention and weakness in stocks was ignored for the first time in more than a week. Crop reports on the whole were more favorable, field work being rushed in the central west as the result of dry weather. The forecast was for unsettled conditions.

Profit Taking in Rye.

Longs were the best sellers of rye, but this was more than offset by the buying by cash houses and shorts, and the undertone was strong from the start.

Export demand was slow and premiums on cash grain in the northwest were lower, with No. 2 at Duluth 1c over May, against 5c over last week. At Chicago No. 2 sold at 2c over. New York cleared 130,000 bu.

Barley advanced 1@2c for cash, with sales up to $1.86, a new high for the crop. Shorts were the best buyers of futures, but it was difficult to execute orders at limits.

Lard was bought mainly by the Anglo company, which was supposed to be covering shorts, while shorts took hold owing to the advance in corn. Prices advanced 20c after an easier opening on the lower hogs, but reacted on profit taking at the last and closed unchanged to 7½c higher. Schwarz was the best seller of July lard.

CONTRACTS ON WHEAT UP MAY 31, BARNES ASSERTS

"The wheat director act expires June 1, 1920," said Julius H. Barnes, wheat director, in a circular yesterday. "The original Lever act of Aug. 10, 1917, is still in effect, because its termination depends on the ratification of peace by the United States. It is not our desire to exercise the authorities of the Lever act on a technical basis. Therefore, unless licensees are advised by us to the contrary before June 1, they will understand that the various weekly reports may be discontinued."

The circular says the Grain corporation on May 31, 1920, will announce a price for flour which in its judgment is a fair reflection of the guaranteed price of wheat, so bakers or flour jobbers desiring to avail themselves of the Grain corporation's provision of sale for stocks on hand may be guided by the terms of the contract. It is probable the price will be $10.70, Baltimore basis. Dealers' contracts for the sale of surplus stocks of wheat expire May 31.

Mr. Barnes, regarding control of exchanges, directs that seasonable steps be taken to provide for and permit the establishment of a free and open market for the purchase, sale, and handling of wheat and wheat products upon the expiration of the Lever act.

He invites all organizations to send representatives to the wheat conference in Chicago on May 7.

"It is plain that it is expected private processes of trade will begin functioning after June 1," he says, "and it is important that a general exchange of views, after three years of general suspension of open trading on exchanges, should take place, especially as June 1 is the termination date of whatever stabilizing influence the actual and potential buying of the Grain corporation may have exerted for the three year period."

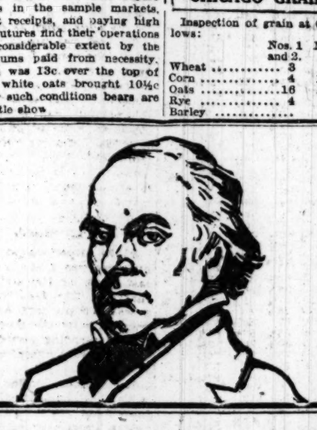
WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Technically the grain markets should have a reaction after the rapid advances which have enabled them to make new high marks for corn and oats almost daily. At present all markets are abnormal, due to the scarcity of cars and a b[illegible] road transportation, and traders say it is useless trying to make them fit normal conditions. Those who have tried it have paid dearly of late. Under existing strained conditions sharp advances and declines are to be expected at any time and on the slightest pretext, as close observers see it.

Trading is getting [illegible] of the May delivery and into July and September in all grains. No one can trade in May without a food administration license and it is left to the cash interests and a few operators who have licenses. There is a great deal of changing from May to July by operators on both sides and from the strength shown in May, shorts are leading the buying.

A feature of the co[illegible]ading was the heavy buying of July and September by Thomson & McKinnon and Stein, Alstrin & Co., which the trade figured aggregated several million bushels. It was credited to covering by shorts by a prominent New York cotton operator.

With local feed dealers the best buyers of corn and oats in the sample markets, owing to the light receipts, and paying high prices, traders in futures find their operations influenced to a considerable extent by the fancy cash premiums paid from necessity. No. 3 yellow corn was 13c over the top of May, and No. 2 white oats brought 10½c over May. Under such conditions bears are timid and have little show.



As Daniel Webster once said—

"I shall enter on no encomium upon Massachusetts. She needs none. There she is!"

Similarly, we shall enter on no encomium upon the Noiseless. It needs none. There it stands!

Short-Time Bonds Yielding 7 to 8 Per Cent

PRESENT conditions have resulted in a great deal of short-term financing because many governments, municipalities and corporations needing funds are unwilling to pay present high rates of interest over a long period. Rather than issue bonds maturing in twenty to thirty years, they sell securities which mature in one to five years.

This gives the investor who has money available for a short period an exceptional opportunity to get sound security coupled with a high rate of interest.

We have a special list of "short-time" securities yielding from 7 to 8 per cent which we recommend for conservative investment. We shall be glad to send you this list if you are interested.

"Your Personal Bank"

It will be said of him in years hence:

—"He Was a Wise Man"

THE years to come will reflect the wisdom of purchases of standard investments made at prevailing low levels.

Some of the oldest as well as strongest corporations in the country have recently made public confession of the fact that funds can no longer be had at the good old rate of 5%. Today the price is close to 8% and the humble investor knows no favorite—the demand has determined the market, and they all have to pay. "To yield 6%" no longer appeals; even some of the Liberty Loan issues pay nearly 6%.

Nor is it necessary to sacrifice the element of safety in order to secure the advantage of these high yields from standard investments—specific instances are superfluous.

Further, any advance from present market prices will add just that much to the principal amount invested should the security be sold.

We have selected three issues which we will be glad to submit for approval.

HALT ON FARM LOANS HAMPERS WORK, IS CHARGE

Washington, D. C., May 3.—Officials of the twelve farm loan banks, meeting here today, asserted that thousands of farmers have been compelled to forego plans for extension or expansion of their planting because government loans through the farm loan system have ceased. The constitutionality of the act under which the system operates is now before the Supreme court, but a rehearing is not contemplated before autumn.

The conference was called by Commissioner Lobdell of the farm loan board to discuss conditions confronting the banks and loan associations. The board suspended loans, except on applications already approved, in January. Available funds have been exhausted and further loans made impossible without the sale of more bonds. The decision not to issue more bonds while the legality of the issues is a matter of litigation was approved by the conference.

Commissioner Lobdell said the fact that no further advances could be made to farmers who had depended on the system to supply funds to meet commercial loans had resulted in certain instances in foreclosures.

Knock Out Rail Stock Tax.

The North Dakota tax act of 1918, in so far as it imposes an excise tax on the stocks and bonds of interstate railroads operating within the state, was declared unconstitutional today by the supreme court. Justice Holmes in rendering the opinion said the mode of making assessments under the act was an unwarranted interference with interstate commerce and taking of property without due process of law. Injunctions restraining the imposition of taxes under the act against various railroads were sustained.

The statute was attacked in proceedings instituted by five carriers, who contended it imposed taxes upon their property located outside the state, in violation of the constitution. The railroads involved were the Northern Pacific, Great Northern, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie, and the Montana Eastern.

Protest Reserve Powers.

Bankers from a number of states held a meeting today to frame a protest against what they term the "centralized and drastic powers" of the federal reserve board and to effect a permanent organization, the National and State Bankers' Protective association.

The meeting was attended principally by bankers from the smaller cities and towns. They object to the designation by the federal reserve board of federal reserve banks through which checks may be cleared without a charge for exchange, which has the effect of cutting off revenue long derived by banks from check collections.

There are now 28,000 of the 30,000 banks of the country on the par collection list of the federal reserve banks. The other 2,000 are fighting to retain the old system, which, if revived, would impose a substantial tax on business.

The New York Times.

New York, May 3.—[Special.]—After as sharp a break of quotations as any experienced since the market turned reactionary three weeks ago, industrial stocks turned about this afternoon and left off in the midst of a brisk rally. The final array of prices showed much irregularity, some issues being up from 2 to 5 points, while others were down as much.

The best measure of the day's business lay in the range from the lowest to the final quotations. U. S. Steel common moved upward from 92⅜ to 94⅞. Baldwin Locomotive sold as low as 110, and from this point it was bid up to 117⅛. Corn Products Refining swung upward from 91 to 95¼. Mexican Petroleum recovered from 166 to 174½.

The fall of prices had all the earmarks of a broad bear "drive," and the reserve movement was primarily the result of short covering.

Call Money Cheaper.

At the same time, sentiment in trading quarters was made more cheerful than last week by the action of the money market. The fact that call loans renewed at 9 per cent, a stiff figure, helped operations for the short account, but before the lending period was over plenty of funds were offered at 7 per cent, with no takers.

The situation reflected the fact that Wall street holdings of stocks on margin have been pretty well liquidated, and that a great part of the recent decline had been caused by short sales.

Considering the credit situation generally, the drop of the call loan rate disclosed no new features of a constructive sort. The increase from 5¼ to 5⅝ per cent in the rate for rediscounting notes secured by government war bonds at the San Francisco reserve bank, together with advances to 6 per cent recently announced by the Chicago, Kansas City and Minneapolis institutions, indicated corrective measures inspired by a growing loan account.

Watch Mexican Events.

The news of more serious Mexican events, including the cutting of the railway line between Vera Cruz and Mexico City, carried suggestions of difficulties for American capital invested in the southern country, not to mention possibilities of troubles to attract the attention of the United States government. The beginning of a great textile strike stood in the foreground of disturbing factors.

Sterling exchange gained 3 cents, to 3.85, speculation for the rise again being furthered by rumors of impending gold imports. The other European markets were strong also.

More hogs arrived than for any day in six weeks, but the quality was poorer than on the previous Monday, with a larger proportion of fair lightweights among the 45,000 received. Good heavy butchers, however, were plentiful.

Packers and outside buyers favored the underweights, which generally sold steady, while weighty hogs were largely 10c lower. Best light reached $15.60, with the day's average 5c lower than Saturday at $14.35. Armour and Swift houses purchased 11,500 and about 11,000 were carried over.

Trade in cattle was active and prices ruled steady to 25c higher than last Friday, with light kinds strongest. Both yearling and heavy steers reached $14.00, with fancy quotations higher. After a slow start sheep and lambs closed strong to 25c higher. Some Colorado wooled lambs going at $20.60. First shorn Texas sheep of the season sold at $12.00.

Seven western markets received 54,000 cattle, 120,000 hogs, and 50,000 sheep, against 30,000 cattle, 83,000 hogs, and 37,000 sheep the previous Monday and 50,000 cattle, 95,000 hogs, and 41,000 sheep a year ago.

Receipts for today are estimated at 12,000 cattle, 25,000 hogs, and 12,000 sheep, against 19,362 cattle, 28,306 hogs, and 17,405 sheep at Chicago the corresponding Tuesday a year ago.

NATION'S COMMON CARRIER

THE transition from the Prairie Schooner of the Forty-niners to the Limiteds of today, is not a matter of inventive genius alone. It is equally a matter of financing. The vast sums necessary for the development of our railroad system to its present completeness and efficiency, have been raised, in large part, through the sale of bonds.

Halsey, Stuart & Co. through the outright purchase of the bond issues of established Governments, Municipalities, Railroads, Public Utilities and Essential Industries, has on the one hand contributed largely toward our civic and industrial progress and on the other, through the distribution of these securities, fostered the spirit of conservative investment by providing investors with safe, productive channels of investment for their surplus funds.

Intending investors will find in our current offering list a wide selection of Government, Municipal, and Corporation Bonds suitable in maturity, denomination, and yield to meet their individual requirements. It will be sent upon request for Circular CA. 9.

City of Joliet, Illinois School District

5% School Bonds

Dated September 1, 1919. Principal and semi-annual interest (July 1st and January 1st) payable in Chicago. Coupon Bonds Denomination, $1,000 each.

Special Features: Interest exempt from all federal income tax. Eligible, in our opinion, to secure postal savings deposits. Legal investment for savings banks in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

Joliet: County seat of Will County, is located only 40 miles from the City of Chicago and is one of the most important manufacturing cities and railroad centers in the state, being located on six lines of railroad. The importance of the city is evidenced by bank deposits in excess of $15,000,000.

These bonds are a direct obligation of School District No. 86, which includes the entire City of Joliet and considerable outside territory, issued pursuant to a vote of the electors, and payable, principal and interest, out of taxes levied on all taxable property in the District. The District was incorporated in 1857 and up until 1918 had financed itself without the issuance of bonds.

The Real Values Behind A Security

are the worth of the property financed, its earning power, its management, its dividend record, and the nature of the business. Whether the security is in the form of bonds, notes, mortgages, or preferred stocks is not so important. SUBSTANCE is of more value than FORM.

This Company specializes in Preferred Stocks with substantial values behind them—the kind you can safely lay away. They have the earning power to assure dividends during lean years as well as prosperous ones.

Ten-Year 7% Convertible Sinking Fund Mortgage Gold Bonds

Dated April 1, 1920 Due April 1, 1930

The Company will agree to pay interest without deduction for any Federal Income Tax not in excess of 2% which it may lawfully pay at the source.

Stock Purchase Warrants: The Bonds will carry detachable warrants entitling the holder to purchase Common Stock at $40 per share at the rate of 25 shares of Common Stock for each $1,000 par value of Bonds, at any time prior to and including April 1, 1922.

Conversion Privilege: The Bonds will be convertible after April 1, 1922, and until maturity into 8% Cumulative Preferred Stock of the Company, par for par, or when accompanied by warrants into Common Stock at $40 a share at any time after April 1, 1922, and to and including April 1, 1925, and thereafter at $50 a share, or in each case until their earlier redemption, with adjustment of interest and dividends in respect to Preferred Stock to date of conversion.

Business: The Company, originally incorporated in 1889, has been for years the largest manufacturer of milk bottles in the United States. Its production will be about 90% of the total number manufactured in the country. The Company's plants will have a capacity of 150,000,000 milk bottles per year. With the installation of one more furnace, the annual production of 75,000,000 condiments and other bottles will be increased to 115,000,000.

Security: Secured by a Closed Mortgage upon all the property of the Company and upon all of the Common Stock of the Woodbury Glass Company, subject only to $149,500 mortgage on a portion of the property which is not callable.

Assets: As of December 31, 1919, after reserve for depreciation, not including any intangible assets and including the Common Stock of the Woodbury Glass Company, net assets were equal to over twice total bonded indebtedness to be outstanding.

Earnings: Net earnings available for Bond Interest for year ended December 31, 1919, after reserve for depeciation, were over three and three-quarters times annual interest charges on all bonds to be outstanding. It is estimated that earnings for the current year, after deducting Federal Taxes and depreciation, and after providing for interest and preferred dividends, will equal $8 per share on the Common Stock about to be issued.

Sinking Fund: A graduated annual Sinking Fund will retire at not exceeding 105 and accrued interest over half of this issue by maturity.

ADAMS & ELTING SELLS PLANT TO THE GLIDDEN CO.

BY AL CHASE.

Carrying out further details of the deal by which the Adams & Elting company, paint manufacturers, passed to the control of the Glidden company, the varnish and calcimine plant of the Adams & Elting company at Colorado, Rosiner, and Kilbourn avenues and the Chicago Great Western, has been sold to the Glidden interests for its indicated $326,000, subject to $5,000.

The seven acre tract is improved with a one story varnish factory and a five story calcimine plant, newly built. The Glidden company, which recently took over the Nubian Paint and Varnish company's plant in this city, controls a string of paint factories throughout the country. The Adams & Elting company will continue to make its present products under the same trade names.

State Street Lease.

Theodore Lipcowitz has leased from the Blake-Rite corporation through E. F. Keebler & Co. the 18x75 store at 162 North State street for a term of years at an annual rental of $12,000. It will be used as a men's furnishing shop.

The Chapin & Gore bar at 61 East Adams street, in the original Chapin & Gore building, now the Trustee building, has been leased to Borsch, optician, for ten years from May 1, at a reported term rental of $84,000. According to the brokers, the Hool Realty company, Mr. Borsch will spend $25,000 in alterations and redecorations.

Arvid Carlson, builder, has sold to Walter J. La Buy the thirty apartment building at 5440-48 Kenmore avenue, lot 100x190, at a reported $190,000, subject to $108,000. As part payment the six flat building at 7614-16 Eastlake terrace was conveyed at a consideration of $58,000, subject to $26,000. Albin J. Liepold Jr. was broker.

Good News for Mr. Stagg.

The University of Chicago has taken title from Charles C. Case to the vacant 90x170 at the northeast corner of Greenwood avenue and East Fifty-sixth street, to be used as an athletic practice field. The indicated price was $36,000.

The new two story fireproof 80x150 building at 2929-37 Wabash avenue, on a lot 56x132, occupied by R. C. Cook, agent for motor cars, has been purchased by Ben Lowenmeyer from Herbert Johnson, for a reported price of $100,000, subject to $40,000. In part payment the purchaser gave the store building at the northeast corner of Clark and Farwell, 102x88, valued at $35,000.

WAR SURPLUS EQUIPMENT

Great industries buy used equipment

Thousands of manufacturers have bought our surplus equipment and material. Among them are the world's leaders in their respective lines.

These firms never bought used equipment or material, prior to 1919. They were prejudiced against it.

Our sale of surplus equipment changed their idea in this respect. It was a revelation in economy. They found, among our stocks, as you can find, equipment guaranteed to be serviceable and in better working condition than some new equipment.

That's why they bought millions of dollars' worth. Look down this list and see the kind of firms that buy Du Pont surplus equipment

Armour & Company
American Coke and Chemical Company
Barrett Company
Bethlehem Steel Company
Champion Fibre Company
Henry Disston & Sons, Inc.
Ford Motor Company
General Motors Corp.
Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.
H. J. Heinz Company
International Nickel Company
H. W. Johns-Manville Company
McKesson & Robbins, Inc.
Passaic Worsted Spinning Co.
Proctor & Gamble Company
J. E. Rhoads & Sons
Sinclair Oil Company
Standard Oil Company
Texas Company
U. S. Steel Corporation
Utah Copper Company

Other progressive manufacturers, both large and small, are buying equipment and material, not only for present but for future needs. By saving on equipment they save on production cost.

A New England contractor needed a certain kind of equipment, without which he could not complete a contract. He wired to us and we had just what he wanted. He bought the material, got immediate delivery and saved $35,000 on the purchase. And what was more important to him, he made good on his contract.

If you need any kind of equipment, no matter for what industry, ask us about it. Don't miss this opportunity to get dependable surplus material at below market prices.

All offerings subject to prior sale. Write, phone or wire at once stating what you need, or come personally to Wilmington, or the plants listed below.

Du Pont Chemical Company
Incorporated

You Men and Women Who Pay Rent Which Will You Rather Do

Continue to let your money enrich a grasping, profiteering landlord in return for a RENT RECEIPT?
Or pay it out in return for a HOME?

Think it over—it's up to you. Ever since the time of the cliff dwellers it has remained the foremost desire of every worth while man to obtain a home where he, and not an avaricious landlord, can issue orders. Every [illegible]-h man knows that money on a stock of rent receipts, but that he can on what he has paid out for a home. [illegible] you are that worth while man or woman, then write or call in and see me, and I will positively show how $100 will start you.

J. A. MILLER,
5499 Milwaukee-av.

INSURE YOURSELF OF A HOME NOW

Ready for Immediate Possession.

5 and 6 room brick bungalows, hot water heat, sun parlors and sleeping porch and every most modern appointment.

Do You Know

That I have the best practical plan for home ownership in Chicago for those who are really in earnest about getting away from paying rent?

It will pay you to investigate immediately, because those people who have undertaken my proposition are now recommending it to their friends, and, of course, it is limited. REMEMBER, my proposition insures you a home. Address C M 562, Tribune.

FOR SALE—NEW BRICK BUNGALOWS, 5 and 6 rms. with den, parlors, built-in fireplaces, bookcases, fancy buffets, beautiful lighting fixtures, tile bath, oak floors, extra fine finish throughout; furnace heat; selling at a sacrifice; $7,950 to $8,500; will accept $1,000 Winnemac Park, 2 blocks west of Robey-st., at Winona and Foster-av.

EIFFEL MAID UNIONSUIT
